W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

Report of the Proceedings of Today's Session

Mrs. Stevenson's Appeal for Prohibitory Amendment and Other Reforms — Mrs. Soule Taken Suddenly Ill — Program for This Evening

At the state convention of the W. C. T. U., now in session at the First Baptist church this city, the session of last night was designated "State Jubilee night."

The attendance was large, there being many visitors present both men and women. The county banners marking the delegates seats were in place so that there was no confusion.

The "jubilee session" was continued to five minute addresses by the presidents of the counties having made a gain in membership during the past year. There was also an address by Miss Elizabeth P. Gordon, national evangelist. There was an organ voluntary on the opening of the session by Mr. A. F. French and subsequently a solo by Mr. E. R. Wirt and the singing of the state and county songs by the delegates.

Rev. Charles A. Merrill, secretary of the Law and Order league conducted the opening devotional exercises.

A delightful feature was the welcome of the Loyal Temperance legion, extended by six little members, in speech and song. The counties making gains in membership during the year, spoke through their presidents, as follows: Worcester county (North), Mrs. Harriet E. Sawyer. This union has made the largest gain, of 102 members. Middlesex county, Mrs. Abby C. Rolfe of Concord. Second largest gain.

Hampden county, Mrs. Martha L. Knell of Westfield, third.

Bristol county, Mrs. Isadore L. Montgomery of Taunton, fourth.

Hampshire county, Mrs. C. E. L. Shum of Amherst, fifth.

Mrs. J. C. Edwards, president of Franklin county, was not present, but her union was on the winning side.

Mrs. Myra Taylor of Leicester, of Worcester county division, regretted that her county was not a leader, but she rejoiced that Worcester, the largest city in the world, having prohibition, is in the limits of her union.

Mrs. Mary W. Valentine of Nantucket spoke for Nantucket county.

"The other" county presidents, those unions have made no gains.

during the year, were called upon for two-minute speeches.

Mrs. Phoebe R. Clifford spoke for Plymouth; Mrs. Ida S. Brown for Norfolk; Mrs. M. Elizabeth Heath for Berkshire; Mrs. Phoebe N. Taylor for Barnstable. Essex county was represented.

MRS. JANETTE HILL KNOX, Corresponding Secretary.

seated by Mrs. Wheeler, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Abbie Smith.

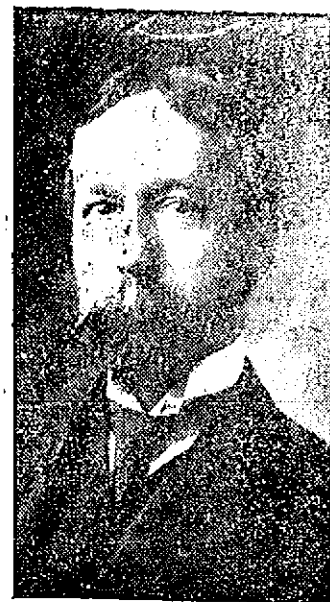

Mrs. Etta G. Luce spoke for Dukes county, and Mrs. Ella A. Gleason of Roxbury for Suffolk.

Unable to Reach a Verdict in Frontenac Hotel Case

In the superior court in East Cambridge this morning the sealed verdict returned in the case against the Frontenac hotel was opened.

The foreman of the jury reported that the jurors were unable to arrive at a verdict and accordingly the jury was dismissed by the court.

At the court house it was reported that the jury stood eight for conviction and four for acquittal. The jury retired at 9:30 yesterday and was out until 9 o'clock last night when it prepared its sealed verdict.

A South Framingham liquor case was then called for trial and the prosecution was conducted by Mr. Merrill.

Judge Frederick Lawton was on the bench.

Mazdaznans Say Hanish Went to Same School as Christ

"That Dr. Hanish, the 'little master' of the Mazdaznan is the Christ of today and that he is greater in knowledge and superior in power to the original Christ who died on Calvary."

"That the temples of the Orient where Hanish, 'the little master' came from are filled with 'little masters' who subsist on a few grains of wheat a day."

"That these little masters are all knowledge and power; that Hanish came from one of these temples and that he attended the same school as did Christ and that he lived and worked where the foot of white man never trod and where the voice of white man was never heard."

"That a woman of the Mazdaznan cult lived to be 800 years of age, and that another woman of the cult gave birth to a child at the age of 90 years, and last, but not least, that the deformity of a child was due to the fact

These things were said in testimony by one woman as being the story of another and it had to do with the hearing on the question of appointing a conservator in the case of Mrs. Helen M. Shaw, a conservator to restrain her from giving up her real estate and other property to the Mazdaznans, the followers of 'the little master,' Dr. Hanish.

The hearing was opened before Judge McIntire in the probate court at 9:30. The petitioners for the conservator are Mrs. Mabel M. Dutton, friend and niece of Mrs. Shaw, Edwin W. Smith of Peterboro, N. H., Walter H. Smith of Salem, N. H., and Miss Grace Thurber, also of New Hampshire.

The petitioners alleged that because of advanced age and mental weakness, that the respondent was incapacitated to look after her property or conduct her business affairs.

Mrs. Shaw, the respondent, was the last witness. Among other things she was asked relative to "Inner Studies," the Mazdaznan ritual. She said that she owned a copy of the book but that she had never read it and had never intended to do so.

She said, however, that she was a student of the Mazdaznan belief. She said she was 65 years old and had lived in Lowell for 20 years. She had a son, Maxwell, who died Feb. 1, 1907, and her husband died Jan. 21, 1907. She knew that her brother had been an inmate of an asylum in New Hampshire but did not know that she had been there as an inmate of a room. She was asked as to a letter she had received from a woman who was not aware of the fact.

"Is it your religious belief today?"

"I believe in it."

"Will you produce your copy of 'Inner Studies'?"

"I will not."

"I have not got it."

"Where is it?"

"I have it in Montreal."

"You are going to Montreal, are you?"

"I am in a few weeks."

Mrs. Kittredge and Robert A. Jordan, Boston lawyers, for the petitioners, and McIntire and Wilson of this city for the respondent.

Mrs. Shaw, the respondent, was the last witness. Among other things she was asked relative to "Inner Studies," the Mazdaznan ritual. She said that she owned a copy of the book but that she had never read it and had never intended to do so.

She said, however, that she was a student of the Mazdaznan belief. She said she was 65 years old and had lived in Lowell for 20 years. "Will you produce your copy of 'Inner Studies'?"

"I will not."

"I have not got it."

"Where is it?"

"I have it in Montreal."

"You are going to Montreal, are you?"

"I am in a few weeks."

Little Master?"

"I do."

"What is his name?"

"Rev. Dr. —"

Mr. Wilson at this point, objected to Mr. Kittredge's manner of procedure and form of questions. He did not know that the question of Mazdaznan belief should enter into the case.

Mr. Kittredge said that his questions had to do, in the long run, with the mental capacity of the witness.

"How old is this man known as 'The Little Master'?"

"He is 65 years old."

"Where do you worship?"

"In Spinta Maria Temple, Columbia avenue."

"The temple has been dedicated?"

"Yes."

"Did Mrs. Hilton own the temple at the time of the dedication?"

"I do not know."

"At the time of the dedication you were set apart or designated as the mother of the church?"

"I was your garden."

"You were not known as the mother of the church?"

"No sir."

"Have you any office in the church?"

"None, except as a student."

"Ever have any messages from Mrs. Shaw, advising you to double your contributions to the Mazdaznans?"

"No sir."

"Did you take Mrs. Hilton's daughter to California?"

"Yes sir."

"Did your husband ever make a will?"

"He did and destroyed it."

"Have you ever seen any will of his except the one he destroyed about 20 years ago?"

"No sir."

"Are you the administratrix of the estate?"

"I am."

"Have you ever had an inventory made?"

"No, I thought I was capable of attending to my own affairs."

"You knew that appraisers had been appointed?"

"I did not."

"Should your counsel advise you to make an inventory?"

"No sir."

"You have messages from the little master, do you not?"

"No sir."

"Didn't you have a message from him to convert all your property together and go to Montreal?"

"No sir."

"Didn't you receive in 1906 a message advising you of great calamity, and didn't that message come from the little master?"

"No sir."

"Do you wear a Mazdaznan robe at any time?"

"Never heard it called by that name. It is a robe that conforms to our own ideas."

Mr. Wilson was on hand with objections, but they were not entertained.

"Describe the robe."

"It is made of white silk or any other white fabric. We wear it at meetings."

"Mazdaznans do not believe in wearing much clothes?"

"Indeed they do, as much clothes as other people."

"Do you ever take dew baths in the early mornings?"

"Never."

"What do the Mazdaznans eat? Do they eat meat?"

"No, they are vegetarians, they do not eat meat or fish."

"Did you ever consult a fortune teller?"

"I did, in Boston."

"What did she tell you?"

"She said that Mr. Shaw wanted me to sell my home."

"Was that after your husband's death?"

"It was."

"Who went with you to the fortune teller?"

"Dr. Drew."

"Did she hear all that was said?"

"No, sir."

"Ever have any messages from Mrs. Shaw, advising you to double your contributions to the Mazdaznans?"

"No sir."

"Did you take Mrs. Hilton's daughter to California?"

"Yes sir."

"Did your husband ever make a will?"

"He did and destroyed it."

"Have you ever seen any will of his except the one he destroyed about 20 years ago?"

"No sir."

"Are you the administratrix of the estate?"

"I am."

"Have you ever had an inventory made?"

"No, I thought I was capable of attending to my own affairs."

"You knew that appraisers had been appointed?"

"I did not."

"Should your counsel advise you to make an inventory?"

"No sir."

Mr. Wilson interjected an objection at this point. He thought there wasn't any need of so many personal questions and he was willing to submit a list of the possessions of Mr. Shaw at the time of his death.

Mr. Kittredge argued his position along the line of Mrs. Shaw's reluctance to answer questions.

"She says $15,000 net," said Mr. Kittredge, "and we have evidence to show it was sixty more than that."

"Your husband's life was insured."

"It was."

"For how much?"

"$10,000."

"You sold your homestead for $7500?"

"I did—that was in my own name."

"You have property in Mill Village, N. H.?"

"Yes."

"How much is it worth?"

"About $1500."

"You had 13 shares of Swift company's stock?"

"We had."

Mr. Wilson again stated that he would supply a complete list of Mrs. Shaw's possessions, and the list was accepted by Mr. Kittredge.

That other later, was withdrawn because counsel for petitioners expressed the intention to cross-examine witnesses on the question of property, at a future date.

The examination, concerning property was resumed and the following were contained in the list:

Swift & Co., 13 shares.

Western Telegraph and Telephone company, several shares.

Massachusetts Brewing company, 17 shares. The latter, witness said, she had sold far below par, about half.

Highland Club of Lowell, six bonds.

American Tobacco Company three bonds and 5500 certificate.

Five shares Amalgamated Copper company, sold.

Forty-four shares American Telegraph and Telephone company.

Lowell Trust company, five shares, sold for $500 since Mr. Shaw's death.

Now England Telephone and Telegraph company, 44 shares.

Fifty-five shares Harvard Brewing Co., sold at par by witness within a year.

"Have you transferred any of these stocks?" asked Mr. Kittredge.

"No," replied Mrs. Shaw.

Besides the stock already described, other minor stocks were acknowledged.

"How much was due your husband in notes when he died?"

"The amount was in the thousands."

Witness told of mortgages on certain property.

"What part of his money you paid?"

"I paid the Middlesex Trust and Appleton banks."

"The amounts, please?"

"Appleton bank about $7500. Middlesex Trust about $3000."

"Do you know Mrs. Mallott?"

"I do."

"How old is she?"

"About 41 years old."

"Is she a Mazdaznan?"

"Believes in it, yes."

"Where does she live?"

"In Montreal."

"Has she been here often?"

"Quite often. She has been my guest frequently."

"Did she and you were going to build a temple?"

"No sir. And this reply was given with great vigor."

Mrs. Shaw had been asked if she would prefer to sit while testifying and she answered negatively, declaring that she preferred to stand.

The old house and the new should have a WINCHESTER HEATER.

POLICEMAN WAS SUFFOCATED

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—After rescuing an aged woman from a burning house, early today, Policeman Nicholas Nester of Jersey City plunged again into the blazing building and met death by suffocation. Firemen found his body four hours afterward in an unburned part of the house.

IN POLICE COURT, J. E. CONANT &amp; CO.

Today's Session Very Brief

This morning's police court session was very short, there being but few offenders in the dock.

Conrad Sullivan pleaded for one more chance and said if he was placed on probation or given a suspended sentence he would leave town at once. He will leave town and his residence for the next few months will be the state farm at Bridgewater.

Edward Brady, who on Monday was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory and appealed, was in court this morning and withdrew his appeal.

George A. Vincent was charged with drunkenness and indecent exposure. He said that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing. He was sentenced to three months in jail.

There was one $2 drunk and one offender was released.

TROLLEY TIPS

A gang of workmen under the direction of Foreman James Farrell has just completed the work of placing in position in Merrimack square new overhead and span trolley wires, thus safeguarding them from the ice and frost of winter.

The Jumbo car No. 45 of the Billerica line "split a switch" and jumped the rails on Bridge street while going toward Braintree. A delay of several minutes was occasioned before matters were righted.

Conductor Joseph Meehan and Conductor Duffy of the street railway, are expected to return from their sojourn in New York on Saturday night.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Among the marriage intentions recorded at city hall today was that of J. Arthur Bennett, aged 24 years, hardware, 175 Branch street to Florence M. Coburn, 21, milliner, 61 Branch street.

Sold Big Plant in New Haven in Quick Time

The sale of the mechanical plant of Robert E. Smith, at New Haven, Connecticut, yesterday, went off splendidly and it was well attended both locally and from a distance. It took less than three hours to sell the 250 lots. Prices were satisfactory and at the end of the sale there was considerable expression of surprise by the receiver and others in attendance at the unexpectedly large results. J. E. Conant & Co. of Lowell were the auctioneers.

MRS. KUHN DEAD

LENON, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Grace Kuhn of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, died at her summer residence, "Hillside," in this town today. Mrs. Kuhn, who was the widow of Hartmann Kuhn and about 75 years of age, had been ill all summer. She had been a summer resident of Lenox for the past twenty-five years. She is survived by two sisters.

STREET COMMITTEE

There is a meeting and hearing of the committee of streets scheduled for tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Hearings will be given on nine petitions.

On Friday afternoon the committee on electric wires will make a tour of inspection.

RICHARD MOWER A DESERTER

Mayor Forbush is in receipt of a communication from the navy department to the effect that Richard Oliver Mower, who gave his residence as 275 Central street, this city, has deserted from the U. S. S. Hancock which is now lying in the Navy Yard at New York.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

MRS. MARIA RUTH ELIZABETH HILTON.

Mrs. Hilton is a lady, is 65 years of age, and is a student of the Mazdaznan belief. She said she was 65 years old and had lived in Lowell for 20 years. She had a son, Maxwell, who died Feb. 1, 1907, and her husband died Jan. 21, 1907. She knew that her brother had been an inmate of an asylum in New Hampshire but did not know that she had been there as an inmate of a room. She was asked as to a letter she had received from a woman who was not aware of the fact.

TARIFF REVISION

Will be Made Immediately if the Democrats Win

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Oct. 7.—"I present myself as an example of one who has outlived the venomous attacks of his opponents. You heard me called a demagogue twelve years ago. You saw them bury me and you heard them chant their honors over my grave, and now they have to explain why it happened that I was not dead."

With all the fervor that he could muster, William Jennings Bryan, facing a vast audience in the Chautauque auditorium between Tama and Toledo, Iowa, yesterday delivered himself of this utterance.

At Woodward he heard ridicule on the republicans, charging them with taking credit for the growth of crops, the shining of the sun and the bringing of rain. "In fact," he said, "they seize upon anything that they think gives a plausible excuse for voting the republican ticket."

Fifteen speeches and handshaking with thousands constituted his day's work, the concluding speech being made in the auditorium here last night, which was filled to overflowing. The keynote of his principal remarks last night was that republican policies meant disaster, while democratic policies meant prosperity. In conclusion he said:

"If we are going to have prosperity we must have a reduction in the tariff. The people recognize the tariff is extortionate. Even the republican leaders are forced to admit this, and yet they are deliberately planning to prevent any real revision by electing a stand-pat congress. If the republican party wins, it will not revise the tariff in the interest of the consumer, and that means that the present agitation must continue for four years longer."

"If the democratic party wins, there will be an immediate reduction of the tariff which will satisfy the public demand and remove the tariff question from politics for a number of years. A democratic victory means prosperity, prosperity to all the people, a prosperity that will be permanent. It means the remedying of abuses, until abuses are remedied, there can be no peace, and the sooner abuses are remedied, the more easy can the remedy be applied."

NEW CHARTER

Adopted by Voters of Haverhill

Haverhill, Oct. 7.—The new city charter, providing for a government by commission, which was presented to the state legislature and allowed by that body at its last session, was adopted yesterday by the voters of the city at a special election, the vote being 657 to 211.

The charter is copied from the Des Moines plan. Under its provisions a board of commissioners, or aldermen, is elected every year, with a salary of three each, and the old board of seven aldermen and fourteen common councilmen abolished. The mayor is also elected every year at a salary of $200 instead of $150 as heretofore, but is to have no veto power. The old school board of 12 members will be replaced by four members elected at large. The initiative and referendum is given the voters, and also the right to remove any member of the government who does not hold true to the pledges of his office, by a petition signed by 25 per cent. of the voters.

The new charter will go into effect at the beginning of the municipal year, January 1, 1909.

SCENE IN "THE LION AND THE MOUSE"

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

In the opinion of the New York critics—not to mention the views of like sort of the dramatic writers of Philadelphia, Chicago and other important cities—there has appeared no such delightful comedy in a decade as Frank Lator's "The Lion and the Mouse" as it is presented by Henry W. Savage's brilliant acting forces.

This remarkable satirical play, or perhaps better, allegorical comedy—is today not only the reigning dramatic sensation of nearly all America, but as well of more than twenty of the capitals of Continental Europe, where it has created as great a sensation as it has in this country and has won a like triumph among playgoers who appreciate the finer things of the stage.

A matinee and evening performance of this play will be given at the Opera House today.

PLAY OF HUMAN INTEREST

Much interest attaches to the presentation here at the Opera House of "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry W. Savage will offer to local theatre-goers for a return engagement on Thursday evening, October 8th.

The Charles Klein drama presents a picture of American financial life much discussed and widely written of; the money magnate who controls the financial world by means of the electric push-button on his desk—it is based upon facts well-known to the public. In "The Lion and the Mouse" is a vivid denotation of the struggle between the money magnate and the masses of the people. The play is filled with human interest and pictures vividly financial and social life of today. Starts now on sale.

THE LIFE OF AN ACTRESS

Many novel features are introduced in "The Life of an Actress," which opens at the Opera House for two days, and a matinee on next Friday, October 9th. During the action of the first act, the stage will be set in full view of the audience, showing the entire working of the action of the play. This novel effect never fails to excite the utmost interest and receives a great amount of applause. The strength given during the second act by Miss Jane Tyler, is an important given and the leader of our city will no doubt take this opportunity of seeing an original imported gown.

FRANK LATOR

The sale of seats begins tomorrow morning for Frank Lator's appearance in the new musical comedy "Prince Humgruel," which will occur at the Opera House one week from tonight. The date was changed from October 12 to October 11.

Ever since the announcement was first made that the popular comedian was coming to Lowell interest in the event has steadily increased. Manager Ward is in receipt of an unusual number of requests for seats, which is always an indication of the approach of something out of the ordinary. This is a condition which was to have been expected in view of Mr. Lator's great popularity here and particularly since it is known that he is coming in a new musical comedy, recently written for him, and in which he has just scored a very great success in Boston. The details of the production are perfectly known through the descriptions which have appeared in the Boston newspapers recently, and there is no doubt whatever that the presentation is exceedingly elaborate and beautiful, and that Mr. Lator and his company of eight musical comedians and dancers are giving a performance of rare enjoyment. There is little doubt whatever that there will be an immense advance sale of seats and that Mr. Lator will be greeted by as many people as can be crowded within the four walls of the Opera House. In view of this, it would be extremely advisable to secure seats as far in advance as possible.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The popular home theatre, the Academy of Music, was the scene of a large and highly delighted assemblage, last evening, the occasion of the presentation of the soul stirring and thrilling drama, "Bunco in Arizona." The play was elaborately staged by Mr. Charles D. Pitt, and was ably presented by the clever and talented Deshon-Pitt Stock company.

Special mention should be made of the exceedingly fine work of Miss Della Deshon, the leading lady, in her impersonation of the difficult role of Bunco. Among the other characters deserving of more than passing comment for their painstaking and pleasing work might be mentioned the following: Victor Browne, as the hero, W. D. Steadman; as Heathcote, Harry Horne; as Jim Hunt, Billy Lackaye; as Pat, Annie Abby; as June, Marie Pert; as Mrs. Heathcote, Crystal Benson; as Wanda.

The souvenir matinee yesterday afternoon played to a capacity attendance. There will be matinees every afternoon the remainder of the week and each evening.

HATHAWAY'S THEATRE

The wonderful effects used in "In Dreamland," headlined at Hathaway's theatre, this week, are readily appreciated by the audiences which have flocked to see the excellent bill. Emmett Dexter, a pleasing comedian, presents the sketch and introduces many of the charming surprises with which it is filled. The gist of it all is that a man has to be pretty thoroughly frightened sometimes before he decides that his wife and home are entitled to some consideration after all. Mr. Dexter is assisted in his presentation by Miss Rosemary Stone, a remarkably pretty woman, Lucy Milliken and William Hurst. Charles F. Semon, the splendid comedian, is surely one of the funniest men in the business. Semon's playing on a variety of outlandish instruments is guaranteed to drive away a lot of raves. On the bill, also, are: Marion Knight and company in "The Chalk Line," a rural comedy; Mueller and Mueller, singers; Carney and Wagner, singers and dancers; Potter and Harris, gymnasts; Alfie Gilbert, singing comedian, and the Hothoscope, with brand new films.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening, during the remainder of the week, with a special "Dreamland" matinee Saturday.

STAR THEATRE

An immense increase in business at the Star theatre this week is evidently due to the excellent bill presented. Jim Henry, whose home is in Lowell, is seldom seen in his home town and is giving his friends as well as strangers a genuine treat with his bright comedy and eccentric dancing. There are two local songs for today, "Take Your Girl to the Ball Game" by Babe Curry, and the greatest hit since "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," "The Stars of the National Game," sung by J. C. Bell. The new Travellette, "Touring Pales-tine," is instructive and intensely interesting. The picture are all hand colored and true to nature, and while looking at those pictures it is not difficult for one to imagine he is actually traveling. The moving pictures are up to the usual high standard. The comedy is especially funny. Dancing contest tonight is sure to draw a packed house as there is strong interest shown in the different competitors.

CHELMSFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pepin observed the 24th anniversary of their marriage yesterday at their home in First street. Both are about 75 years of age but are enjoying the best of health and are possessed of their different faculties. They were united in marriage in Stockton, Mass., Oct. 6, 1884, and shortly afterward moved to Canada. They had seven children, four sons and three daughters. Four of the children are four years in Lowell, Dr. C. J. Pepin of Dover, N. H., also a son; Mrs. E. H. Patenaude of East Chelmsford and Mrs. J. B. Howell of East Walpole.

After returning from Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Pepin lived for a number of years in Lowell, removing to Chelmsford about 16 years ago.

DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE

CALL FOR CONVENTION TO NOMINATE A DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THE FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Lawrence, Oct. 6, 1908.

The democratic congressional committee of the Fifth congressional district having failed, within the time prescribed by vote of the state committee to meet and issue a call for the democratic convention to nominate a candidate for congress in the Fifth district, pursuant to vote of the democratic state committee, the representatives upon the state committee from the Fifth district, duly organized, hereby call the delegates elected in the state primaries to the congressional convention, to meet in convention at Assodate hall in Lowell, Mass., at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Friday, October 9, 1908. The purpose of the convention will be as follows:—

To nominate a democratic candidate for congress in the Fifth district.

To elect a congressional committee whose term of office shall expire on the first Monday of January, 1911.

To transact any further business that may come before the convention.

The Auxiliary Observes 14th Anniversary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. celebrated the 14th anniversary of the local organization last night. The celebration took place in Hibernian hall and the attendance was large. The affair opened at 8 o'clock and there wasn't a dull moment from that time on. There was a good list of speakers, refreshments were served and dancing was indulged in.

The speakers were introduced by Miss Della Conway, president of the local auxiliary.

James O'Sullivan, president of the A. O. H. corporation, spoke on the proposed new building, interesting his audience very deeply.

Michael Connelly, president of Division 11, addressed the gathering, his subject being "The Ladies' Auxiliary." He told of the splendid work of the organization.

Dr. James E. Leary, for 13 years the auxiliary physician, talked in a congratulatory vein of the benevolent work of the auxiliary.

Joseph F. Leary, president of the Central council and president also of Division 1, addressed the audience, touching upon the work of the auxiliary, its splendid growth, and its promising future.

Hubert McQuade, secretary of the central council, also made remarks.

Following a delightful solo by Miss Anna Shea, an auxiliary member, refreshments were served and then the floor was cleared for dancing to the music of the Starbird orchestra.

Among the guests was Mrs. Susan McNamee of Somerville, county president of the auxiliary. A communication was read during the evening from National President Matthew Cummings of Boston, inviting the auxiliary to take part in the observance of the 100th anniversary celebration of known as Hibernians' night. In great parade to be held in Boston the various divisions and auxiliaries will be represented by floats.

DETROIT'S GAME

Chicago White Sox Went Down Before the Tigers

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Chicago's roseate dream of two pennants and a world's championship series all her own was given a horrible awakening yesterday. The American league flag was snatched away from the White Sox in the final game of the schedule, the Tigers putting the Sox to utter rout, and winning to the board of directors of the National league the championship of that organization rests upon the outcome of a game to be played between the Cubs and Glants in New York Oct. 8. The tie game between the Cubs and Glants of Sept. 23 was ordered played off.

Monday Chicago was giving its order for two new pennant poles. Yesterday it mourned the loss of one title, and hoping that all may be well with the Cubs in their all-important struggle in New York.

Such a day for Chicago fans and such a state of affairs in the baseball world. The baseball fever had to break one way or the other, and it can't be said that the results had a Chicago flavor. With one pennant gone beyond possible redemption the outcome of the National league directors' meeting reduces the chance of the Cubs in a great measure.

In fact, things are in such a tangle that it is even possible that the Pittsburghs, who are supposed to have been put down and out by the Cubs in their concluding game of the schedule here last Sunday, may yet win the pennant.

Maddening Tangle

That is one of the phases of the maddening tangle which is befuddling the minds of the baseball-insane public.

Although the Pittsburgh team has disbanded and scattered to all parts of the country, it will be tied for the National league championship in case the New York Glants lose the last scheduled game to Boston and then win from the Cubs.

In such an event the Pirates would be brought together from the ends of the nation and placed into a three-cornered series with the Cubs and Glants for the possession of the National league flag, which little piece of bunting has caused the greatest strife ever known to the fans.

That the Glants will lose to the Bostonians is not at all likely. Neither did 25,000 people, who filled the South Side ball park, yesterday consider it likely that the Tigers could stop the savage Sox and race madly for the American league pennant, as straight as a desperate assault could carry them.

Few in that tremendous throng expected to see the brilliant "Doc" White knocked out of the box in less than one round by the team he had hypnotized only two days before; few thought it possible for the Tigers to continue their slugging at the expense of the mighty Ed. Walsh, and later to give the redoubtable Frank Smith a taste of the same medicine.

To add to the crushing blow, the White Sox fielders wavered and failed in the crucial situations at the start of the game. It was typical of the element of chance in baseball that the Tigers should score twice as many runs in the first inning yesterday as they had scored in the two previous games of the series.

The unexpected happened in all these cases, and what if such luck attend the Bostonians in their final game with New York? The Boston team is made up of disgruntled ex-New Yorkers, and it would be the joy of a lifetime if they succeeded in putting the Glants out of the running.

Whole Issue on One Game

The Cubs expected the board of directors of their league would go on further than to uphold the decision of Pres. Pulliam calling the now celebrated game of Sept. 23 a tie. But in providing for the playoff of the tie, which the executive did not do, the directors have put the whole issue on one game, whereas the Cubs thought they would have a series of three games to play, which undoubtedly would have been to the advantage of the Cubs on account of their superior pitching staff.

As things stand now the National league title will depend on the battle between Mordecai Brown and Christy Mathewson. The Cubs feel that in a series of some length they could better show their superiority over the Glants, but if the great Mathewson happens to have luck with him the flag might be lost to Chicago on this single game.

When Manager Chance of the Cubs heard from Pres. Murphy, who attended the Cincinnati meeting, he immediately sent out orders for his players to be ready to take the limited express this afternoon. In case the Cubs win at New York they may be ordered by the national baseball commission right to Detroit to begin the world's series with the Tigers. If they lose they will come back to Chicago to play the White Sox for the city championship.

DIAMOND NOTES

Pittsburgh fans were reported as going dippy Sunday and later dying with their boots on. A number of Boston followers of the National league race were in nearly the same condition.

Covaleski, the Eastern league recruit with Philadelphia, proved the undoing of the Glants and a find for the Phillies as he beat New York three times in the week.

The Boston National league team figures in the pennant race for the first time in the season. The playing of the Boston team will decide the winner of the pennant, although the team has no chance itself.

Marty O'Toole the former Brooklyn pitcher, who was out in for Cincinnati after Saturday's game was loist made a fine showing and held Chicago to two runs.

Manager Jesse Burkett is trying to land Fletcher Fullerton for the Worcester team next season as it is thought probable that Burberich will be drafted by some Eastern league club.

Catcher Oslick of the Boston Americans, will be one of the referees in the New England Roller Polo league this winter. He had some experience in the west last winter.

"JOHNNY" DUNN

Famous Manager in Town Today

George Bothner, the lightweight champion wrestler, with his manager, Johnny Dunn, called at this office today en route to Lawrence, where he is billed to meet Eugene Tremblay, of Montreal, before the Unity Cycle and Social club. Bothner has never appeared in this vicinity, but as he is conceded to be the cleverest and most aggressive fighter in the world, his appearance before the public, an exciting struggle for supremacy is likely to result. Dunn is willing to match Bothner against Jim Prokes, the local middleweight, provided the latter will agree to defeat him decisively within an hour, as he will agree to wrestle at catchweights. The New York manager was very anxious to meet George Gardner.

"Aggressiveness is a great thing in base ball," says Frank Seice, "and Mc Graw is the personification of aggressiveness." Still Christy Mathewson is a wonderful help.

Neither Chance or Steinfeldt have hit up to form this season and this has hurt the Cubs badly. To make matters worse, Steinfeldt's fielding has not been up to the mark, either.

Pitcher Pfeister, of the Chicagoans, during the Boston series developed a sort of Charley-horse in his pitching arm, the muscles knotting curiously and making the arm at times powerless.

Arthur Raymond, the cardinal pitcher, who has made a thorough study of the prohibition movement, has discovered a remedy for the side-door evil. "Keep the front doors open," says Arthur.

Cincinnati's southern recruit, Pitcher Ralph Savidge, is the son of a Berwick, Pa., minister; nevertheless he has no scruples about playing on Sunday. That is not surprising from a minister's son.

Ralph Glaze has left for Rochester, N. Y., where he is to coach the Rochester university football team. Glaze said he was delighted with his treatment as Providence and hoped to be back with Hugh Duffy next season.

The New York "Press" is of the opinion that "it's a cinch there will be two managerial changes in the National league next season. The Curious Cardinals and the Remarkable Reds both will have new commanders. John McGloskey probably quitting the big leagues for good and John Gangel being retained in the capacity of private by Garry Hermann.

The New Yorks have picked up several likely youngsters for next season in McIlveen, Cree, Gardner and O'Rourke. No wonder Griffith was figuring for 1909, for he had these men in mind all the time.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Frank Eveland, president of the New York Automobile Trade Association, announced yesterday that the trade association would hold its first annual international hill climb up the First George hill on Saturday afternoon, October 17. President Eveland has appointed Richard Cooney, and Karane will be seen at center.

The Mysteries football team, which has made such a name for itself in past seasons, would like to meet any 140 pound team in or about the city. A reasonable guarantee must be arranged for. Address communications to James Riley, manager, 12 Stanley street, this city.

At the meeting of the racing board of the American Automobile Association held in New York on Saturday, October 3, 1908, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas various persons have participated in races coming within the jurisdiction of the American Automobile Association but for which no sanction had been granted by that association and whereas it appears from the statement of some of such persons that they participated in the said races under a misapprehension, he it

"Resolved, That in the cases of such participants as were under the misapprehension referred to, their disqualification, pursuant to the rules of the racing board of the American Automobile Association, be suspended to the extent of enabling them to participate in any race already sanctioned by the racing board, upon such persons filing a statement to the effect that they shall not hereafter participate in any manner or form in any race claimed by the association to be within its sole jurisdiction and for which no sanction has been granted by the racing board of the American Automobile Association."

This resolution was undoubtedly adopted in order that there might be no misunderstanding regarding the status of a number of drivers that competed in the Brighton Beach meets and who wish to compete in the Motor Parkway Sweepstakes next Saturday. It had been the general impression that drivers who competed in the first twenty-four hour race of the Motor Racing Association had disqualified themselves without further notice.

EUGENE V. DEBS HELPING MR. TAFT.

The address of Eugene V. Debs, the socialist candidate for the presidency, delivered on the common Monday, was not quite so inflammatory as was anticipated. True, Mr. Debs labored to impress upon the workingmen that they are in a state of serfdom; that the other two great political parties exist only to aid the capitalists, and the monopolists who rob the workingmen, and that neither party has ever done a single thing for the working class. Furthermore, he asserted that they never would do anything for the working class and that the latter would have to emancipate themselves by voting for the socialist party.

After telling them that they were slaves, he told his hearers that they have the power in their own hands if they only use it, and so they have. That being so, they are in every sense free men and not slaves. Every man vested with the right of citizenship in this republic has equal rights before the law with every other. The man whom Mr. Debs asserts is a slave because he has to work for somebody else has a vote for the rulers of the state and nation, and the president of the United States has no more.

The laboring man, therefore, call him slave or what you will, exercises an equal share of the sovereignty of the people with the highest dignitary in the land. Where then is the slavery? It all consists in working for another rather than yourself, according to the socialist theory.

What is the socialist remedy for this state of affairs?

As Mr. Debs laid it down it was as follows:—

"If this platform offered by the socialists gets into power the mills you work in and the different sources of wealth will be transferred to you. Instead of being a slave you will rise to the plane of masters. You will not only be the ruling class, but you will be the only class."

That is certainly a very catchy platform; for every man who believes it to be practicable or even possible will be prompted from selfish motives to favor this idea of holding property in common. It is particularly attractive to those who never had any property of their own and who if given their quota of the national wealth tomorrow would soon gravitate back to their old station in which they had nothing and could keep nothing.

In times of panic it is easy to inflame the minds of ignorant people by telling them they are slaves, "worse than the slaves of the south before the civil war," as a speaker who followed Mr. Debs argued at considerable length.

Mr. Debs himself told his hearers that the working class is but as merchandise in the hands of the capitalists, and the sentiment was received with expressions of approval.

It is a common practice of socialist orators to tell the toilers that they are treated like so many cattle by the capitalists, all of which is erroneous, and is dangerous doctrine to spread broadcast throughout this country.

No wonder that a member of the party was heard to say, "we are like the horses crowded out by automobiles. They are making new machines to do our work."

It is a deplorable thing to have men believe that because they have to work they are enslaved, and that their employers rob them of the fruits of their industry which socialism would have held in common.

The socialists are wrong in saying that the democratic party is as bad as the republican, and that neither has ever done anything for the working class. The democratic party has always favored every labor reform advocated by the leading labor organizations of the country.

Were it otherwise, would President Gompers and John Mitchell be out advocating the election of William Jennings Bryan, the democratic candidate?

Gompers, Mitchell and other astute leaders who have gone below the gaudy surface of socialism, see its dangers and its impracticable delusions, and consequently oppose the system root and branch.

But how does Mr. Debs meet the necessary large expense of traveling around the country in a special train? Who pays for his princely tour? Is it the socialists or the leaders of the republican party? There are people in this city who believe that it is a republican scheme, and a desperate one, if so, to have Mr. Debs go through the country to offset the influence of Gompers and other labor leaders in favor of the democratic ticket. It is well known that most of those who will vote the socialist ticket have been voting the democratic ticket for years. Debs' campaign is to draw men from the democratic party, so as to defeat Bryan and ensure the election of Taft. Would that emancipate the laboring people? Certainly not, and yet that is the only result that can follow a stampede from the democratic to the socialist party.

THE MISSION OF THE W. C. T. U.

The people of Lowell are in sympathy with the work of the Women's Christian Temperance Union now in convention in this city. All the aims of that organization tend to the uplifting of humanity; and the effort of a society 500,000 strong along humane and christian lines must accomplish a vast amount of good.

The address of the state president, Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson, was a splendid exposition of the work and a clarion call to the women of the world to unite their efforts in the cause of temperance, for social purity, for abolishing the suggestive medical advertisements and offensive billboards.

The Sun for many years has eliminated the objectionable medical "ads" and it has also denounced the offensive billboards, while at the same time absolutely refusing all advertisements of liquor saloons and the liquor business. We are, therefore, in a position to wish the W. C. T. U. God-speed in its good work.

SEEN AND HEARD

The following is from the church notices of last week; paragraph pulpit, First Unitarian church:

It is a fine thing to be loyal to one's city. For that loyalty renders it more beautiful, makes it a better place to live in, and produces men and women that widen its influence beyond its natural boundaries. But the tendency of modern days is to deny it. And if you think mealy of their city, they will not be inspired to do or sacrifice anything for it. Only a deeper realization of the best spirit of its past will help form the nobler civic pride so essential to make any city what it can and should be. If Athens needed Pericles, she needed no less the love of all her citizens in attaining her full development. In every city not merely the board of government but the people as well need this civic pride. Our city needs it, and it should inspire us all to make Lowell a better place to live in and more worthy of its best traditions.

How distinctly opposite these words are to the words of the other local preacher who said that he had seen more drunkenness in Lowell than in any of the cities visited by him in Europe, Asia or America.

Honesty and simplicity are beautiful but overdrawn but, sometimes, like the rubber band they are badly stretched. The little story that we are about to tell has to do with a poor wash woman who overheard a few words that passed between man and wife at a house where she had been called in to do the washing. "I was never a buttinsky," she said, "but I couldn't help hearing a little of the conversation that passed between the man and woman of the house where I was washed a few days ago. If there was ever a villain born into this world that man is one and the poor dear little woman is one of the sweetest tempered creatures that ever drew the breath of life. They had been talking and try as I would I couldn't but hear a little that was being said and when that villain got ready to go and just as he was leaving the house he says to her, says he, 'I'm going to the Devil' and you can go to the Devil.' I don't know what kept me from plastering his face with soap suds, the dirty coward. And she, poor sweet little thing never said a word in return, in fact, she was smiling all the time. I wouldn't do another washing for that fellow if he gave me his house."

There are few men in Lowell who have a larger fund of good stories than Manager John I. Shannon of Hathaway's theatre. He was in a story telling mood the other afternoon, and upon my promise not to divulge the name of the printer.

SEEN AND HEARD

clap actor in the late, he unwound the following yarn:

"Some years ago," said Mr. Shannon, "I was with a show that was travelling through Canada. In Montreal I fell in with several other stage folk, including a well-known comedian now dead. He had been fibbing rather freely for several days, and one afternoon his condition was such that we realized that he would be unable to take part in the evening performance. Some one suggested a Turkish bath as a cure. To the Turkish bath we took him, and left him in the care of the attendants. After putting him through the usual course of treatment he was placed on a cot to be awakened about 7 o'clock, an hour before the performance. But he remained in the arms of Morpheus only about an hour. When he awakened all he saw about him was blank hard walls, the usual decorations of a Turkish bath. He could not imagine where he was. Then he remembered that he had been on a spree and had perhaps been picked up, taken for dead and removed to a morgue. Quickly jumping from the cot on which he had been slumbering he ran about the room shouting at the top of his voice. Resolving to reply he went to a corner of the room and shouted 'fire' at the top of his voice. His cry was heard and some one turned in the alarm. After he had been 'rescued' by the firemen he was placed under arrest, and only the strongest kind of influence secured his release.

Sheriff Fairburn of Cambridge is a well liked man. He is well liked because he is courteous in his relations with men. I approached him, an entire stranger, a few mornings ago and I wondered at the attention he showed me. His courtesy paved me at least three hours' time and he didn't know that I was connected with a newspaper, either. If his assistants would but emulate his example, more consideration would be shown the public in the court house at Cambridge. A man with less than one-quarter the average supply of brains would be well equipped for the position of court officer, but the average court officer is a very important person. Another case of being unable to see one's self as others see one.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Collier's Weekly (Republican): "The election and subsequent death of Mr. Taft would mean the occupancy of the White House by an official fat-fryer who during several years past approached the presidency with the hand of the large corporations in the country. It was in the course of this official function that Sherman was profanely turned down by Mr. Harriman, a republican party, and the head of it had not been grateful for the $250,000 which Mr. Harriman collected and gave in 1904. Penrose, as one of the executive committee of nine which is to do the actual work of the republican campaign, is an error of taste and judgment, but not a great deal worse. With T. Coleman Dupont, of Delaware, however, the case differs. Among the combinations now being prosecuted by the federal government is that aggregation of companies known as the powder trust. Mr. Dupont is president of the $50,000,000 Dupont Powder company, president of the $10,000,000 International Powder company, director of the International Smokeless Powder company, and vice president of the holding company, the Delaware Securities company, which owns a majority of the stock of the Laffin and Rand Powder company."

"Suppose that Mr. Taft, being successful, should be approached by Mr. Dupont thus: 'I am one of the ten men, including Chairman Hitchcock, who have put you over the plate. I don't want to be reminding you continually of the obligation; there is one small place of patronage I should like, and I shan't speak to you about patronage again during your administration. There is a deserving young friend of mine whom I should like to have appointed to the position lately held by'

A SIMPLE BUT SURE METHOD OF DEVELOPING A WELL-ROUNDED BUST AND FIGURE.

A Rare Prescription

Which Transforms Plainness into Rarest Beauty.

It is a simple but sure method of developing the bust, arms, neck, hips and shoulders of women, who through some defect of nutrition and circulation are forever being humiliated by their more fortunate sisters. First, it must be understood that the human skin is an enormous gland, richly endowed with nerves, secreting and excreting organs, and a network of minute blood vessels which contain at one time over one-third of all the blood in the body—that is, if nature is perfect.

The relation of the skin to the vital organs, through the nervous system, in controlling the blood supply, such as to put them as a team working together. Being in such close relation to the nervous system, it follows that a powerful, rich, nerve stimulant applied to the skin to be absorbed as nourishment, will result in immediate blood supply and flesh growth at the parts treated, thus bringing about the most beautiful changes and development.

Get separately two ounces glycerine, three ounces of rosewater, one ounce of cod-liver oil, and five cents worth of cod-liver oil. Mix the glycerine with tincture cod-liver oil, shake and let stand two hours; then add a teaspoonful of borax and the rosewater. Apply to the parts needing development morning and night, rubbing until thoroughly absorbed; then wash off with hot water and soap, and dry.

It is believed by expert dermatologists to be the most effective prescription ever conceived for the purpose. H.N. Huns touch'n' G. Okanning

AMERICAN FLEET

The Itinerary From Manila to Hampton Roads Approved

MANILA, Oct. 7.—Rear-Admiral Sperry has received from the navy department its approval of the itinerary from Manila to Hampton Roads as submitted to the department by him. It follows:

Leave Manila Dec. 1, arrive Colombo Dec. 14, leave Colombo Dec. 20, arrive Suez Jan. 5.

The Mediterranean fleet will divide. The Commodore and the Vermont will go to Gibraltar, arriving there Jan. 14 and leaving Jan. 27.

The Minnesota and Kansas will go to Marseilles, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.

The Georgia, Nebraska and Kentucky will go to Genoa, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.

The Rhode Island and New Jersey will go to Leghorn, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.

The Louisiana and Virginia will go to Malta, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.

The first division will arrive at Negropoli Jan. 31 and start for Gibraltar Feb. 3. It will leave Gibraltar February 6.

The second, third and fourth divisions will arrive at Negropoli Feb. 1 and leave Feb. 6 for Hampton Roads.

Strong objection is being made here to the departure of the fleet Dec. 1 without a proper opportunity to carry out the program of entertainment which has been prepared and which was postponed on account of the presence of cholera in this city.

It is expected that representations would be made to both Rear-Admiral Sperry and the navy department on the subject.

W. C. T. U.

Continued.

Miss Elizabeth P. Gordon told optimistic stories, illustrating the W. C. T. U. work, and the recent successes in the southern states.

The evening session closed about 9 o'clock with the reading of notices the doxology and the benediction.

The following important portion of Mrs. Stevenson's address was crowded out of yesterday's edition:

"If I were to have my part in shaping the policy of Massachusetts for the coming year, I should advise a concentration of effort on work for prohibition, spelled with a capital P. I have become firmly convinced that we shall gain nothing by longer working with that thing of shreds and patches, our present high license law. The results of our last three legislative sessions have gone to show that we have nothing to hope for from men elected by a license constituency. And even if we had succeeded in passing the measures for which we have so valiantly worked, how much nearer would we be to the final solution of our great problem? District option, the licensing of licensees, bottle restrictions for the sale by druggists and grocers, these are all measures of palliation and curial prevention only. Nothing less than the total annihilation of the liquor traffic will meet the real needs of the case. Why should we not try our short cut to this supreme and thorough working for prohibition, pure and simple. I earnestly trust that this convention may lay down as its chief line of work for the coming year an effort to secure the submission of a prohibitory amendment to the state constitution to the voters of Massachusetts. Side by side with that let us work for woman's suffrage. All needed things will be added to these two vital issues.

"The fearful statements made in the last issue of the Ladies' Home Journal may well cause us to pause and ask what more can the Woman's Christian Temperance union do for the cause of purity? If even one half of the statistics are correct it is a matter which may well send us to our knees before God in an agony of prayer for the future of the American nation. What hope is there for a people, the very fountain head of whose life is thus corrupted? The unions have not been active in this department during the past two or three years and I earnestly hope there may be a revival of interest in this most important work. Combined with the work commonly known as that of the Purify department, there should be carried on an aggressive propaganda throughout the state for the cleansing of our bill boards and our papers from objectionable advertisements. Too much cannot be said in praise of the papers which have already taken a stand in this respect. Let us show our appreciation in such practical form, by speaking words of commendation.

Forenoon Session

The session of this forenoon opened at 9 o'clock with a prayer meeting. Mrs. H. D. Walker being the leader. The convention was then called to order by the state president, Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson. This was followed by singing and prayer by Miss M. L. Nichols. There were then readings of the previous meetings and the preliminary report of the committee on credentials.

At 10 o'clock the superintendents of the seven circuits were given seven minutes each to answer questions as to the newest plans and latest advancement of their work, which included discussions on legislation, Mrs. Janette Hill Knox spoke of Christian citizenship, Mrs. F. E. Britton, teaching, peace and international arbitration, Mrs. A. J. Hawks and Mrs. L. W. Morse then spoke on social meetings and red letter days and Mrs. S. W. Simpson on flower missions.

This was followed by singing and the reading of the report of the Francis E. Willard settlement by Miss Carolyn M. Casswell. Mrs. Augusta R. Brigham spoke on fairs and open air meetings and Miss Jennie F. Farnley on "Merey." The state president, Mrs. Stevenson, spoke on the purity in literature and art and was followed by Mrs. Anna F. Delle on "Mothers' meetings." There was a general discussion on the organization of our missionary societies and state officers.

At 11 o'clock there were memorial services in which a prominent part was taken by Dr. Vesta D. Miller, Mrs. E. Trask Hill, Mrs. Jennie F. Hatch, Mrs. Charles D. Britton. After the morning papers there was a birthday thank offering. The transaction of important business, announcements and adjournment for dinner.

At 2 p. m. the convention was again called to order by State President Mrs. Stevenson. After the reading of a vocal selection prayer was offered by

More than $10,000 has been used for the promotion of the work during the past year for state, county, national and world work. There are over 600 honorary members, fathers, brothers and sons of members. ### CONVENTION NOTES

The "department quiz" scheduled for this morning was taken up yesterday afternoon out of order. On "Legislation" Mrs. Janette Hill Knox said that more success has been gained in petition, than in legislation; "and you know the reason why," she added. In answer to the question "What has the state done?" Mrs. Knox said, "It has done nothing." A national triumph has been the prohibition of the sale of intoxicants in the soldiers' homes.

The hostesses of the occasion are: Mrs. H. C. Rolfe, president of the Middlesex County W. C. T. U., and Mrs. E. W. Clark, president of the Lowell W. C. T. U. The chairmen of the committees are: Mrs. E. W. Clark, general chairman; Miss Adelaide E. Noyes, entertainment; Mr. J. S. Brooks, catering; Miss Ella Penn, information bureau and postoffice; Mrs. C. T. Upton, demonstration; Miss Julia Williams, decoration; Mrs. W. H. Pepin, music.

member the constituency she represents and try to carry home all possible help to them. The Golden Rule constitutes the supreme law of this convention; subsidiary in that we are governed by "Robert's Rules of Order."

Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, state president, sails on her foreign tour in four weeks. She was last night presented on the platform a small flag to carry with her.

It is estimated there are 500,000 members of the W. C. T. U. in the world and a little over 9,000 in Massachusetts.

Display cards were conspicuously arranged about the corridors of the church and one of them bore the following problem in arithmetic: "I am not much of a mathematician," said the elgarist, "but I can add to a man's nervous troubles, I can subtract from his physical energy, I can multiply his aches and pains, I can divide his mental powers. I take interest from his work and discount his chances for success."

VERY QUIET DAY

There is Little Doing at City Hall

Today was a very quiet day in city hall circles. Mayor Farnham was taking matters easily when a representative of The Sun dropped in on him and the principal thing on his mind was what he was missing by not being at the Founders' Week celebration at Philadelphia.

"Mat" Dowling, clerk of committee, said that matters were so dull that his department was unable to pay expenses, but Treasurer Stiles wore a broad smile and with the assistance of his clerks was raking in the "long green" due on tax bills which had been sent out.

Auditor Paige was full of business on his monthly accounts, but it was all routine business. Even City Clerk Dagman said that business was dead and the matrimonial market is at a very low ebb.

Agent Bates of the board of health said that there were two new cases of typhoid fever, but that the number of cases is slowly dropping off and it looks as though the epidemic of typhoid is over.

The principal thing that is occupying City Messenger Patten's mind is how long the superior civil session is going to sit for his first assistant is on the jury.

THE LYNN STRIKE

Is in a Fair Way of Being Settled Soon

LYNN, Oct. 7.—The apparent willingness of both the union officials and the members of the Joseph Caunt company, the contending sides to the original controversy which brought about the strike of 1500 lasters in most of the shoe shops in this city, to discuss the situation on even terms, was accepted in shoe circles in this city today as indicating an early settlement of the strike. This settlement, however, is expected to be only temporary and to be effective only until the drawing up of a new working agreement between the union and the manufacturers. However, it was almost certain before the calling of the conference which had been appointed for today between the Caunt firm and union officials that most of the striking lasters would return to work pending the outcome of the arrangement of a new scale of prices.

The point made by Joseph Caunt in the early discussions yesterday as to whether the strike of lasters in other factories following that of the Caunt employees was sympathetic or part of a general strike for a general re-arrangement, did not occupy any prominent part in today's deliberations and it was believed that the other concerns would follow the action of the Caunt company in making peace with their lasters.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOSTON NORTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Whether the Baptist church will admit as members persons who have not been immersed, was the topic which overshadowed all other deliberations of the annual meeting of the Boston Northern Baptist convention in this city today. The subject is one which has caused wide discussion among members of the church, several prominent clergymen having declared themselves in favor of dropping from the requisites for church membership this principle of the Baptist creed.

So serious has the question become and so steadfast the stand of the members of some parishes against it, that several delegates came to today's convention instructed to withdraw the name of their church from the association membership should the measure be acted upon favorably.

MURPHY—The funeral of John Murphy took place this morning from his late home, 79 West Third street, and was very largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church, where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Eugene A. Carney. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Thomas P. Boulger, sang the "Missa Pro Defunctis." At the offertory "Domine Jesu Christe" was sung. At the conclusion of mass "In Paradisum" and as the remains were borne from the church "Ego Sum Benedictus" was rendered by the choir. Miss Carolyn White presided at the organ. The bearers were Messrs. Michael Angelo, John Murningham, Frank Dolan, James Dolan, Matthew McCaffery and Joseph Lantagne. Burial was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Carney gave the final absolution at the grave. Funeral Director James W. McKenna was in charge.

LAWN—The funeral of William Eugene Lawn took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of his parents, 18 Third street, and was very largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral tributes, among them being the following: A large bouquet of roses and carnations, from his great-grandmother; spray white carnations, grandfather and grandmother; spray of chrysanthemums, "Uncle William" spray, Aunt Mamie;

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]

JOHN DREW has at last become an actor, according to the views of various people who have seen his performance in "Jack Straw," the English importation at the Empire theater.

Written by Edward Somerset Maugham, the London playwright of the hour, "Jack Straw" gives promise of repeating in the United States the long run it enjoyed in London. It was at the Vaudeville theater that Charles Hawtrey of "Message From Mars" fame appeared in the English production for a record number of performances.

Mr. Drew's Acting.

Mr. Drew of course does not class in the foreground of American dramatic art. He is really not an actor because of his inability to do actual character work, but he passes for more than a mere lyceum entertainer or reciter when given a play like "The Duke of Killcrankie" or "His House in Order" or "Jack Straw." In a play like "Killcrankie," for instance, Mr. Drew had nothing much to do but the lightest sort of impersonation, yet the play was a success because that was simply the nature of the work necessary for the completion of the ensemble. Mr. Drew's handsome clothes and his faultless and studied deportment in those same clothes constituted the major part of his acting in that drama.

In "Jack Straw" he has a peaceful sort of role that he carries to a success without much nervous wear and tear, and he should pray nightly for the preservation of those astute managerial experts whose business it is to choose for him his plays. When they lose their cunning, then farewell, Mr. Drew.

Rose Coghlan Scores.

Rose Coghlan is seen with Mr. Drew in "Jack Straw." Her performance is practically flawless as Mrs. Parker Jennings, a vulgar parvenu who boasts and shows her way relentlessly into the sacred inner precincts of society. Miss Coghlan threatens frequently to topple Mr. Drew off his pedestal of stellar supremacy.

Ordinarily termed a comedy, "Jack Straw" is pretty much of a farce. The complications arising from the adventures of Archduke Sebastian of Pomerania in the guise of a waiter are thoroughly farcical in description. In the capable supporting company are Mary Boland, Edgar Davenport, Fred Tyler, Adelaide Prince and Grace Henderson.

Great Hippodrome Spectacles.

The new Hippodrome spectacle is more elaborate in many respects than any of its amazing predecessors, and the present programme nightly and daily shown at the giant playhouse should establish new records for popularity.

The most impressive feature is probably the stirring realistic "Battle in the Skies," which, in four scenes, was invented by Arthur Voegtlin and written and produced by R. H. Burnside.

Story of "Battle in the Skies."

This spectacle opens in a street of the United States in the period of 1950.

It is the age of airships and still other progressive inventions. Rumors are in the air that the city is to be attacked by the United States of Europe. General Fairfax, who is in command of the United States aeroplane army, tells the people he is fully prepared to meet and repulse their fleet of airships. The skeptical sneer, and many doubt him. To his aid comes Geoffrey Gedison, a young inventor, who is in love with the general's daughter. He tells of his new discovery, a radium gun, that will destroy without fail.

The general is greatly pleased, and word goes forth to Europe that should her air fleet cross the sky border of America the latter's army aeroplanes will destroy every city on the other continent. Spies kidnap the general's daughter, believing that her presence in their capital will save destruction. Geoffrey takes his airship and goes in pursuit. She is rescued. General Fairfax and his fleet follow. They reconnoiter about the fortifications. The battle begins, and the winged warriors are in conflict.

Armed aviators guide their machines over the city. A shower of radium is poured over the buildings. It is night, and the sky becomes red with the fire of the city first being destroyed. Buildings fall and steeples topple. Then all is smoldering ruin. Quiet reigns. With a rush a great tidal wave flows over the debris and leaves the open sea.

The concluding scene takes the spectator to the Golden Garden, where General Fairfax and his followers celebrate their triumph, the act closing with festivities in honor of the triumph of the American airship fleet.

"Sporting Days."

The opening spectacle, made up of several scenes, is "Sporting Days," a melodrama. In the cast appears J. Parker, Coombe, Edwin A. Clark, George Mordecai, Marie Tyler, William H. Clark, George Melville, Harry Dale, Frank Melville, Marceline, the clown, Nannette Flack and many others.

The action opens with a baseball game on the Newtown college grounds, next follows a wonderfully staged boat race between college eights, and as a finale is shown a horse race at Saratoga which threatens to make the celebrated "Ben-Hur" chariot race pale in to insignificance.

The usual Hippodrome circus programme is made up of a large number of new acts and specialties, including Alber's ten performing polar bears, Paul Sanders' dog circus and clowns, equestrians, acrobats, wire experts and equilibrists galore.

No visitor to New York should miss the new Hippodrome show.

"School Days," at the new Circle theater, is an enjoyable performance that has won an enthusiastic welcome.

Herman Timberg as Izzy Levy, a padder, Janet Priest, Joe Kono, Agnes Lynn, Wilfred Herick, Gregory Kelly and Berenice Faye appear to advantage.

"School Days" is the outgrowth of the forty-five minute vandyke sketch of last season, "Gus Edwards' School Days and Girls." Aaron Hoffman has taken hold of it and whipped it into a three act musical comedy, and, of course, Mr. Edwards has added a number of songs, which, judging by the way they were received, are going to be hits for a few months to come. Ed Gardner and Vincent Bryan wrote the lyrics.

GERTRUDE QUINLAN.

Gertrude Quinlan is back from Paris wearing one of those new hats with a cock's plume stuck in the band and the tip waving in the atmosphere nearly three feet above the crown. Miss Quinlan doesn't seem a bit stuck up by the English praise she received for her Flora Wiggins success in the London production of "The College Widow." There's a chance that the United States may not be able to hold her much longer. She has only to make a scratch of her pen on either of two blank contracts brought back in her 5 by 8 gold purse to have a production ready for a tempting starring venture in London.

"THE DEVIL."

It never rains but it pours. Franz Molnar was a struggling and unknown Hungarian newspaper writer in Budapest until his play "The Devil" took Vienna by storm. The piece is now scheduled for separate productions in twenty-four European cities for the coming season and managers are bidding in as many different tongues for the rights to his next effort.

MISS DESMOND KELLEY.

Miss Desmond Kelley, who played the part of Jane Hammond in "Her Sister" with Ethel Barrymore last season and was previously in "The Spoilers" and other Frohman productions, will be seen next season in an important role in "The Richest Girl," the play in which Marie Doro is to be starred.

POPULAR "BEN-HUR."

The original "Ben-Hur" company has given over 2,000 performances of that play.

World's Series Baseball Talk — Re-reformed Football For 1908

THE forthcoming world's championship series is now occupying the attention of the baseball sharps. Most of "fans" have been calculating on the probable result of the series and during the latter part of the season have figured the likely result if the following sets of teams met in the momentous and climactic green diamond battles: The New York, Chicago or Pittsburgh Nationals against either the Cleveland, Chicago or Detroit Americans.

The writer has taken especial pains to scribes pick the National teams' chances as superior to those of the American league clubs for the following reasons:

In the first place, the pitching strength of the leading American league teams is inferior to that of New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, though the Chicago Americans have a twelfth-inning department that probably is the best in the league. The Chicago and Pittsburgh Nationals are stronger in the box than New York, Chicago having the best pitching staff in the country, with Brown, Pfeister and Overall at with Willis would, on form, have an advantage over any American league competitor.

About Even in Batting.

In batting the two big leagues' best teams are fairly evenly matched. The Chicago Nationals and the Detroit Americans are probably the most consistent teams in hitting.

In fielding, infield and outfield, the National league is considered by most of the critics to take superior rank, for the individual players, as a whole, are deemed able in the older organization. The team work of the National league clubs is stated to be smoother and more effective than that of the American league.

Of course this article merely expresses the weight of opinion of authoritative correspondents chosen impartially. Several critics of the minority, those favoring the American league's chances in the world's championship series, claim that Detroit would prove stronger than the Chicago, Pittsburgh or New York Nationals because of its great batting strength and its two leading pitchers, Donovan and Killian. Three other Detroit pitchers, Willets, Summers and Mullin—and on form the Detroit should have won the American pennant by a wide margin of points.

Cleveland Erratic.

Cleveland is an erratic team and for that reason is not widely favored as being of world's championship caliber. The Chicago Americans have one of the best pitchers of the country in Ed Walsh. He has the best record in the American league. He has pitched more games than any other American twirler and performed the sensational feat of winning over thirty contests. After finishing his forty-third game he had the high percentage of .595.

Joss the Cleveland Leader.

Adrian Joss has again taken his place as leading pitcher for the Cleveland club. Donovan, Killian and Walsh are the only men who have better averages in the American league. Killian and Donovan have worked sparingly and only when circumstances favored them, so Walsh is the only pitcher who really has done better work than Joss, taking into consideration the number of games worked.

Control is one of Joss' strong points. He has labored in almost forty contests and gave only thirty bases on balls. Cy Young of Boston is next behind Joss in point of games won.

Smith Tricks Schmidt.

Connie Smith, the burly catcher whom Eddie Mack was so kind to give to McAleer, pulled off a good trick on Schmidt, the Detroit catcher, a few days ago during the St. Louis-Detroit series.

With Jones on first in the eleventh inning, Smith deliberately turned his back on the pitcher and pretended to recognize some one in the stand. Catcher Schmidt turned around to see to whom Smith was speaking, and when he did so Jones stole second. Schmidt never throwing the ball. Smith followed this by bringing Jones home with a single, winning the game. That one stunt has made Smith in St. Louis.

Trick Plays in Football.

From trustworthy indications the 1908 football season will be largely a campaign of trick plays. Since the new rules make "straight football" less remunerative in the amount of ground gained, coaches and captains, being practical people, opine that if they would produce winning teams they must develop numerous new trick plays. It is the unusual (and much disliked by veteran players) openness of the game of today that makes trick plays especially popular, for, while their danger is naturally greater to the team in possession of the ball, the chances of large gains are correspondingly greater. So the ever present principles of universal compensation are again seen to apply.

Fumbling is the bugbear of almost all trick plays. The added nervousness of the players and their pressing desire to start the maneuver as quickly as possible superinduce considerable fumbling. Therefore practice in handling, passing, catching and falling off the ball is more important than in the days of close formation plays.

Indications are that most of the trick plays of the year will involve the forward pass and that long passes will be largely relied on. The long forward pass is one of the prettiest spectacles in the new, revamped, reformed, re-enacted, re-reformed game, and its frequent use will contribute considerably to the game from a spectator's viewpoint. But it will give various degrees of nervous prostration to coaches and players.

ARTHUR ROCKWOOD.

NEWS OF THE PRIZE RING.

Jack ("Twin") Sullivan, the New England heavyweight, has turned down the offer made to him by Jim Jeffries to fight Sam Langford, the colored fighter, a twenty-five round battle at the Jeffries club of Los Angeles, Cal. Sullivan has been made several offers by club managers of California to fight Langford, but he has always sidestepped the offers. Sullivan says he will fight Hugo Kelly of Chicago.

Jimmy Coffroth, the fight promoter of California, has practically arranged a match between Paakey McFarland, the Chicago fighter, and Battling Nelson, the lightweight champion, to be fought at Colma, Cal., on Thanksgiving day afternoon. The only thing that hinges on the bout being clinched for good is a percentage of the gate receipts, which Nelson is holding out for. Coffroth expects to sign Nelson soon. They will battle for twenty-five rounds if they get together.

N. E. Jones, manager of Billy Papke, the middleweight champion, has arrived in Chicago. In speaking of Papke's fight with Ketchel, Jones says that Papke had Ketchel beaten before the bout started. Billy walked up to Ketchel in his dressing room and said: "Well, Stanley, I am going to give you the worst flogging of your life. I am going to slug with you every inch of the way, and when I get you going I will put you out."

CHICAGO'S MARATHON.

The annual Marathon race at Chicago was won by A. L. Corey of Chicago, unattached, in the official time of 2 hours 57 minutes 30 seconds. One minute behind him came Sidney Hatch of the Illinois Athletic club, while the third man was J. A. Feltes of Chicago, unattached. Feltes' time was 3 hours and 12 minutes.

Corey, his friends say, might have equalled or lowered the record for the course, 2 hours 41 minutes 43 seconds, had he not been troubled by a pebble which got into his shoe some miles north of the city. He maintained his lead some time even with this handicap, but finally had to stop and remove the annoyance.

FOOTBALL DOINGS.

Tad Jones pays Tibbott, the Princeton halfback, the compliment of saying that he was one of the best backs developed last season. Walter Camp, however, did not mention Tibbott on any of his three All-American lineups for 1907.

The Carlisle Indians play Pennsylvania Oct. 24, Annapolis Oct. 31 and Harvard Nov. 7. The team winds up the season with a game at Manchester

CAPTAIN A. ZINK, COLUMBIA VARSITY TRACK TEAM.

Haughton is sure to equip his team with one of these if there is a possible chance.

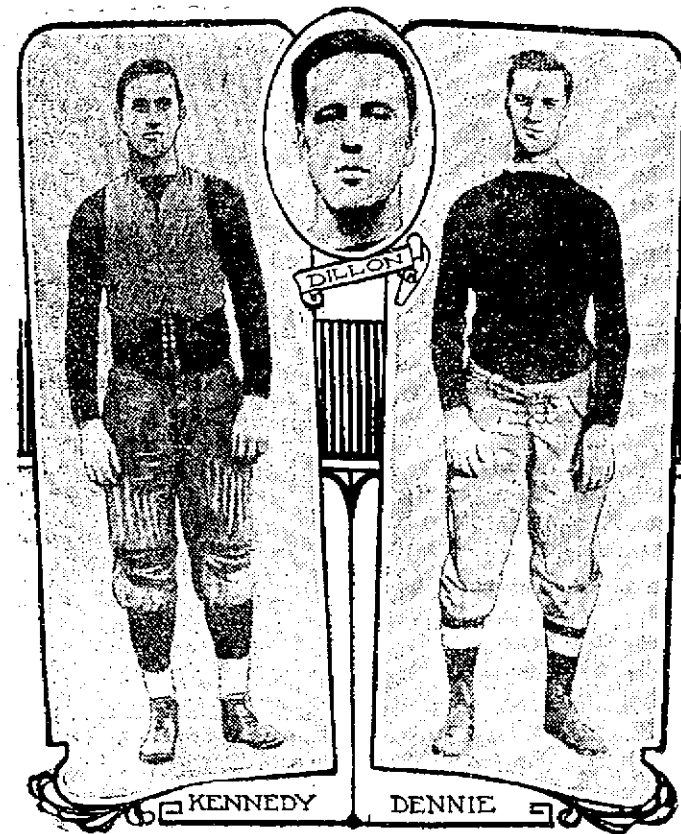

The Brown football players began practice on their own field recently after getting into fine condition at "Buck" Gammons' farm in New Bedford.

Cornell and Pennsylvania made the most of the forward pass last year, successfully using plays in which the ball was thrown forward for distances varying from forty to fifty yards.

Head Coach Percy D. Haughton of Harvard spent a week at Washington, his mission being to see graves, the old army tackle, and to try to induce him to go to Cambridge, this fall to coach the Harvard team.

WARNER'S ABORIGINES.

Glen Warner says that he intends that his Carlisle Indians must use their American names in the lineup. If he didn't he would have some artistic ones in Man-Afraid-of-a-Bear, Dave Wounded-Eye, Dave She-Bear, Joe Two-Hearts, Harry Cres-Fort-Ribs, Tall Crane and the veteran, Little Old Man.

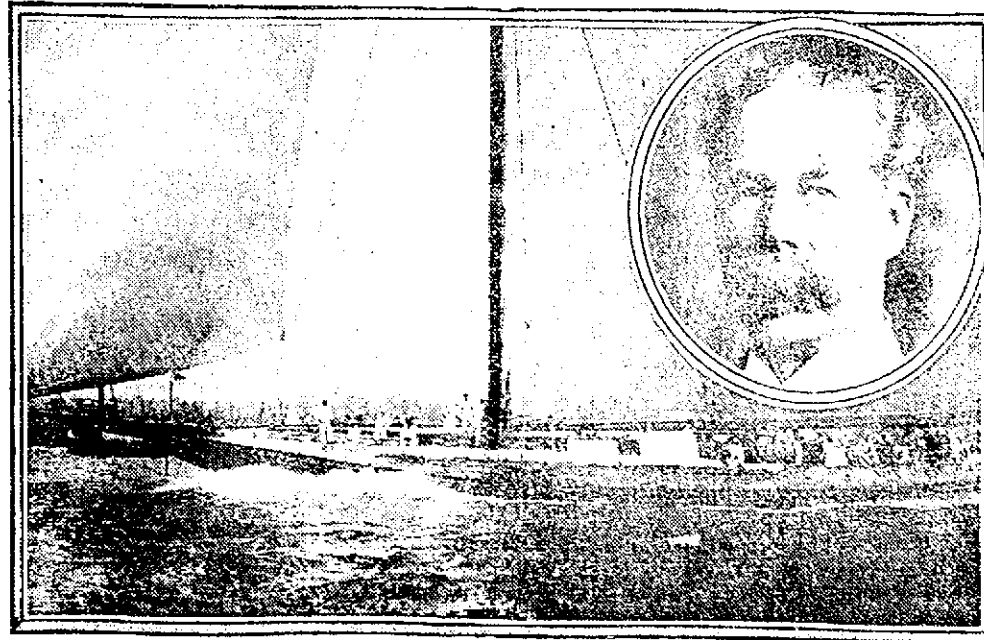

THREE LEADING EASTERN FOOTBALL WARRIORS.

G. F. Kennedy is the fast captain of the Dartmouth university eleven, which is feared by the colleges that hope to capture the football championship of the east.

Eddie Dillon is the captain of the Princeton university eleven, and his equal as a quarterback and field general is difficult to name. Dillon has sixty-five candidates for the varsity eleven out for practice at Princeton.

F. E. Dennie is the quarterback of the Brown university eleven. He is a capable punt catcher, runs a team well and is one of the fastest runners in his college.

RACY TESTIMONY

NIGHT EDITION BURGLARS BUSY

Two Breaks Were Made in Tewksbury Last Night

Two successful breaks were made during last night in Tewksbury Centre. The store of A. S. Moore, formerly known as Lock's grocery, was entered from a rear window. The burglars got next to all of the loose change which was available, mostly all of the smallest denomination of United States currency. A revolver was also among the articles missed. They regaled themselves with lunch before their departure. The break was not discovered until after the store was opened for business this morning.

TWO RIOT GUNS

And Automatic Revolvers Secured by the Local Police

The local police are now ready to do battle with any yeggs who arrive in this city looking for trouble for Supt. Moffatt has his arsenal well stocked with modern fire arms, two riot guns and three Colts automatic revolvers being the equipment.

The recent invasion of yeggs with the most up-to-date firearms startled this section of the country by their desperate acts and the fact that the invaders were well armed with the automatic guns made it rather difficult for the police to meet the desperadoes.

Following the acts of the superintendents of the various cities throughout the state, Supt. Moffatt ordered two Springfield riot guns and three Colts automatic revolvers.

The guns are a little shorter than the ordinary gun and are known as "cut-off" guns and either shot or shell can be used in them. The guns hold six shots or shells.

The revolvers are very neat, though rather heavy. Instruments of death and the magazines hold nine cartridges. The new firearms have been placed in the superintendent's office and can be secured at an instant's notice.

THE MAYFLOWER

With Harvard Students Aboard Was Wrecked

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Capt. Hummel of the steamer Advance which arrived here today from the south, brought news of the wreck of the steam launch Mayflower. The latter vessel had on board a party of Harvard students, who had made a voyage to the West Indies to search for a fabled galleon sunken off the coast of Jamaica with a rich treasure in her hold. The Panama railroad line steamer Advance brought the news of the disaster to the Argonaut ship when she arrived today from the republic of Panama. Captain Hummel said the Advance had been hove to for eight hours so violent was the gale and so high the seas when on resuming his course he sighted last Saturday a small vessel dismantled and flying signals of distress including an American flag, set Union down. She proved to be the Mayflower. They were then about 200 miles east of the Florida coast and the gale was still raging. The little craft with only a stump of her mainmast standing and a little bit of sail set was riding the storm gallantly, said Capt. Hummel. The Advance stood by for five hours without being able to launch a boat. At length an unknown frigate came along and the Advance left her standing by the disabled boat. Capt. Hummel said he saw five men on the deck of the Mayflower. They were probably the four Harvard students and their navigator. In addition they carried out of this port on Sept. 19 a Japanese who was to act as cook.

THE MAZDAZNANS

DR. G. W. HILTON.

Thought "Little Master" Was Greater Than Christ

"That Dr. Hanish, the 'little master' of the Mazdaznans is the Christ of today and that he is greater in knowledge and superior in power to the original Christ who died on Calvary."

"That the temples of the Orient where Hanish 'the little master' came from are filled with 'little masters' who subsist on a few grains of wheat a day."

"That these little masters are all knowledge and power; that Hanish came from one of these temples and that he attended the same school as did Christ and that he lived and worked where the foot of white man never trod and where the voice of white man was never heard."

"That a woman of the Mazdaznan cult lived to be 800 years of age, and that another woman of the cult gave birth to a child at the age of 93 years, and last, but not least, that the deformity of a child was due to the fact that the child's father, before his incarnation had been stranded on an island, a Robinson Crusoe, so to speak, and that the child's deformity was due to the fact that the father associated with only monkeys and apes during his stay on the island."

These are a few of the wonderful statements, the remarkable parts of speech that were heard in the court house in Gorham street this forenoon.

MAYOR HIBBARD

Claims to Have Saved $750,000 Thus Far

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Mayor Hibbard of Boston in an address at the budget exposition today told how more than three quarters of a million dollars has been saved by the city departments of the city of Boston since his administration began nine months ago. He says he has every reason to believe this saving will be materially increased before the end of the present fiscal year.

Mayor Hibbard told his hearers that the $738,000 which he referred to as saved thus far is purely a budget saving. He believed that the municipality had also saved $300,000 or more on the various contracts which have been executed.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT STUMP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Roosevelt told Senator Hemenway today that he did not think it was necessary for him to make speeches in support of Mr. Taft. Mr. Roosevelt said he had received requests to go on the stump but would not do so. This president conferred on the political situation today with William L. Ward, national committeeman for New York. Senator Hemenway of Indiana and D. Mulvane, republican national committeeman for Kansas. Both Senator Hemenway and Mr. Mulvane told the president everything was favorable for Taft in their states. Mr. Ward announced that Secretary Root would speak in New York on October 31.

Y. M. C. I. FOOTBALL TEAM

The Y. M. C. I. football team which made such a record last year, will open its home season next Saturday at Spalding park, having for opponents the Strong Chelsea A. A., one of the fastest teams around Boston. It will be remembered that this team played the Kenwood A. A. of Roxbury for the championship of the state with the result of a 5-0 victory for Kenwood after an hour of the best football ever seen in Roxbury. Saturday's game will certainly be a hummer as the Y. M. C. I. played 0 to 0 with Kenwood last year, which should indicate a 5-0 victory at best against Chelsea. The Y. M. C. I. team has been greatly strengthened this year by the addition of several fast men. At right half back, Victor Jewett should prove a tower of strength to the back field with his thorough knowledge of the game and years of experience. At full back to help out Charlie Craig will be seen Jerry O'Connor, a former Indian player whose ability is well known throughout the city. McOsker at left guard and shows up very strong as a general player, should stand out two weeks ago, having played six hundred and seventy yards close to ten seconds. Kirane at center strengthens the line considerably as his aggressiveness on the defense breaks up many plays before they get well started. Allie Cudworth, a well known former high school star, will play at quarter-back and act as field manager. With a seasoned player like Cudworth running the team a successful season is looked for. The lineup for Saturday's game is as follows: Left end, McOsker; left tackle, McSorley and Duffy; left guard, Kempton; center, Kirane; right guard, Al. Cooney; right tackle, Pearson; right backs, Cushman and Stone; right half back, Victor Jewett; left half back, Harold Jewett; full backs, Craig and O'Connor; quarter backs, Cudworth and King.

THEY STOLE WHEELS

Police Hot on Trail of Young "Automobilists"

The crime of automobile racing among the members of the rising generation of this city has led some of the youngsters to commit criminal acts in order to compete with their more fortunate companions and as a result of the acts of several youngsters who reside in the vicinity of the North common, the boys have had narrow escapes from being haled before the police court.

A few days ago a couple of youngsters about 12 years of age who were preparing for a miniature automobile race found that they did not have any wheels. Therefore the only thing to do was to purchase some, but the money was not forthcoming and the boys knowing where there were some wheels decided to take them without the consent of the owner.

Accordingly the youngsters went on their way to the residence of John F. Saunders in Fletcher street where there was a nice baby carriage. The inmates of the house being absent the boys stole the carriage and ran it through Fletcher street into Park-tucket street where they dismantled the carriage and threw the body into the canal. The wheels they took to their own garage and there equipped a modern racing machine and were ready to enter in the next race, but inspectors Laffame and Maher put in an appearance and the wheels were recovered and the youngsters were brought to the police station where they were given a good lecturing and then allowed to go.

JURY DISAGREED

JUDGE FREDERICK LAWTON

Unable to Reach a Verdict in Frontenac Hotel Case

In the superior court in East Cambridge this morning the scaled verdict returned in the case against the Frontenac hotel was opened. The foreman of the jury reported that the jurors were unable to arrive at a verdict and accordingly the jury was dismissed by the court.

At the court house it was reported that the jury stood eight for conviction and four for acquittal. The jury retired at 9:30 yesterday and was out until 9 o'clock last night when it prepared its scaled verdict.

A South Framingham liquor case was then called for trial and the prosecution was conducted by Mr. Merrill. Judge Frederick Lawton was on the bench.

TILT WITH COURT

Jerome Has Withdrawn From the Thaw Case

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 7.—After charging that Harry Thaw was still a dangerous paranoiac and recently tried to kill himself, District Attorney Jerome withdrew from the case today when Justice Mills decided to transfer the hearing on the question of Thaw's sanity to New York county. Thereupon Justice Mills said he would name the experts to examine Thaw as to his sanity between today and Saturday and settle the case upon their report on Monday.

The trouble began when Jerome declared that unless Justice Mills transferred the case, he, Jerome, would take no part in it. He declared that Thaw was a dangerous paranoiac and since his incarceration at Matteawan had threatened to take his own life, Judge Mills then refused to transfer his case, saying that he did so because a trial of the question of Thaw's sanity would not be a long one and would not cost the county much.

Mr. Jerome said that with such a ruling of the court he had no other alternative but to withdraw from the case.

"It is your duty, I think, Mr. Jerome, to defend this action," said Judge Mills.

Mr. Jerome replied, "Again I must disagree with the court and cannot enter the case unless it is continued in New York county."

A sharp exchange of words followed which ended by Jerome withdrawing from the courtroom and Justice Mills announced that he would have experts on insanity examine Thaw before Monday when the case is to be decided.

NOTED EDUCATORS

Saw Harry Garfield Made President of Williams College

WILLIAMSTOWN, Oct. 7.—In the presence of probably the largest, most representative and most notable group of American educators ever assembled together, Harry Augustus Garfield of the class of '85, former professor of politics at Princeton university, was inducted into office of president of Williams college today. In addition to the group of educators, 75 college presidents having accepted invitations to be present, the ceremony of induction was witnessed by many prominent in civil and professional life. The state was represented by Gov. Curtis Guild and his uniformed staff, James Bryce, ambassador of Great Britain was also present as well as United States Senator Crane and President Garfield's three brothers, Secretary of the Interior, James R. Garfield, Irvin McFarland and Abram Garfield, all Williams men. The only living former president of Williams college, Rev. Dr. Franklin Carter, was one of the most deeply interested spectators.

Among the great host of alumni who had come back to Williamstown purposely to attend the induction exercises the general comment was that in the choice of Prof. Garfield as president of Williams college a man had been selected who in every respect embodied the Williams spirit and the Williams traditions.

It was to Williams that James A. Garfield, one of the martyred presidents of the United States, came from an Ohio township in 1872, graduating four years later and it was at Williams that he met and married the woman who became his wife.

Delightful autumn weather favored the occasion. The air was crisp but not cold and the sun shone brightly on the beautiful Berkshire hills, bringing out in all their glory the brilliant colors of the changing leaves. Williamstown practically observed the day as a holiday and the streets of the town were crowded with alumni, representative American educators and other invited guests. Among the college presidents attending the exercises were Charles W. Eliot of Harvard, Arthur T. Hadley of Yale, Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, Woodrow Wilson of Princeton, Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell, E. A. Alderman of the University of Virginia, George Alexander of Union, Francis Brown of Union Theological school, D. N. Clark of Bangor Theological and M. H. Beckman of the university of Vermont.

The exercises began with memorial prayers at Thompson Memorial chapel. At the conclusion of the services the final ceremony of induction took place in the Congregational church at 10:15 a. m.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

MAZDAZNANS

Continued.

These things were said in testimony by one woman as being the story of another and it had to do with the hearing on the question of appointing a conservator in the case of Mrs. Helen M. Shaw, a conservator to restrain her from giving up her real estate and other property to the Mazdaznans, the followers of "the little master," Dr. Hanish.

The hearing was opened before Judge McIntire in the probate court at 9:30. The petitioners for the conservator are Mrs. Mabel M. Dutton, friend and niece of Mrs. Shaw, Edwin W. Smith of Peterboro, N. H., Walter H. Smith of Salem, N. H., and Miss Grace Thurber, also of New Hampshire.

The petitioners alleged that because of advanced age and mental weakness, that the respondent was incapacitated to look after her property or conduct her business affairs.

W. T. Kittredge and Robert A. Jordan, Boston lawyers, for the petitioners, and McIntire and Wilson of this city for the respondent.

Mrs. Shaw, the respondent, was the first witness. Among other things she was asked relative to "Inner Studies," the Mazdaznan ritual. She said that she owned a copy of the book but that she had never read it and had never offered it for sale, neither had she ever recommended it to anybody to read.

She said, however, that she was a student of the Mazdaznan belief. She said she was 65 years old and had lived in Lowell for 50 years. She had a son, Maxfield, who died Feb. 1, 1907, and her husband died Jan. 21, 1907. She knew that her mother had been an inmate of an asylum in New Hampshire but did not know that she had been there as an insane person. She was asked as to a sister and replied that if she had one she was not aware of the fact.

"It is your religious belief today?"

"I believe in it."

"Will you produce your copy of 'Inner Studies'?"

"I will not."

"Why?"

"Because I have not got it."

"Where is it?"

"I sent it to Montreal."

"You are going to Montreal, are you not?"

"I am in a few weeks."

Mr. Kittredge at this time presented a book purporting to be a copy of "Inner Studies," and the same was recognized as a copy of "Inner Studies," by Mrs. Shaw.

The book was then submitted as evidence by Mr. Kittredge, and was objected to by Mr. Wilson.

The book was allowed for the time being.

"This Mrs. Hilton is a leader, is she not, in this Mazdaznan belief?"

"She's a teacher," replied Mrs. Shaw.

"How long has she been a teacher?"

"As long as I have known her, about five years."

"She takes you out riding in her automobile, does she not?"

"Yes, she has taken me out riding."

"Do you know a person connected with the Mazdaznan belief known as 'The Little Master'?"

"I do."

Mr. Kittredge at this point, objected to Mr. Kittredge's manner of procedure and form of questions. He did not know that the question of Mazdaznan belief should enter into the case.

Mr. Kittredge said that his questions had to do, in the long run, with the mental capacity of the witness.

"How old is this man known as 'The Little Master'?"

"He is 63 years old."

"Where do you worship?"

"In Spanta Maria Temple, Columbus avenue."

"The temple has been dedicated?"

"Yes."

"Did Mrs. Hilton own the temple at the time of the dedication?"

"I do not know."

"At the time of the dedication you were set apart or designated as the mother of the church?"

"I beg your pardon."

"You were not known as the mother of the church?"

"No sir."

"Have you any office in the church?"

"None, except as a student."

"This society expresses your religious faith?"

Question objected to by Mr. Wilson. Court allowed question.

"I believe," said Mrs. Shaw, "in Mazdaznan philosophy."

"You believe in it as a religious faith?"

"I do."

"You have messages from the little master, do you not?"

"No sir."

"Didn't you have a message from him to convert all your property together and go to Montreal?"

"No sir."

"Didn't you receive in 1905 a message advising you of great calamity, and didn't that message come from the little master?"

"No sir."

"Do you wear a Mazdaznan robe at any time?"

"Never heard of it called by that name. It is a robe that conforms to our own ideas."

Mr. Wilson was on hand with objections, but they were not entertained.

"Describe the robe."

"It is made of white silk or any other white fabric. We wear it at meetings."

"Mazdaznans do not believe in wearing much clothes?"

"Indeed they do, as much clothes as other people."

"Do you ever take dew baths in the early mornings?"

"Never."

"What do the Mazdaznans eat? Do they eat meat?"

"No they are vegetarians, they do not eat meat or fish."

"Did you ever consult a fortune teller?"

"I did, in Boston."

"What did she tell you?"

"She said that Mr. Shaw wanted me to sell my home."

"Was that after your husband's death?"

"It was."

"Who went with you to the fortune teller?"

"Dr. Drew."

"Did she hear all that was said?"

"Yes."

"Ever have any messages from Mrs. Hilton, advising you to double your contributions to the Mazdaznans?"

"No sir."

"Did you take Mrs. Hilton's daughter to California?"

"Yes sir."

"Did your husband ever make a will?"

"He did and destroyed it."

"Have you ever seen any will of his except the one he destroyed about 20 years ago?"

"No sir."

"Are you the administratrix of the estate of your husband?"

"I am."

"Have you ever had an inventory made?"

"No, I thought I was capable of attending to my own affairs."

"You knew that appraisers had been appointed?"

"I did not."

"Didn't your counsel advise you to make an inventory?"

"I believe in it."

"Will you produce your copy of 'Inner Studies'?"

"I will not."

"Why?"

"Because I have not got it."

"Where is it?"

"I sent it to Montreal."

"You are going to Montreal, are you not?"

"I am in a few weeks."

Mr. Kittredge at this time presented a book purporting to be a copy of "Inner Studies," and the same was recognized as a copy of "Inner Studies," by Mrs. Shaw.

The book was then submitted as evidence by Mr. Kittredge, and was objected to by Mr. Wilson.

The book was allowed for the time being.

"This Mrs. Hilton is a leader, is she not, in this Mazdaznan belief?"

"She's a teacher," replied Mrs. Shaw.

Sheriff Spills Beer and Whiskey Into the Gutter

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Get this:

County Judge Platt of Westchester county, without so much as even going to the trouble of consulting with Deputy Sheriff Richard Harding Davis of the same county, caused to be destroyed in the streets of White Plains yesterday afternoon 1200 bottles of beer, seventy-five quarts of whiskey in alleged teapots, five cases of gin, rum, brandy and seven cases of champagne. It was a clear day in early October, bracing, breezy and exhilarating. In the basement of the Westchester county court house, which abuts on the Westchester county jail in Railroad avenue (a very busy street, by the way), were most of the bottled goods of the Westchester county fair and horse show, which was held in the outskirts, the suburbs, of White Plains last night. Said bottled goods are said to have belonged to one George Fisher, a Tanners saloon keeper who was running a very quiet refreshment parlor at the fair and horse show. The only drawback to Fisher's "privilege" at the fair was his thoughtlessness about getting a license to sell hard stuff. The day before yesterday Sheriff Lane of Westchester went back out to the fair and asked for a drink. Right off the bat the bartender, humped the sheriff one. And Sheriff Lane saw that it was good, so he ordered wagers and drays. Case after case of bottled freewater was loaded into the wagons and drays and carried into the midst of White Plains' busy mart of commerce on Railroad avenue and stored in the court house (which now contains an autograph photo of Deputy Sheriff Dick Davis wearing khaki) cellar. And there they were left until yesterday forenoon to ferment even further.

All the White Plains prisoners with the exception of Harry Thaw, were starting out to break up Westchester county granite when Deputy Sheriff Bill Doyle (who ranks next to Dick Davis) called for volunteers to destroy all the bottles and cases of liquor stored in the adjoining court house cellar.

The entire corps responded. Deputy Bill Doyle looked them over and picked his men—four of them all told, led by a prisoner whose only known name is Harry. Bill Doyle led his rum destroyers first to the cellar and then loaded them with loads. One in Grand street, on the west side of the court house, Sheriff Lane had built a wooden trough into which the liquid destroyer was to be emptied. Harry took the initiative, and amid howling screams of cruelty the prisoners were compelled to dump the good grog into the gutter trough. They could imbibe the vile stuff as it trickled from their hands, but Deputy Sheriff Bill Doyle permitted them to go no further. It is doubtful that even Deputy Sheriff Dick Davis, had he been on the job, would have been permitted to say one word to stay the wanted waste.

Times across. Across the street in a little frame building painted white and decorated with flags till it looks like a barber shop is the headquarters of the republican county committee of Westchester. The statesman piled out into the atmosphere and cried as they saw the lost campaign material ever collected absolutely going to waste. All White Plains took a good sniff and beat it to the scene. And as hour after hour passed away and the beer and whiskey and cocktails and champagne flowed on to wasteful oblivion, strong men went. From the court house all the way down to Charley Davis' social drawing room in Railroad avenue near Lexington, business was practically suspended. As the fumes grew stronger many men closed their windows.

The Rev. Howard H. Russell, head of the Anti-Saloon league of the state was on the scene early. He looked on with scrupulous smiles and marked statistics in his note book as quar after quart mingled with the busy withers. And all this time Chief of Police Harmon was trying to keep back the crowds, and the busy prisoners, led by Harry, were staying back their tears. Folks who wanted to get down next to the soil with straw in their mouths were persuaded to do so. George Fisher never once came on the scene to call a halt. George, as a matter of fact, has been remaining consistently out of jurisdiction for fear that Sheriff Lane would speak harshly to him about his part in the incident.

The empty bottles fortunately were preserved. All day yesterday they decorated the curb in Grand street as a mute protest against that which steals away the brains. Something in the law says that bottles are not to be destroyed. The brewing companies and the cocktail bottlers in consequence may call today and get their empty glassware. But the fact remains that many commuters and natives of Westchester may now thank the law for stopping in to save them from imbibing that which makes man like unto the savage beast.

F. FANNING AYER

Denounces War as a Relic of Barbarism

The following appeared in a recent issue of the N. Y. Tribune as a communication from F. F. Ayer that will be read with interest by residents of Lowell:

War: A Legacy from Barbarism. Sir: Having been urged to hand the following letter to the press for publication, being my reply to the appeal of a clergyman for contribution to the equipment of a company of cadets, I send it to The Tribune.

Stockbridge, Mass., Sept. 22, 1908. Dear Sir: I have your letter of the 14th inst. asking if I will contribute to put a corps of cadets in arms. My answer is: Not if! You have come to the wrong quarter. I am exaltedly opposed to war, with no compromise—a legacy handed down to us from barbarism, which we have swallowed by thick of habit without a squirm. Our country has the lead in civilization, and should take the lead in the attempt to unhorse the demon of destruction. Seventy per cent. of the entire income of our country is put up to buckle the harnesses of war. Quite enough, I should say, without an appeal to private contribution. Five hundred millions a year for war, and that in a time of peace. The cost of the entire public school system of the country is only two hundred millions a year. The loudest reports against war come from its great guns. Grant could not have been avoided. Sherman said, "War is hell." Kuroki recently spoke in public of the profession to which he had "the misfortune to belong." I am well aware your profession pushes you to the front in such enterprise. The Christian nations have been carved out by war, their religion having brought "not peace into the world, but a sword." Neighbor against neighbor has been the spirit of the world which has haunted us ever since the jubilee of glad tidings began to be merry. "Thou shalt not kill" still holds communion, in spite of the Christian injunction that "thou shalt." Let us have a moon's rising out of the darkness, that we may see something as it is, not as the primeval bull-beggers saw it, who still poke the skeleton up to us from the grave. The Gospel of War is upon us. The Gospel of Peace has not yet arrived. Nor will it arrive so long as we continue to cultivate in the young the hunger for blood. The nations will not be brought to unmount the guns until they are brought to unmount their barbaric preconceptions. Let us bring money to teach the young not to fight, to fill them with the horror of slaughter. Not the young of our country alone, but of all the world. Let us appropriate national revenues to that end. Countless treasure, countless lives, will be saved by such investment. Let us promote mission and missionaries to go to a world that the sword is not turning four, but butchers are not gods; that murder stains nothing; that war is a crime against conscience; that brotherhood is the only manhood; that only kindness is king.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Captain J. Clayton Erb, of the Third regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, and formerly actuary for Israel W. Durham, when he was state insurance commissioner, was shot and killed at his home, Red Gables, in Village Green, Delaware county, during a family quarrel last night. The shooting came as the climax to a series of domestic troubles which Mr. Erb has recently experienced with his wife.

Erb's sister-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Belsel, is under arrest in the Meigs jail, charged with the murder. The woman admits that she did the shooting during a family quarrel.

TO REACH GOAL

Peary to Make Determined Effort

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Oct. 7.—Confident of success and starting under the most favorable conditions, in his dash for the pole, Commander Peary will make a determined effort to reach the northern goal, says Henry Johnson, of New York, one of the crew of the steamer Roosevelt, who was injured on the ship and who passed through here yesterday on his way home.

The Roosevelt left Etah on August 11th to push north towards the pole. The Roosevelt started north under favorable conditions. The ice in Kane Bay is not heavy, so the Eskimos report, and it is expected that she will make an uninterrupted run through Kennedy and Robinson channels before winter sets in. The Erik left Etah to return south on August 21st. Heavy southwest gales were met coming to Whale Sound.

When the Erik struck the iceberg everything forward was carried away and a cleaving made down the bow within two feet of the water line. The bowsprit and jibboom were thrown in and the foremast deck, the butter roll of the latter going through the deck. The shock was terrible.

PRES. ROOSEVELT

Will Not Go on the Stump

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 7.—President Roosevelt will not take the stump in the campaign this fall, Bishop Earl Cranston, D. D., of Washington, presiding bishop of the Genesee Methodist conference, said to a number of clergymen at the close of the conference here last night. "If anyone tells you that he will, say to him that he is mistaken," said the bishop. When asked how he was able to speak positively, Bishop Cranston took out a letter and said that in it President Roosevelt had assured him that he would not go on the stump. Bishop Cranston is a personal friend of the president.

MACK COLLAPSED

Head of Dem. National Committee

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Norman E. Mack, chairman of the democratic national committee, collapsed last night as a result of fatigue and a severe cold. He is under the care of a physician and a trained nurse. The illness of Mr. Mack came suddenly and alarmed fellow members of the democratic committee. Dr. Hammond of the Auditorium hotel was summoned and he said that Mr. Mack was suffering from overwork and nervous exhaustion. He did not believe the illness serious, and intimated that the patient would be able to resume his duties in a few days. Chairman Mack arrived in Chicago from New York yesterday afternoon.

HISTORIC SWORD

IT AS A GIFT

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A sword that John D. Rockefeller refused to accept as a gift from Miss Annie Barry of London was sold at auction at the customs appraisers' warehouse yesterday for $550. It was purchased by a laborer in the warehouse. Miss Barry sent a letter with the sword saying that it was lost during Oliver Cromwell's bombardment of the Leigh parish church in London and had been underground for 150 years. When Mr. Rockefeller declined to accept it Miss Barry was notified and she requested that the sword be returned to her, but neglected to forward payment of expenses. There was no one else to pay them and customs officials under the law had to sell the article.

DETROIT'S GAME

Chicago White Sox Went Down Before the Tigers

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Chicago's roseate dream of two pennants and a world's championship series all her own was given a horrible awakening yesterday. The American league flag was snatched away from the White Sox in the final game of the schedule, the Tigers putting the Sox to utter rout, and winning 7 to 0. And by a decision rendered by the board of directors of the National league the championship of that organization rests upon the outcome of a game to be played between the Cubs and Giants in New York, Oct. 8. The tie game between the Cubs and Giants of Sept. 23 was ordered played off.

Monday Chicago was giving its order for two new pennant poles. Yesterday it mourned the loss of one title, and hoping that all may be well with the Cubs in their all-important struggle in New York.

Such a day for Chicago fans and such a state of affairs in the baseball world. The baseball fever had to break one way or the other, and it can't be said that the results had a Chicago flavor. With one pennant gone beyond possible redemption the outcome of the National league directors' meeting reduces the chances of the Cubs in a great measure.

In fact, things are in such a tangle that it is even possible that the Pittsburghs, who are supposed to have been put down and out by the Cubs in their concluding game of the schedule here last Sunday, may yet win the pennant.

Maddening Tangle
That is one of the phases of the maddening tangle which is befuddling the minds of the baseball-insane public.

Although the Pittsburgh team has disbanded and scattered to all parts of the country, it will be tied for the National league championship in case the New York Giants lose the last scheduled game to Boston and then win from the Cubs.

In such an event the Pirates would be brought together from the ends of the nation and placed into a three-cornered series with the Cubs and Giants for the possession of the National league flag, which little piece of bunting has caused the greatest strife ever known to the fans.

That the Giants will lose to the Bostonians is not at all likely. Neither did 25,000 people, who filled the South Side ball park yesterday, consider it likely that the Tigers could stop the savage Sox and pennant madly for the American league race as straight as a desperate assault could carry them.

Few in that tremendous throng expected to see the brilliant "Doc" White knocked out of the box in less than one round by the team he had hypnotized only two days before; few thought it possible for the Tigers to continue their slugging at the expense of the mighty Ed. Walsh, and later to give the redoubtable Frank Smith a taste of the same medicine.

To add to the crushing blow, the White Sox fielders waved and failed in the crucial situations at the start of the game. It was typical of the element of chance in baseball that the Tigers should score twice as many runs in the first inning yesterday as they had scored in the two previous games of the series.

The unexpected happened in all these cases, and what if such luck attend the Bostonians in their final game with New York? The Boston team is made up of disgruntled ex-New Yorkers, and it would be the joy of a lifetime if they succeeded in putting the Giants out of the running.

Whole Issue on One Game

The Cubs expected the board of directors of their league would go on further to uphold the decision of Pres. Fullam calling the now celebrated game of Sept. 23 a tie. But in providing for the playoff of the tie, which the executive did not do, the directors have put the whole issue on one game, whereas the Cubs thought they would have a series of three games to play, which undoubtedly would have been to the advantage of the Cubs on account of their superior pitching staff.

As things stand now the National league title will depend on the battle between Mordecai Brown and Christy Mathewson. The Cubs feel that in a series of some length they could better show their superiority over the Giants, but if the great Mathewson happens to have luck with him the flag might be lost to Chicago on this single game.

When Manager Chance of the Cubs heard from Pres. Murphy, who attended the Cincinnati meeting, he immediately sent out orders for his players to be ready to take the limited express train at noon. In case the Cubs win at New York they may be ordered by the national baseball commission to play the White Sox for the city championship.

DIAMOND NOTES

Pittsburgh fans were reported as going dippy Sunday and later dying with their boots on. A number of Boston followers of the National league race were in nearly the same condition.

Covaleski, the Eastern league recruit with Philadelphia, proved the undoing of the Giants and a find for the Phillies as he beat New York three times in the week.

The Boston National league team figures in the pennant race for the first time in the season. The playing of the Boston team will decide the winner of the pennant, although the team has no chance itself.

Marty O'Toole the former Brooklyn pitcher, who was put in for Cincinnati after Saturday's game was lost made a fine showing and held Chicago to two runs.

Manager Jesse Burkett is trying to land Pitcher Fullerton for the Worcester team next season as it is thought probable that Barberis will be drafted by some Eastern league club.

Catcher Oedick of the Boston Americans, will be one of the referees in the New England Roller Polo league this winter. He had some experience in the west last winter.

DETROIT TIGERS, WINNERS OF AMERICAN LEAGUE

The players in this group are as follows: 1, Mullin; 2, Donovan; 3, Willetts; 4, Summers; 5, Thomas; 6, Rossman; 7, Coughlin; 8, McIntyre; 9, Kilmer; 10, Crawford; 11, Schmidt; 12, D. Jones; 13, Killain; 14, Cobb; 15, O'Leary; 16, Schaeffer; 17, Jennings; 18, Downs.

Buffalo fans sit up and declare that the Herd will have a sure pennant winner next season.

The Elisons won the 1904 and 1905 pennants under the management of George Stallings, who piloted the New York Tigers so successfully this year.

The New York critics are a unit on the proposition that "whatever else may be said about Cubs they are about the gamest proposition that ever came down the pike."

"Aggressiveness is a great thing in baseball," says Frank Selee, "and McGraw is the personification of aggressiveness." Still Christy Mathewson is a wonderful help.

Neither Chance or Steinfield have hit up to form this season and this has hurt the Cubs badly. To make matters worse, Steinfield's fielding has not been up to the mark, either.

Pitcher Pfeister, of the Chicagoans, during the Boston series developed a sort of Charley-horse in his pitching arm, the muscles knotting curiously and making the arm at times powerless.

Arthur Raymond, the cardinal pitcher, who has made a thorough study of the prohibition movement, has discovered a remedy for the side-door evil. "Keep the front doors open," says Arthur.

Cincinnati's southern recruit, Pitcher Ralph Savidge, is the son of a Berwick, Pa., minister; nevertheless he has no scruples about playing on Sunday. That's not surprising—from a minister's son.

Ralph Glaze has left for Rochester, N. Y., where he is to coach the Rochester university football team. Glaze said he was delighted with his treatment as Providence and hoped to be back with Hugh Duffy next season.

The New York "Press" is of the opinion that "it is a cinch there will be two managerial changes in the National league next season. The Cardinals and the Red Sox will have new commanders. John McGraw probably quitting the big leagues for good and John Gabel being retained in the capacity of private by Harry Hermann."

The New Yorks have picked up several likely youngsters for next season in McInnes, Cree, Gardner and O'Rourke. No wonder Griffith was figuring for 1909 for he had these men in mind all the time.

Famous Manager in Town Today

George Bothner, the lightweight champion wrestler, with his manager, Johnny Dunn, called at this office today en route to Lawrence, where he is billed to meet Eugene Trentham, of Montreal, before the Unity Cycle and Social club.

Bothner has never appeared in this vicinity, but as he is conceded to be the cleverest mat artist before the public, an exciting struggle for supremacy is likely to result. Dunn is willing to match Bothner against Jim Prokos, the local middleweight, provided the latter will agree to defeat him decisively within an hour, as he will agree to wrestle at catchweights. The New York manager was very anxious to meet George Gardner.

RACE IS CLOSER

Pittsburg Now Has a

"Look In"

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Although the last regularly scheduled games of the National league season are to be played today the day will end with the race for the pennant still undecided. Post season games will be necessary in any event and there is even a possibility that Pittsburgh may yet win the year's baseball honors. Only one national game remained to be played today, that between New York and Boston on the National league grounds in this city. Pittsburgh's renewed hope lay in victory for the Bostonians today and a subsequent victory by New York over Chicago in the tie game play-off ordered by the board of directors of the league yesterday. That would leave New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh tied for first place. Should New York win today's game, making it three straight from Boston, Pittsburgh's hopes would be finally blasted. New York and Chicago would be tied for first and the ownership of the pennant would be decided by the playoff of the tie game.

Today the interest is keener than ever and with fine weather promised for this afternoon a big crowd was looked for at the polo grounds.

BOXING GOSSIP

What appears to be about the best bout of the week are those Jimmy Walsh and Johnny Coulton are to figure in and scheduled for next Friday. Walsh meets Young Britt, a Baltimore bantamweight, who is regarded as the best little man ever developed in the Maryland city. The bout is one of 15 rounds, and if the Baltimore man lives up to the reputation he already enjoys Walsh will have no easy time of it.

Friday night, at Lexington, Ky., Marvin Hart, who is to meet Jack (Twin) Sullivan at the Armory A. A. the 20th of this month, meets Hubert McGinnis, another Kentuckian, in a 10-round bout. The outcome will be awaited with interest in Boston and will settle whether Hart is as good as he was when he showed here against Kid Carter some years ago in one of the fastest battles ever witnessed in New England between heavyweights.

Kid Goodwin, who appears to have gained his former fast gait, meets Bert Keyes at New York in a six-round contest. Judging from Keyes' performance here when he met Packy McFarland and the form that Goodwin showed in his contest against Hyland, the West End boxer looks good to be returned a winner.

Al Kaufman will meet Fred Bradley at New York Friday night in a six-round bout. This will make the second meeting between these heavyweights. Their contest at Chelsea is one that will never be forgotten. Bradley has improved and in his last bout against Jim Barry was given credit for having the better of the contest.

LOCAL FOOTBALL

The Y. M. C. I. football team will meet the Chelsea A. A. team at Spalding park Saturday afternoon in conjunction with the Lowell high school game. Manager King has released

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Frank Eveland, president of the New York Automobile Trade Association, announced yesterday that the trade association would hold its first annual international hill climb up the First George hill on Saturday afternoon, October 17. President Eveland has appointed Richard Newton, Charles P. Skinner, C. E. Larson and Walter E. Lee, a contest committee to formulate the rules and conditions to govern the competition. A deposit from the usual method of classification will be made by the association and there will be competition under horse power rating, together with the usual price classification.

At the meeting of the racing board of the American Automobile Association held in New York on Saturday, October 3, 1908, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Whereas various persons have participated in races coming within the jurisdiction of the American Automobile Association but for which no sanction had been granted by that association and whereas it appears from the statement of some of such persons that they participated in the said races under a misapprehension, be it

"Resolved, That in the cases of such participants as were under the misapprehension referred to, their disqualification, pursuant to the rules of the racing board of the American Automobile Association, be suspended to the extent of enabling them to participate in any race already sanctioned by the racing board, upon such persons filing a statement to the effect that they shall not hereafter participate in any manner or form in any race claimed by the association to be within its sole jurisdiction and for which no sanction has been granted by the racing board of the American Automobile Association."

This resolution was undoubtedly adopted in order that there might be no misunderstanding regarding the status of a number of drivers that competed in the Brighton Beach meets and who wish to compete in the Motor Parkway Sweepstakes next Saturday. It had been the general impression that drivers who competed in the first twenty-four hour race of the Motor Racing Association had disqualified themselves without further notice.

EUGENE V. DEBS HELPING MR. TAFT.

The address of Eugene V. Debs, the socialist candidate for the presidency, delivered on the common Monday, was not quite so inflammatory as was anticipated. True, Mr. Debs labored to impress upon the workingmen that they are in a state of serfdom; that the other two great political parties exist only to aid the capitalists, and the monopolists who rob the workingmen, and that neither party has ever done a single thing for the working class. Furthermore, he asserted that they never would do anything for the working class and that the latter would have to emancipate themselves by voting for the socialist party.

After telling them that they were slaves, he told his hearers that they have the power in their own hands if they only use it, and so they have. That being so, they are in every sense free men and not slaves. Every man vested with the right of citizenship in this republic has equal rights before the law with every other. The man whom Mr. Debs asserts is a slave because he has to work for somebody else has a vote for the rulers of the state and nation, and the president of the United States has no more.

The laboring man, therefore, call him slave or what you will, exercises an equal share of the sovereignty of the people with the highest dignitary in the land. Where then is the slavery? It all consists in working for another rather than yourself, according to the socialist theory.

What is the socialist remedy for this state of affairs?

As Mr. Debs laid it down it was as follows:—

"If this platform offered by the socialists gets into power the mills you work in and the different sources of wealth will be transferred to you. Instead of being a slave you will rise to the plane of masters. You will not only be the ruling class, but you will be the only class."

That is certainly a very catchy platform; for every man who believes it to be practicable or even possible will be prompted from selfish motives to favor this idea of holding property in common. It is particularly attractive to those who never had any property of their own and who if given their quota of the national wealth tomorrow would soon gravitate back to their old station in which they had nothing and could keep nothing.

In times of panic it is easy to inflame the minds of ignorant people by telling them they are slaves, "worse than the slaves of the south before the civil war," as a speaker who followed Mr. Debs argued at considerable length.

Mr. Debs himself told his hearers that the working class is but as merchandise in the hands of the capitalists, and the sentiment was received with expressions of approval.

It is a common practice of socialist orators to tell the toilers that they are treated like so many cattle by the capitalists, all of which is erroneous, and is dangerous doctrine to spread broadcast throughout this country.

No wonder that a member of the party was heard to say, "we are like the horses crowded out by automobiles. They are making new machines to do our work."

It is a deplorable thing to have men believe that because they have to work they are enslaved, and that their employers rob them of the fruits of their industry which socialism would have held in common.

The socialists are wrong in saying that the democratic party is as bad as the republican, and that neither has ever done anything for the working class. The democratic party has always favored every labor reform advocated by the leading labor organizations of the country.

Were it otherwise, would President Gompers and John Mitchell be out advocating the election of William Jennings Bryan, the democratic candidate?

Gompers, Mitchell and other astute leaders who have gone below the gaudy surface of socialism, see its dangers and its impracticable delusions, and consequently oppose the system root and branch.

But how does Mr. Debs meet the necessarily large expense of traveling around the country in a special train? Who pays for his princely tour? Is it the socialists or the leaders of the republican party? There are people in this city who believe that it is a republican scheme, and a desperate one, if so, to have Mr. Debs go through the country to offset the influence of Gompers and other labor leaders in favor of the democratic ticket. It is well known that most of those who will vote the socialist ticket have been voting the democratic ticket for years. Debs' campaign is to draw men from the democratic party, so as to defeat Bryan and ensure the election of Taft. Would that emancipate the laboring people? Certainly not, and yet that is the only result that can follow a stampede from the democratic to the socialist party.

THE MISSION OF THE W. C. T. U.

The people of Lowell are in sympathy with the work of the Women's Christian Temperance Union now in convention in this city. All the aims of that organization tend to the uplifting of humanity; and the effort of a society 500,000 strong along humane and christian lines must accomplish a vast amount of good.

The address of the state president, Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson, was a splendid exposition of the work and a clarion call to the women of the world to unite their efforts in the cause of temperance, for social purity, for abolishing the suggestive medical advertisements and offensive billboards.

The Sun for many years has eliminated the objectionable medical "ads" and it has also denounced the offensive billboards, while at the same time absolutely refusing all advertisements of liquor saloons and the liquor business. We are, therefore, in a position to wish the W. C. T. U. God-speed in its good work.

SEEN AND HEARD

The following is from the church notices of last week; paragraph pulpit, staid Unitarian church:
It is a fine thing to be loyal to one's city. For that loyalty renders it more beautiful, makes it a better place to live in, and produces men and women that widen its influence beyond its natural boundaries. But the tendency of modern days is to deny it. And if men think meanly of their city, they will not be inspired to do or sacrifice anything for it. Only a deeper realization of the best spirit of its past will help form the nobler civic pride so essential to make any city what it can and should be. If Athens needed Pericles, she needed no less the love of all her citizens in attaining her full development. In every city not merely the board of government but the people as well need this civic pride. Our city needs it, and it should inspire us all to make Lowell a better place to live in and more worthy of its best traditions.

How distinctly opposite these words are to the words of the other local preacher who said that he had seen more drunkenness in Lowell than in any of the cities visited by him in Europe, Asia or America.

Honesty and simplicity are beautiful if not overdrawn but, sometimes, like the rubber band they are badly stretched. The little story that we are about to tell has to do with a poor woman who overheard a few words that passed between her husband and a woman who had been called in to do the washing. "I was never a buttnsky," she said, "but I couldn't help hearing a little of the conversation that passed between the man and woman of the house where I washed a few days ago. If there was ever a villain horn into this world that man is one and the poor dear little woman is one of the sweetest tempered creatures that ever drew the breath of life. They had been talking and try as I would I couldn't but hear a little that was being said and when that villain got ready to go and just as he was leaving the house he says to her, 'I'm going to the Lion and the Mouse' and you can go to the 'Devil.' I don't know what kept me from plastering his face with soap suds that dirty coward. And she, poor sweet little thing, never said a word in return, in fact, she was smiling all the time. I wouldn't have another washing for that fellow if he gave me his house."

dical actor in the tale, he unwound the following yarn:
"Some years ago," said Mr. Shannon, "I was with show that was traveling through Canada. In Montreal I fell in with several other stage folk, including a well-known comedian now dead. He had been inebriated rather freely for several days, and one afternoon his condition was such that we realized that he would be unable to take part in the evening performance. Some one suggested a Turkish bath as a cure. To the Turkish bath we took him, and left him in the care of the attendants. After putting him through the usual course of treatment he was placed on a cot to be awakened about 7 o'clock, an hour before the performance. But he remained in the arms of Morpheus only about an hour. When he awakened all he saw about him was black hard walls, the usual decorations of a Turkish bath. He could not imagine where he was. Then he remembered that he had been on a spree and had perhaps been picked up, taken for dead and removed to a morgue. Quickly jumping from the cot on which he had been slumbering he ran about the room shouting at the top of his voice. Receiving no reply he went to a corner of the room and shouted 'fire' at the top of his voice. His cry was heard and some one turned in the night. After he had been 'rescued' by the firemen he was placed under arrest, and only the strongest kind of influence secured his release."

Sheriff Fairburn of Cambridge is a well liked man. He is well liked because he is courteous in his relations with men. I approached him, an entire stranger, a few mornings ago and I wondered at the attention he showed me. His courtesy saved me at least three hours' time and he didn't know that I was connected with a newspaper either. If his assistants would emulate his example, more consideration would be shown the public in the court house at Cambridge. A man with less than one-quarter the average supply of brains would be well equipped for the position of court officer, but the average court officer is a very important person. Another case of being unable to see one's self as others see one.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Collier's Weekly (Republican): "The election and subsequent death of Mr. Taft would mean the occupancy of the White House by an official fat-fryer who has during several years past approached, with deferential hat in hand, the president or treasurer of most of the large corporations in the country. It was in the course of this official function that Sherman was profanely turned down by Mr. Harriman with bitter denunciation of the republican party and reeking messages for the head of it had not been grateful for the $250,000 which Mr. Harriman collected and gave in 1904. To renege, as one of the executive committees of nine which is to do the actual work of the republican campaign, is an error of taste and judgment, but not a great deal worse. With T. Coleman Dupont, of Delaware, however, the case differs. Among the combinations now being prosecuted by the federal government is that aggregation of companies known as the powder trust. Mr. Dupont is president of the $50,000,000 Dupont powder company, president of the $10,000,000 International Powder company, director of the International Smokeless Powder company, and vice president of the holding company, the Delaware Securities company, which owns a majority of the stock of the Latin and Hard Powder company."

"Suppose that Mr. Taft, being successful, should be approached by Mr. Dupont thus: 'I am one of the ten men, including Chairman Hitchcock, who have put you over the plate. I don't want to be reminding you continually of the obligation; there is one small piece of patronage I should like, and I don't speak to you about patronage again during your administration. There is a deserving young friend of mine whom I should like to have appointed to the position lately held by'

A SIMPLE BUT SURE METHOD OF DEVELOPING A WELL-ROUNDED BUST AND FIGURE.

A Rare Prescription

Which Transforms Plainness Into Rarest Beauty.

It is a simple but sure method of developing the bust, arms, neck, hips and shoulders of women, who through some defect of nutrition and circulation are forever being humiliated by their more fortunate sisters. First, it must be understood that the human skin is an enormous gland, richly endowed with nerves, secreting and excreting organs, and a network of minute blood vessels which contain at one time over one-third of all the blood in the body—that is, it nature is perfect.

The relation of the skin to the vital organs through the nervous system, in controlling the blood supply, is such as to put them as a team working together. Being in such close relation to the nervous system, it follows that a powerful, rich, nutritive stimulant applied to the skin to improve its nourishment, will result in immediate blood supply and flesh growth at the parts treated, thus bringing about the most beautiful changes and development.

Get separately two ounces glycerine, three ounces of rosewater, one ounce tincture cadomene compound and five cents worth of borax. Mix the glycerine with tincture cadomene, shake and let stand two hours; then add a teaspoonful of borax and the rosewater. Apply to the parts needing development morning and night, rubbing until thoroughly absorbed; then wash off with hot water and soap and dry.

It is believed by expert dermatologists to be the most effective prescription ever conceived for the purpose.

WHISTLER HOUSE

Subscription for Refitting the Place

The project for refitting the Whistler house in Worthing street as a memorial has attracted world wide attention and yesterday the Lowell Art Association received subscriptions from Paris and New York.

One of the subscriptions came from three ladies living in Paris at the present time, the Misses Frances, Ellen and S. H. Dabney. "The other was a gift of $50 from Samuel Untermyer of New York."

Work on the Whistler house has now reached the painting and papering stage. W. H. Brierly having charge of the work. It is hoped that the rooms intended to be rented to clubs and art-workers may be ready within a few weeks, and that the whole house may be thrown open for dedication by the holidays.

M. Poprikoff, the Bulgarian minister of foreign affairs, has sent a cable despatch to the Associated Press, giving an authoritative explanation of the Bulgarian situation which is now absorbing the attention of Europe and the world at large. The despatch to the Associated Press, giving an authoritative explanation of the Bulgarian situation which is now absorbing the attention of Europe and the world at large. The despatch to the Associated Press, giving an authoritative explanation of the Bulgarian situation which is now absorbing the attention of Europe and the world at large.

Pursuant to the treaty of Berlin, Bulgaria has been a principality, tributary to Turkey. Many years ago Bulgaria acquired the right to have diplomatic representatives accredited to all the great powers. She maintained such a representative at Constantinople. Until recently the diplomatic representatives of Bulgaria to Turkey were invited, with other members of the diplomatic corps in Constantinople, to all official ceremonies, receptions and dinners. On the 12th of last September, the occasion being the anniversary of the sultan's birthday, the Turkish minister of foreign affairs gave a dinner to the diplomatic corps, to which the diplomatic representative of Bulgaria was not invited. Steps were at once taken to secure an explanation of this neglect. The Ottoman government replied that the Bulgarian representative had no right to expect an invitation to this diplomatic dinner, as Bulgaria was a vassal state of Turkey.

"There then followed a diplomatic conflict between Bulgaria and Turkey. Bulgaria considered that Turkey was not respecting the rights acquired by her, and she desired to defend these rights. This was the first incident. The Oriental Railroad company operates 300 kilometers (188 miles) of line in Bulgarian territory. The same company operates also about 1000 (621 miles) of line in Turkish territory. A recent strike on the property of the Oriental railroad company in Turkey spread at the same time to Bulgarian territory. The strike was decided upon and directed from outside of Bulgaria. Following an understanding with the representative of the Oriental railroad company, the Bulgarian government took over temporarily the running of the road. The strike, however, spread to the property of the Bulgarian government, and the people became discontented with the state of affairs.

"It then became the duty of the Bulgarian government to continue running the road and we asked the company to sell us its rights in Bulgaria in accordance with an understanding reached between the government and the company ten years ago. Turkey then pretended that the line was her property and in a note the Turkish government demanded that the line be returned to the company. The Bulgarian government replied that it would treat only with the company. This was the second conflict.

"This situation imposed upon the Bulgarian government the necessity of fixing definitely the relations between the principality and Turkey. The new regime in Turkey made it imperative for Bulgaria to maintain the best of relations with her neighbors, especially as this fictitious condition of vassalage created for her a suspicion and distrust which might at any moment result in disturbing the peace of the Balkans.

"Bulgaria understood clearly that Austria-Hungary soon would annex the occupied provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and the general situation in the Balkans was such that Bulgaria was obliged, without delay, to declare her complete independence. "Consequently yesterday, October 5, Bulgaria was proclaimed an independent kingdom, and Prince Ferdinand accepted the title of king of Bulgaria. This act was communicated to all the great powers by proclamations declaring that Bulgaria was independent. Bulgaria had been in a situation that already existed for some time. "We believe that the powers will approve the proclamation of Bulgaria to be an independent kingdom. This act need not in any way trouble the peace of Europe or the Balkans. The powers, particularly those who desire the maintenance of the new regime in Turkey, will be the more convinced of the truth of what I say as soon as they are satisfied that it is Bulgaria's hope by this act, to aid in the strengthening of this regime.

(Signed) "Poprikoff, "Minister of Foreign Affairs."

PROCLAMATION

TO BE ISSUED BY EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH

VIRNNA, Oct. 7.—The proclamation of Emperor Francis Joseph, will be issued today, declaring that the Austro-Hungarian rights of sovereignty and succession have been extended over Bosnia and Herzegovina. The new imperial provinces will be informed in the proclamation that they will be given a constitution and a special diet.

The proclamation says: "When a generation of our troops crossed the frontiers of your countries, you were assured that they came not as enemies but as friends, with a firm resolution to put a stop to the misdeeds which your fathers had so many years ago so severely suffered. This promise was given in a solemn moment and was faithfully kept. It was the steadfast endeavor of our government in peaceful observance of the law and by vigorous efforts to lead the land to a happier future.

"To our great pleasure we can say that the seed which was then scattered in the furrow of ploughed soil has come up richly. You yourselves must feel the benefits of a situation whereby order and security have taken the place of fear and oppression. Trade and communications are steadily increasing; the civilizing influence of a wider education has made itself felt, and every man may enjoy the fruits of his labor under the protection of a well-ordered government.

"We consider it our most solemn duty to move forward along the path, and with that goal before our eyes we are of the opinion that the time has come to give inhabitants of both countries fresh proof of our trust in their political maturity."

The emperor has also addressed a rescript to Baron von Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, in which he says:

"Being imbued with the unalterable conviction that the lofty, civilizing and political objects for which the Austro-Hungarian monarchy undertook the occupation and administration of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and, at the same time, which that administration has already obtained with costly sacrifices can be permanently secured only by granting to their needs—institutions for the setting up of which, the establishment of a clear and unequivocal legal position for the two provinces forms an indispensable condition.

"I extend my sovereignty over Bosnia and Herzegovina and, at the same time, bring into force in those provinces the rules of succession applying to my house. "As a demonstration of the peaceful purposes which have led me to this immutable decree, I at the same time order the evacuation of the Sanjak of Novi Pazar by the troops of my army stationed therein.

The rescript is signed by the emperor and dated at Budapest, October 3, 1908. A second rescript, addressed to the Austrian minister of finance, Baron Burian von Rajecz, by the emperor, says:

"I have decided to give practical effect to the rights of my sovereignty, as well as to the succession of my house in the case of Bosnia and Herzegovina."

The rescript directs the minister to issue a proclamation to the people of these provinces, assuring them the full measure of civil rights, liberty of person and conscience, security of property, respect for their customs, liberty of the press, the right of emigration, petition and association, the administration of the law by competent judges and the establishment of a representative assembly.

High officials state that annexation is irrevocable. Austria even is unwilling to participate in an international conference, unless assured that the matter will not be discussed at all. The provinces, they say, have been conquered by Austrian culture; the Austrian sword must remain with the dual monarchy.

The present situation is as follows: Turkey calls upon the powers to preserve to her what they guaranteed by that treaty. Austria and Bulgaria strongly declare their determination to keep what they have taken. Serbia is protesting belligerently against being hemmed in more strongly between two popular neighbors and against having the Servians in Bosnia absorbed into the Austro-Hungarian nationality.

"The other powers concerned in the Berlin treaty are discussing the holding of an international conference, a mere preliminary of which the present situation is one of the most delicate problems. Turkey's unexpectedly restrained policy minimizes the possibilities of war, which now is considered out of the question.

The English papers unite in praising Turkey's moderation and in denouncing Austria.

A conference of the powers is expected to be held within two or three months if it can be arranged, but no one imagines that it will undo this week's work. Austria declines even to discuss annexation and the most that is expected is some arrangement that be made to Turkey and that guarantees be given against further disturbance of the status quo.

HUMANE SOCIETY

AGENT RICHARDSON SUBMITTED REPORT TO MEMBERS

The regular monthly meeting of the Lowell Humane society was held yesterday afternoon at the office of the society, 71 Central street. This was the first meeting after the summer months and there was little business of importance transacted. Agent Charles F. Richardson read his report which included the work he performed in July, August and September.

Agent Richardson said that in his opinion, the conditions in the city were showing marked improvement and President F. E. Marble said that he noted an increased activity among the people in watching for cases of neglect in the care of animals. The directors informally discussed the plan for holding a horse show and a committee was appointed to investigate the feasibility of the plan and report at the next meeting.

Ending in a scene of confusion, the wrestling bout between Young Prokos and Charley Conkle of Hamilton, Ont., at Associate Hall last night, was declared a "no contest" by Referee Tuohy after one of the bitterest struggles ever seen in this city. The men wrestled for one hour and a half, neither securing any decided advantage with in that period. At the conclusion of that time the tactics employed were becoming so rough, working the crowd into a fever pitch, that the match was declared off amid the greatest excitement on the part of the spectators.

Very little wrestling developed at any stage of the affair. However, the Canadian proved beyond question that at least in point of skill he is Prokos' master. Time and again the local man secured the foothold but Conkle always managed to extricate himself before any injury could result. Conkle's best hold was a full Nelson which he secured on Prokos just as the latter was making a magnificent display of strength, withstood the tremendous pressure and finally broke away. At other times Conkle would secure a face hold and apply such force it would seem that a different style of beauty than it at present appears.

For the first half hour the Greek was the aggressor but never had a chance of securing a fall. Conkle taking things easy and letting his rival do the work. Then the positions were reversed and with the same result, Conkle on his part being unable to do anything with the local grappler. Later Prokos became the aggressor and tried again to place his opponent's shoulders to the mat via the foothold route. This not succeeding, and as over an hour had passed in this manner, the Greek gave up trying for practically any sort of a hold and being on top contented himself with maintaining his opponent's head and face on the mat until the latter's physiognomy was covered with blood. After re-acting to this treatment for a while the Hamilton man began to retaliate as vigorously as his cramped position would allow.

Meanwhile Prokos' fellow countrymen evidently were unprepared for the line showing Conkle was making and did not take kindly to it, for suddenly one of the crowd stepped into the ring and dealt the Hamiltonian a heavy blow on the back. This precipitated an uproar amongst the spectators and the bout was then stopped by the referee. So intense was the feeling displayed by the Greeks that it was necessary for the police to station the Canadian to his dressing room and guard the door. Afterward the crowd quietly dispersed and Conkle returned to his hotel unmolested.

THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S SUN OFFER SOME FINE BARGAINS FOR THURSDAY.

Professional football has small chance of being revived this year at Canton, O., or at Pittsburg and Homestead, Pa., which places were the professionals' stronghold.

"Bucky" Vail, with whom Harvard teams always experienced so much trouble when he used to officiate at East Point, is coaching the Hamilton, Ind. team and will referee few eastern college games this fall.

"Hurry Up" Yost of Michigan, who has had his 11 most promising players at an up-country lake, has just brought them back to college. He is somewhat as ever that his team will beat Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, Nov. 11.

Hamden is well represented by coaches on New England college football fields. John Glaze is at Eastern, M. W. Bullock at Massachusetts state college, G. N. Bankart at Colby and E. A. Kerr at University of Vermont.

Jack Minto, who will umpire the Yale-Princeton game, was one of the greatest halfbacks of P. E. ever had. Incidentally, the selection of Minto is an indication of better feeling between the three colleges, as Yale and Princeton heretofore never have had officials from Pennsylvania.

The Harvard coaches aren't finding it altogether an easy matter to make a good tackle of McKay, the former Ansonia and Harvard freshman player. With all his strength and physique McKay is slow to learn how to use them, and apparently is placing considerable importance on what he thinks he already knows.

LEGAL NOTICES

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Middlesex ss. Probate Court. To the heirs-at-law, and all other persons interested in the estate of George O. Perham, late of Tyngsborough, in said County, deceased.

Elizabeth L. Perham, administratrix of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court her petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the order named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, the whole of certain parcels of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts, and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County, on the fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1908, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested in the estate fourteen days, at least, before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McInnis, Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this twenty-first day of September, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eight.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

BUSINESS CHANCES

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES—Excellent opportunity—Reliable man with $300 can have outside position with good salary and half interest in growing cash business in Lowell. No canvassing, guaranteed against loss. White, Samuels, 621 Commerce st., Philadelphia.

MONEY LOANED—Salaried people, retailers, merchants, teamsters and others, without collateral, easy payments, collections in 60 leading cities. Teaman, room 45, Hildreth Building, 45 Merrimack st.

IN Bucknell—Bucknell vs. Galtysburg. In Lafayette—Purdue vs. Earlham. In Haverford—Haverford vs. Delaware. In Geneva—Hobart vs. Colgate. In Easton—Lehigh vs. Rutgers. In Emmetsburg—Mt. St. Mary vs. Rock Hill. In Chicago—Chicago vs. Indiana. In Lansing—Michigan vs. M. A. C.

Kilpatrick, captain of last year's Yale freshmen, is putting up a great game at end in the practice, and it looks as if this would be his position this season.

Capt. Douglas of the Navy met of last season will be assigned to special duty at the academy for a while this fall, and will help Bergen in coaching the Mittles.

Scarlett, the veteran Penn. end, and Keenath at quarterback, make a great combination for the forward pass. The former follows the ball very closely, and is also useful with outside kick plays.

Glen Warner says that Balenti, the regular quarterback of the Indians, is as good as Mt. Pleasant was in executing the forward pass. Mt. Pleasant's value, however, was not confined to that department of the game.

Mountford, the Army quarterback of last season, is likely to play halfback this year. The coaches were particularly pleased with his work against the Navy although his ability to play good football is indisputable.

One of the candidates at Georgetown is Leach, captain of the Notre Dame team, who has a mark of 22 in the 20-yard dash and 55 for the quarter mile. Price only $50.

Rev. C. G. Gill, who 20 years or more ago captained two Yale varsity teams, is coaching New Hampshire state college.

AMERICAN FLEET

The Itinerary From Manila to Hampton Roads Approved

MANILA, Oct. 7.—Rear-Admiral Sperry has received from the navy department its approval of the itinerary from Manila to Hampton Roads as submitted to the department by him. It follows:

Leave Manila Dec. 1, arrive Colombo Dec. 14, leave Colombo Dec. 20, arrive Suez Jan. 5.

In the Mediterranean the fleet will divide. The Connecticut and the Vermont will go to Villefranche, arriving there Jan. 14 and leaving Jan. 27. The Minnesota and Kansas will go to Marseilles, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.

The Georgia, Nebraska and Kentucky will go to Genoa, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.

The Rhode Island and New Jersey will go to Leghorn, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.

The Louisiana and Virginia will go to Malta, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 19, thence to Algiers, arriving Jan. 22 and leaving Jan. 30.

The Ohio and Missouri will go to Athens, arriving Jan. 13 and departing Jan. 25.

The Wisconsin, Illinois and Keary will go to Naples, leaving there Jan. 27.

The first division will arrive at Negro bay Jan. 31 and start for Gibraltar Feb. 3. It will leave Gibraltar February 6.

The second, third and fourth divisions will arrive at Negro bay Feb. 1 and leave Feb. 6 for Hampton Roads.

Strong objection is being made here to the departure of the fleet Dec. 1 without a proper opportunity to carry out the program of entertainment which has been prepared and which was postponed on account of the presence of cholera in this city.

It is expected that representations would be made to both Rear-Admiral Sperry and the navy department on the subject.

W. C. T. U.

Continued.

Miss Elizabeth P. Gordon told optimistic stories, illustrating the W. C. T. U. work, and the recent successes in the southern states.

The evening session closed about 9 o'clock with the reading of notices the doxology and the benediction.

The following important portion of Mrs. Stevenson's address was crowded out of yesterday's edition:

"If I were to have part in shaping the policy of Massachusetts for the coming year, I should advise a concentration of effort on work for prohibition, spelled with a capital P. I have become firmly convinced that we shall gain nothing by longer working with that thing of shreds and patches, our present high license law. The results of our last three legislative sessions have gone to show that we have nothing to hope for from men elected by a license constituency. And even if we had succeeded in passing the measures for which we have so valiantly worked, how much nearer would we be to the final solution of the great problem? District option, the lessening of licenses, better restrictions for the sale by druggists and grocers, these are all measures of palliation and partial prevention only. Nothing less than the total annihilation of the liquor traffic will meet the real needs of the state. Why should we not try our short cut to this supreme and thorough working for prohibition, pure and simple. I earnestly trust that this convention may lay down as its chief line of work for the coming year an effort to secure the submission of a prohibitory amendment to the state constitution in the voters of Massachusetts. Side by side with that let us work for women's suffrage and all needed things will be added to these two vital issues.

"The fearful statements made in the last issue of the Ladies' Home Journal may well cause us to pause and ask what more can the Women's Christian Temperance union do for the cause of purity? If even one half of the statistics are correct it is a matter which may well send us to our knees before God in an agony of prayer for the future of the American nation. What hope is there for a people, the very fountain head of whose life is thus corrupted? The unions have not been active in this department during the past two or three years and I earnestly hope there may be a revival of interest in this most important work.

Combined with the work commonly known as that of the Purity department, there should be carried on an aggressive propaganda throughout the state for the cleansing of our bill boards and our papers from objectionable advertisements. Too much cannot be said in praise of the papers which have already taken a stand in this respect. Let us show our appreciation in such practical form, by speaking words of commendation.

Forenoon Session

The session of this forenoon opened at 10 o'clock with a prayer meeting. Mrs. H. D. Walker being the leader. The convention was then called to order by the state president, Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson. This was followed by singing and prayer by Miss M. L. Nichols. There were then readings of the previous meetings and the preliminary report of the committee on credentials.

At 10:15 o'clock the superintendents of the several departments were given seven minutes each to answer questions as to the newest plans and latest advancement of their work, which included discussions on legislation, Mrs. Janette Hill Knox spoke of Christian citizenship, Mrs. E. L. Britten, franchise, peace and international arbitration; Mrs. A. J. Hawkins and Mrs. L. W. Morse then spoke on social meetings and red letter days and Mrs. S. W. Simpson on flower missions.

This was followed by singing and the reading of the report of the Frances E. Willard settlement, by Miss Caroline M. Caswell, Mrs. Augusta R. Brigham spoke on fairs and open air meetings and Miss Jennie F. Larnaby on "Mercy."

The state president, Mrs. Stevenson, spoke on the purity in literature and art and was followed by Mrs. Abby P. Rife on "Mothers' Involvement." There was a general discussion on the cooperation with missionary societies and state officers.

At 11:30 o'clock there were memorial services in which a prominent part was taken by Dr. Vesta D. Miller, Mrs. E. Frank Hill, Mrs. Jeanie F. Hatch, Mrs. Clarence D. Britten. After the monthly prayers there was a fourth day thank offering. The transaction of important business, announcements and adjournment for dinner.

At 2 p. m. the convention was again called to order by State President Mrs. Stevenson. After the rendition of a vocal selection prayer was offered by

In the annual report of State Corresponding Secretary Mrs. Janette Hill Knox it was shown among other things that there are now in Massachusetts 245 unions. Fourteen of these are "Y's." More than $10,000 has been used for the promotion of the work during the past year, for state, county, national and world work. There are over 600 honorary members, fathers, brothers and sons of members. ### CONVENTION NOTES

The "department quiz" scheduled for this morning was taken up yesterday afternoon out of order. On "Legislation" Mrs. Janette Hill Knox said that more success has been gained in petition, than in legislation, and you know the reason why," she asked. In answer to the question "What has the state done?" Mrs. Knox said, "It has done nothing." A national triumph has been the prohibition of the sale of intoxicants in the southern states.

The hostesses of the occasion are: Mrs. H. C. Rolfe, president of the Middlesex County W. C. T. U., and Mrs. E. W. Clark, president of the Lowell W. C. T. U. The chairman of the committee are: Mrs. E. W. Clark, general chairman; Mrs. Adelaide E. Noves, entertainment; Mr. J. S. Jacobs, entertainment; Miss Ella Penn, information bureau and postoffice; Mrs. C. T. Upton, demonstration; Miss Julia Williams, decoration; Mrs. W. H. Peppin, music.

member the constituency she represents and try to carry home all possible help to them. The Golden Rule constitutes the supreme law of this convention; subsidiary to that we are governed by "Roberts' Rules of Order."

Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, state president, sails on her foreign tour in four weeks. She was last night presented on the platform a small flag to carry with her.

It is estimated there are 500,000 members of the W. C. T. U. in the world and a little over 9,000 in Massachusetts.

Display cards were conspicuously arranged about the corridors of the church and one of them bore the following problem in arithmetic: "I am not much of a mathematician," said the cigar, "but I can add to a man's nervous troubles, I can subtract from his physical energy, I can multiply his aches and pains, I can divide his mental powers. I take interest from his work and discount his chances for success."

VERY QUIET DAY

There is Little Doing at City Hall

Today was a very quiet day in city hall circles. Mayor Farnham was taking matters easily when a representative of The Sun dropped in on him and the principal thing on his mind was what he was missing by not being at the Founders' Week celebration at Philadelphia.

"Mac" Dowling, clerk of committees, said that matters were so dull that his department was unable to pay expenses, but Treasurer Stiles were a broad smile and with the assistance of his clerks was raking in the "long green" due on tax bills which had been sent out.

Auditor Paige was full of business on his monthly accounts, but it was all routine business. Even City Clerk Badman said that business was bad and the matrimonial market is at a very low ebb.

Agent Bates of the board of health said that there were two new cases of typhoid fever, but that the number of cases is slowly dropping off and it looks as though the epidemic of typhoid is over.

The principal thing that is occupying City Messenger Pattee's mind is how long the superior civil session is going to sit for his first assistant is on the jury.

THE LYNN STRIKE

Is in a Fair Way of Being Settled Soon

LYNN, Oct. 7.—The apparent willingness of both the union officials and the members of the Joseph Caunt company, the contending sides to the original controversy which brought about the strike of 1500 lasters in most of the shoe shops in this city, to discuss the situation on even terms, was accepted in shoe circles in this city today as indicating an early settlement of the strike. This settlement, however, is expected to be only temporary and to be effective only until the drawing up of a new working agreement between the union and the manufacturers. However, it was almost certain before the calling of the conference which had been appointed for today between the Caunt firm and union officials that most of the striking lasters would return to work pending the outcome of the arrangement of a new scale of prices.

The point made by Joseph Caunt in the early discussions yesterday as to whether the strike of lasters in other factories following that of the Caunt employees was sympathetic or part of a general strike for a general re-arrangement, did not occupy any prominent part in today's deliberations and it was believed that the other concerns would follow the action of the Caunt company in making peace with their lasters.

DEATHS

LYONS.—William J. Lyons, aged 1 year, 11 months, died this morning at the home of his parents, Michael and Ellen Lyons, 8 North Franklin street.

HICKORY.—Ella L. Hickory, aged 2 years, child of John and Mary, died last night at the home of her parents, 8 South street. ## FUNERALS

MURPHY.—The funeral of John Murphy took place this morning from his late home, 79 West Third street, and was very largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church, where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Eugene A. Carney. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Thomas P. Boulger, sang the "Missa Pro Defunctis." At the offertory "Domine Jesu Christe" was sung. At the conclusion of mass "In Paradisum" and as the remains were borne from the church "Ego Sum, Benedictus" was rendered by the choir. Miss Carolyn White presided at the organ. The bearers were Messrs. Michael Angelo, John Birmingham, Frank Dolan, James Dolan, Matthew McCaffery and Joseph Lantange. Burial was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Carney gave the final absolution at the grave. Funeral Director James W. McKenna was in charge.

LAWN.—The funeral of William Eugene Lawn took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of his parents, 15 Third street, and was very largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral tributes, among them being the following: A large bouquet of roses and carnations, from his great-grandmother; spray white carnations, grandfather and grand-niece; spray of chrysanthemums, "Uncle William," spray, Aunt Mamie; spray of roses and pinks, from Mamie and Lizzie; and a large cross on base from the employees of the cutting room of the Federal Shoe Co. Interment was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery and was in charge of Funeral Director James W. McKenna.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOSTON NORTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Whether the Baptist church will admit as members persons who have not been immersed, was the topic which overshadowed all other deliberations of the annual meeting of the Boston Northern Baptist convention in this city today. The subject is one which has caused wide discussion among members of the church, several prominent clergymen having declared themselves in favor of dropping from the requisites for church membership this principle of the Baptist creed.

So serious has the question become and so steadfast the stand of the members of some parishes against it, that several delegates came to today's convention instructed to withdraw the name of their church from the association membership should the measure be acted upon favorably.

TARIFF REVISION

Will be Made Immediately if the Democrats Win

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Oct. 7.—I present myself as an example of one who has outlived the venomous attacks of his opponents. You heard me called a demagogue twelve years ago. You saw them bury me and you heard them chant their honors over my grave, and now they have to explain why it happened that I was not dead.

With all the fervor that he could muster, William Jennings Bryan, facing a vast audience in the Chautauqua auditorium between Tama and Toledo, Iowa, yesterday delivered himself of this utterance.

At Woodward he heard ridicule on the republicans, charging them with taking credit for the growth of crops, the shining of the sun and the bringing of rain.

"In fact," he said, "they seize upon anything that they think gives a plausible excuse for voting the republican ticket."

Fifteen speeches and handshaking with thousands constituted his day's work, the concluding speech being made in the auditorium here last night, which was filled to overflowing. The keynote of his principal remarks last night was that republican policies meant disaster, while democratic policies meant prosperity. In conclusion he said:

"If we are going to have prosperity we must have a reduction in the tariff. This people recognize the tariff is extortionate. Even the republican leaders are forced to admit this, and yet they are deliberately planning to prevent any real revision by electing a stand-pat congress. If the republican party wins, it will not revise the tariff in the interest of the consumer, and that means that the present agitation must continue for four years longer."

"If the democratic party wins, there will be an immediate reduction of the tariff which will satisfy the public demand and remove the tariff question from politics for a number of years. A democratic victory means prosperity, prosperity to all the people, a prosperity that will be permanent. It means the remedying of abuses, until abuses are remedied, there can be no peace, and the sooner abuses are remedied, the more easy can the remedy be applied."

NEW CHARTER

Adopted by Voters of Haverhill

HAVERHILL, Oct. 7.—The new city charter, providing for a government by commission, which was presented to the state legislature and allowed by that body at its last session, was adopted yesterday by the voters of the city at a special election, the vote being 367 to 224.

The charter is copied from the Des Moines plan. Under its provisions a board of commissioners, or aldermen, is elected every year, with a salary of $300 each, and the old board of seven aldermen and fourteen common councilmen abolished. The mayor is also elected every year at a salary of $200 instead of $300 as heretofore, but is to have no veto power. The old school board of 21 members will be replaced by four members elected at large. The initiative and referendum is given the voters, and also the right to remove any member of the government who does not hold true to the pledges of his office, by a petition signed by 25 per cent. of the voters.

The new charter will go into effect at the beginning of the municipal year, January 1, 1909.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

In the opinion of the New York critics—not to mention the views of like sort of the dramatic writers of Philadelphia, Chicago and other important cities—there has appeared no such delightful comedy in a decade as Franz Molnar's "The Devil" (her Teufel) as it is presented by Henry W. Savage's brilliant acting troupe.

This remarkable satirical play, or perhaps better, allegorical comedy—is today not only the reigning dramatic sensation of nearly all America, but as well of more than twenty of the capitals of Continental Europe, where it has created as great a sensation as it has in this country and has won a like triumph among play-goers who appreciate the finer things of the stage.

A matinee and evening performance of this play will be given at the Opera House today.

PLAY OF HUMAN INTEREST

Much interest attaches to the presentation here at the Opera House of "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry D. Harris will offer to local theatre-goers during an engagement on Thursday evening, October 8th.

The Charles Klein drama presents a picture of American financial life much discussed and widely written of; the money magnate who controls the financial world by means of the electric push-button on his desk—it is based upon facts well-known to the public. In Mr. Klein's characterization of "Ready Money" Ryder he has deftly introduced the touch that humanizes even a man of a million-dollar fortune. "The Lion and the Mouse" is a vivid denunciation of the struggle between Ryder and the girl beloved by his son. The play is filled with human interest and pictures vividly financial and social life of today. Seats now on sale.

THE LIFE OF AN ACTRESS

Many novel features are introduced in "The Life of an Actress," which comes to the Opera House for two days and a matinee on next Friday, October 9th. During the action of the first act, the stage will be set in full view of the audience, showing the entire working of effects, each, back of the curtain during the action of the play. This novel effect never fails to excite the utmost interest and receives a great amount of applause. The second act, which is a vivid denunciation of the struggle between Ryder and the girl beloved by his son. The play is filled with human interest and pictures vividly financial and social life of today. Seats now on sale.

FRANK LALOR

The sale of seats begins tomorrow morning for Frank Lalor's appearance in the new musical comedy "Humbug," which will occur at the Opera House one week from tonight. The date was changed from October 12 to October 14.

Ever since the announcement was first made that the popular comedian was coming to Lowell, interest in the event has steadily increased. Manager Ward is in receipt of an unusual number of requests for seats, which is always an indication of the approach of something out of the ordinary. This is a condition which was to have been expected in view of Mr. Lalor's great popularity here and particularly since it is known that he is coming in a new musical comedy, specially written for him, and in which he has just scored a very great success in Boston. The details of the production are perfectly known through the descriptions which have appeared in the Boston

A. O. H. LADIES

The Auxiliary Observes 14th Anniversary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. celebrated the 14th anniversary of the local organization last night. The celebration took place in Hibernian hall and the attendance was large. The affair opened at 8 o'clock and there wasn't a dull moment from that time on. There was a good list of speakers, refreshments were served and dancing was indulged in.

The speakers were introduced by Miss Delia Conway, president of the local auxiliary.

James O'Sullivan, president of the A. O. H. corporation, spoke on the proposed new building, interesting his audience very deeply.

Michael Connolly, president of Division 11, addressed the gathering, his subject being "The Ladies' Auxiliary." He told of the splendid work of the organization.

Dr. James E. Leary, for 13 years the auxiliary physician, talked in a congratulatory vein of the benevolent work of the auxiliary.

Joseph Fahy, president of the Central council and president also of Division 1, addressed the audience, touching upon the work of the auxiliary, its splendid growth, and its promising future.

Hubert McQuade, secretary of the central council, also made remarks.

Following a delightful solo by Miss Anna Shea, an auxiliary member, refreshments were served and then the floor was cleared for dancing to the music of the Starbird orchestra.

Among the guests was Mrs. Susan McNamee of Somerville, county president of the auxiliary. A communication was read during the evening from National President Matthew Cummings of Boston, inviting the auxiliary to take part in the observance of the 100th anniversary celebration of the archdiocese of Boston next month. This sister stated that the first night of the bazaar, which will be one of the features of the celebration, will be

Drew In "Jack Straw"

Rose Coghlan Scores In English Play.
"The Battle In the Skies" a Stirring

Great New Hippodrome Spectacles

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]

JOHN DREW has at last become an actor, according to the views of various people who have seen his performance in "Jack Straw," the English importation at the Empire theater.

Written by Edward Somerset Maugham, the London playwright of the hour, "Jack Straw" gives promise of repeating in the United States the long run it enjoyed in London. It was at the Vaudeville theater that Charles Hawtrey of "Message From Mars" fame appeared in the English production for a record number of performances.

Mr. Drew's Acting.

Mr. Drew of course does not class in the foreground of American dramatic art. He is really not an actor because of his inability to do actual character work, but he passes for more than a mere lyceum entertainer or reciter when given a play like "The Duke of Millerankle" or "His House in Order" or "Jack Straw." In a play like "Killing Crankle," for instance, Mr. Drew had nothing much to do but the lightest sort of impersonation, yet the play was a success because that was simply the nature of the work necessary for the completion of the ensemble. Mr. Drew's handsome clothes and his faultless and studied deportment in those same clothes constituted the major part of his acting in that drama.

In "Jack Straw" he has a peaceful sort of role that he carries to a success without much nervous wear and tear, and he should play nightly for the preservation of those astute managerial experts whose business it is to choose for him his plays. When they lose their cunning, then farewell, Mr. Drew.

Rose Coghlan Scores.

Rose Coghlan is seen with Mr. Drew in "Jack Straw." Her performance is practically flawless as Mrs. Parker Jennings, a vulgar parvenu who boasts and shows her way relentlessly into the sacred inner precincts of society. Miss Coghlan threatens frequently to topple Mr. Drew off his pedestal of stellar supremacy.

Ordinarily termed a comedy, "Jack Straw" is pretty much of a farce. The complications arising from the adventures of Archduke Sebastian of

EDNA GOODRICH, MUCH TALKED OF ACTRESS OF UNUSUAL BEAUTY.

Pomerania in the guise of a waiter are thoroughly farcical in description. In the capable supporting company are Mary Boland, Edgar Davenport, Fred Tyler, Adelaide Prince and Grace Henderson.

Great Hippodrome Spectacles.

The new Hippodrome spectacle is more elaborate in many respects than any of its amazing predecessors, and the present programme nightly and daily shown at the giant playhouse should establish new records for popularity.

The most impressive feature is probably the stirring realistic "Battle in the Skies," which, in four scenes, was invented by Arthur Voegtlin and written and produced by R. H. Burnside.

Story of "Battle in the Skies."

This spectacle opens in a street of the United States in the period of 1930.

It is the age of airships and still other progressive inventions. Runners are in the air that the city is to be attacked by the United States of Europe. General Fairfax, who is in command of the United States aeroplane army, tells the people he is fully prepared to meet and repulse their fleet of airships. The skeptical sneer, and many doubt him. To his aid comes Geoffrey Gedison, a young inventor, who is in love with the general's daughter. He tells of his new discovery, a radium gun, that will destroy without fail.

The general is greatly pleased, and word goes forth to Europe that should her air fleet cross the sky border of America the latter's army aeroplanes will destroy every city on the other continent. Spies kidnap the general's daughter, believing that her presence in their capital will save destruction. Geoffrey takes his airship and goes in pursuit. She is rescued. General Fairfax and his fleet follow. They reconnoiter about the fortifications. The battle begins, and the winged warriors are in conflict.

Armed aviators guide their machines over the city. A shower of radium is poured over the buildings. It is night, and the sky becomes red with the fire of the city first being destroyed. Buildings fall and steeples topple. Then all is smoldering ruin. Quiet reigns. With a rush a great tidal wave flows over the debris and leaves the open sea.

The concluding scene takes the spectator to the Golden garden, where General Fairfax and his followers celebrate their triumph, the act closing with festivities in honor of the triumph of the American airship fleet.

"Sporting Days."

The opening spectacle, made up of several scenes, is "Sporting Days," a melodrama. In the cast appears J. Parker Combs, Edwin A. Clark, George Mordecai, Marie Tyler, William H. Clark, George Melville, Harry Dale, Frank Melville, Marceline, the clown, Nanette Flack and many others.

The action opens with a baseball game on the Newtown college grounds, next follows a wonderfully staged boat race between college eights, and as a finale is shown a horse race at Saratoga which threatens to make the celebrated "Ben-Hur" chariot race pale in to insignificance.

The usual Hippodrome circus programme is made up of a large number of new acts and specialties, including Alber's ten performing polar bears, Paul Sanders' dog circus and clowns, equestrians, acrobats, wire experts and equilibrista galore.

No visitor to New York should miss the new Hippodrome show, "School Days," at the new Circle theater, is an enjoyable performance that has won an enthusiastic welcome.

Herman Tumberg as Izzy Levy, a peddler; Janet Priest, Joe Kent, Agnes Lynn, Wilfred Iwick, Gregory Kelly and Bernice Pave appear to advance.

"School Days" is the outgrowth of the forty-five minute vaudeville sketch of last season, Gus Edwards' "School Days and Girls." Aaron Hoffman has taken hold of it and whipped it into a three act musical comedy, and, of course, Mr. Edwards has added a number of songs, which, judging by the way they were received, are going to be hits for a few months to come. Ed Gardner and Vincent Bryan wrote the lyrics.

Frederick Tringello

GERTRUDE QUINLAN.

Gertrude Quinlan is back from Paris wearing one of those new hats with a cock's plume stuck in the band and the tip waving in the atmosphere nearly three feet above the crown. Miss Quinlan doesn't seem a bit stuck up by the English praise she received for her Flora Wiggins success in the London production of "The College Widow." There's a chance that the United States may not be able to hold her much longer. She has only to make a scratch of her pen on either of two blank contracts brought back in her 6 by 9 gold purse to have a production ready for a tempting starring venture in London.

"THE DEVIL."

It never rains but it pours. Franz Molnar was a struggling and unknown Hungarian newspaper writer in Budapest until his play of "The Devil" took Vienna by storm. The piece is now scheduled for separate productions in twenty-four European cities for the coming season and managers are bidding in as many different tongues for the rights to his next effort.

MISS DESMOND KELLEY.

Miss Desmond Kelley, who played the part of Jane Hammond in "Her Sister" with Ethel Barrymore last season and was previously in "The Spoilers" and other Frohman productions, will be seen next season in an important role in "The Richest Girl," the play in which Marie Doro is to be starred.

POPULAR "BEN-HUR."

The original "Ben-Hur" company has given over 2,000 performances of that play.

EDWIN STEVENS AS THE DEVIL IN "THE DEVIL," GARDEN THEATER, NEW YORK.

World's Series Baseball Talk — Re-reformed Football For 1908

THE forthcoming world's championship series is now occupying the attention of the baseball sharps. Most of the "fans" have been calculating on the probable result of the series and during the latter part of the season have figured the likely result if the following sets of teams met in the momentous and climactic green diamond battles: The New York, Chicago or Pittsburgh Nationals against either the Cleveland, Chicago or Detroit Americans.

The writer has taken especial pains to scribble pick the National teams' chances as superior to those of the American league clubs for the following reasons:

In the first place, the pitching strength of the leading American league teams is inferior to that of New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, though the Chicago Americans have a twirling department that probably is the best in the league. The Chicago and Pittsburgh Nationals are stronger in the box than New York, Chicago having the best pitching staff in the country, with Brown, Pfeister and Overall at with Willis would, on form, have an advantage over any American league competitor.

About Even in Batting.

In batting the two big leagues' best teams are fairly evenly matched. The Chicago Nationals and the Detroit Americans are probably the most consistent teams in hitting.

In fielding, infield and outfield, the National league is considered by most of the critics to take superior rank for the individual players, as a whole, are deemed able in the older organization. The team work of the National league clubs is stated to be smoother and more effective than that of the American league.

Of course this article merely expresses the weight of opinion of authoritative correspondents chosen impartially. Several critics of the minority, those favoring the American league's chances in the world's championship series, claim that Detroit would prove stronger than the Chicago, Pittsburgh or New York Nationals because of its great batting strength and its two leading pitchers, Donovan and Killian. Three other Detroit pitchers won a majority of their games—Willets, Summers and Mullin—and on form the Detroiters should have won the American pennant by a wide margin of points.

Cleveland Erratic.

Cleveland is an erratic team and for that reason is not widely favored as being of world's championship caliber. The Chicago Americans have one of the best pitchers of the country in Ed Walsh. He has the best record in the American league. He has pitched more games than any other American twirler and performed the sensational feat of winning over thirty contests. After finishing his forty-third game he had the high percentage of .595.

Joss the Cleveland Leader.

Adrian Joss has again taken his place as leading pitcher for the Cleveland club. Donovan, Killian and Walsh are the only men who have better averages in the American league. Killian and Donovan have worked sparingly and only when circumstances favored them, so Walsh is the only pitcher who really has done better work than Joss, taking into consideration the number of games worked.

Control is one of Joss' strong points. He has labored in almost forty contests and gave only thirty bases on balls. Cy Young of Boston is next behind Joss in point of games won.

Smith Tricks Schmidt.

Sid Smith, the burly catcher whom Connie Mack was so kind to give to McAleer, pulled off a good trick on Schmidt, the Detroit catcher, a few days ago during the St. Louis-Detroit series.

With Jones on first in the eleventh inning, Smith deliberately turned his back on the pitcher and pretended to recognize some one in the stand. Catcher Schmidt turned around to see to whom Smith was speaking, and when he did so Jones stole second. Schmidt never throwing the ball. Smith followed this by bringing Jones home with a single, winning the game. That one stunt has made Smith in St. Louis.

Trick Plays in Football.

From trustworthy indications the 1908 football season will be largely a campaign of trick plays. Since the new rules make "straight football" less remunerative in the amount of ground gained, coaches and captains, being practical people, opine that if they would produce winning teams they must develop numerous new trick plays. It is the unusual and much disliked by veteran players) openness of the game of today that makes trick plays especially popular, for, while their danger is naturally greater to the team in possession of the ball, the chances of large gains are correspondingly greater. So the ever present principles of universal compensation are again seen to apply.

Fumbling is the bugbear of almost all trick plays. The added nervousness of the players and their pressing desire to start the maneuver as quickly as possible superinduce considerable fumbling. Therefore practice in handling, passing, catching and faking on the ball is more important than in the days of close formation plays.

Indications are that most of the trick plays of the year will involve the forward pass and that long passes will be largely relied on. The long forward pass is one of the prettiest spectacles in the new, revamped, re-stylized, re-encapsulated, re-reformed game, and its frequent use will contribute considerably to the game from a spectator's viewpoint. But it will give various degrees of nervous prostration to coaches and players.

ARTHUR ROCKWOOD.

NEWS OF THE PRIZE RING.

Jack ("Twink") Sullivan, the New England heavyweight, has turned down the offer made to him by Jim Jeffries to fight Sam Langford, the colored fighter, a twenty-five round battle at the Jeffries club of Los Angeles, Cal. Sullivan has been made several offers by club managers of California to fight Langford, but he has always side-stepped the offers. Sullivan says he will fight Hugo Kelly of Chicago.

Jimmy Coffroth, the tight promoter of California, has practically arranged a match between Packey McFarland, the Chicago fighter, and Battling Nelson, the lightweight champion, to be fought at Colma, Cal., on Thanksgiving day afternoon. The only thing that hinges on the bout being clinched for good is a percentage of the gate receipts, which Nelson is holding out for. Coffroth expects to sign Nelson soon. They will battle for twenty-five rounds if they get together.

T. E. Jones, manager of Billy Papke, the middleweight champion, has arrived in Chicago. In speaking of Papke's fight with Ketchel, Jones says that Papke had Ketchel beaten before the bout started. Billy walked up to Ketchel in his dressing room and said: "Well, Stanley, I am going to give you the worst licking of your life. I am going to slug with you every inch of the way, and when I get you going I will put you out."

CHICAGO'S MARATHON.

The annual Marathon race at Chicago was won by A. L. Corey of Chicago, unattached, in the official time of 2 hours 57 minutes 30 seconds. One minute behind him came Sidney Hatch of the Illinois Athletic club, while the third man was J. A. Feltes of Chicago, unattached. Feltes' time was 3 hours and 12 minutes. Corey, his friends say, might have equalled or lowered the record for the course, 2 hours 41 minutes 43 seconds, had he not been troubled by a pebble which got into his shoe some miles north of the city. He maintained his lead some time even with this handicap, but finally had to stop and remove the annoyance.

FOOTBALL DOINGS.

Tad Jones pays Tibbott, the Princeton halfback, the compliment of saying that he was one of the best backs developed last season. Walter Camp, however, did not mention Tibbott on any of his three All-American lineups for 1907.

The Carlisle Indians play Pennsylvania Oct. 24, Annapolis Oct. 31 and Harvard Nov. 7. The team winds up the season with a game at Minneapolis

CAPTAIN A. ZINK, COLUMBIA VARSITY TRACK TEAM.

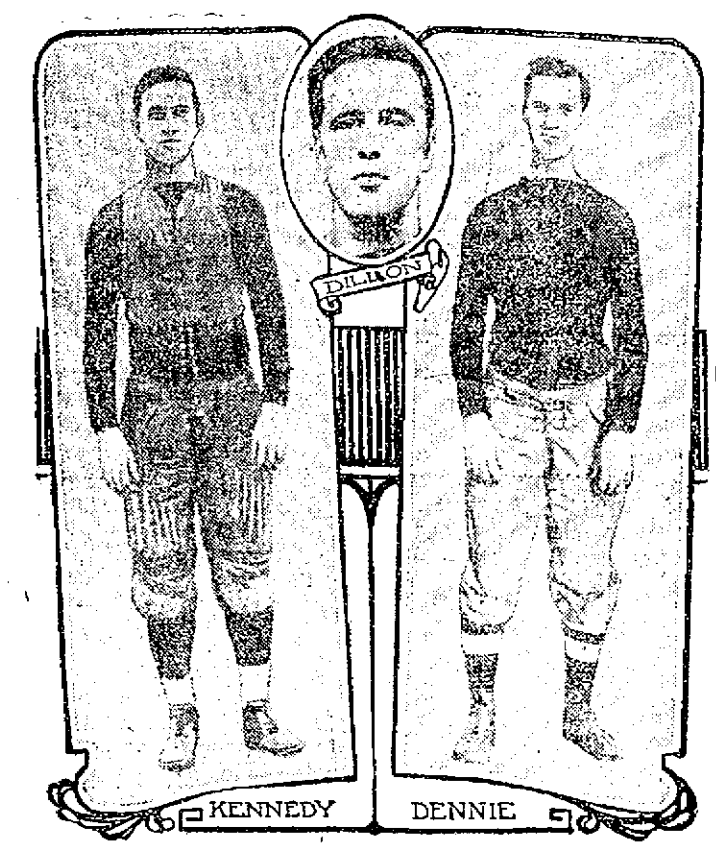

Houghton is sure to equip his team with one of these if there is a possible chance.

The Brown football players began practice on their own field recently after getting into fine condition at "Tuff" Gammans' farm in New Bedford.

Cornell and Pennsylvania made the most of the forward pass last year, successfully using plays in which the ball was thrown forward for distances varying from forty to fifty yards. Head Coach Percy D. Houghton of Harvard spent a week at Washington, his mission being to see Graves, the old army tackle, and to try to induce him to go to Cambridge this fall to coach the Harvard line.

BURGLARS BUSY "LITTLE MASTER" THEY STOLE WHEELS

Two Breaks Were Made in Tewksbury Last Night

Two successful breaks were made during last night in Tewksbury Centre. The store of A. S. Moore, formerly known as Lock's grocery, was entered from a rear window. The burglars got next to all of the loose change which was available, mostly all of the smallest denomination of United States currency. A revolver was also among the articles missed. They regaled themselves with luncheon before their departure. The break was not discovered until after the store was opened for business this morning.

THE MAYFLOWER With Harvard Students Aboard Was Wrecked

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Capt. Hummel of the steamer Advance which arrived here today from the south, brought news of the wreck of the steam launch Mayflower. The latter vessel had on board a party of Harvard students, who had made a voyage to the West Indies to catch for a fish-lamp gunken off the coast of Jamaica with a rich treasure in her hold. The Panama railroad line steamer, Advance brought the news of the disaster to the Argonaut ship when she arrived today from the republic of Panama. Captain Hummel said the Advance had been here for four hours so violent was the gale and so high the seas when on returning his course he sighted last Saturday a small vessel heeled and flying signals of distress including an American flag, set Union down. She proved to be the Mayflower. They were then about 300 miles east of the Florida coast and the gale was still raging. The little craft with only a stump of her mainmast standing and a little bit of sail set was riding the storm gallantly, said Capt. Hummel. The Advance stood by for five hours without being able to launch a boat. At length an unknown cutter came along and the Advance left her

"LITTLE MASTER" THEY STOLE WHEELS

Police Hot on Trail of Young "Automobilists"

The craze for automobile racing among the members of the rising generation of this city has led some of the youngsters to commit criminal acts in order to compete with their more fortunate companions and as a result of the acts of several youngsters who reside in the vicinity of the North common, the boys have had narrow escapes from being haled before the police court. A few days ago a couple of youngsters about 12 years of age who were preparing for a miniature automobile race found that they did not have any wheels. Therefore the only thing to do was to purchase some, but the money was not forthcoming and the boys knowing where there were some wheels decided to take them without the consent of the owner. Accordingly the youngsters wandered their way to the residence of John F. Saunders in Fletcher street where there was a nice baby carriage. The inmates of the house being absent the boys stole the carriage and ran it through Fletcher street into Pawtucket street where they dismantled the carriage and threw the body into the canal. The wheels they took to their own garage and there equipped a modern racing machine and were ready to enter in the next race, but inspectors Ladame and Maher put in an appearance and the wheels were recovered and the youngsters were brought to the police station where they were given a good lecturing and then allowed to go.

Claimed King Edward Was Subservient to Him

The sensation this afternoon in the Mrs. Shaw, Mazdaznan case, was contained in the greater part in the testimony of Miss Hilda Lee Drew. It was evidence that came after Dr. Bennett, the local alienist had said that a woman might have done all the things that Mrs. Shaw has done and have said all the things accredited to her and yet be of competent mind. It was putting it mildly indeed to say that the testimony of Dr. Bennett, Dr. Drew caused a genuine sensation in the forenoon. It was evidence that is rarely, if ever heard in the courts of the Commonwealth and she was testifying under oath to what the respondent, Mrs. Shaw, had said to her. It was Dr. Drew's daughter who gave the sensational testimony this afternoon and the following is in part what she testified to: "She said that she had known Mrs. Shaw, the respondent, for a great many years. Mrs. Shaw she said is a very peculiar person and so far as Mrs. Shaw's conduct was concerned she did not have anything to say that was derogatory to Mrs. Shaw. "Mrs. Drew said that Mrs. Shaw had been, at various other times, that Dr. Bennett, 'the little master' was always in control. 'She said that she had seen Mrs. Shaw at the time that she was in the hospital and that he was master of even things that she would do. "She told me," said witness, "that Dr. Hanish left the office with her and that he had a shipwreck and lost it, but that the Mazdaznan controlled more than two-thirds the money of the entire world. "She told me that Dr. Hanish was all powerful and that the Mazdaznan controlled the banks of England. He said that King Edward was subservient to his will and that he had picked out the king for the late Queen Victoria. "What Medium Said "Miss Drew told of a reading that Mrs. Shaw had had relative to her husband, in which the medium told her that Mr. Shaw had said he had left the body and

Saw Harry Garfield Made President of Williams College

WILLIAMSTOWN, Oct. 7.—In the presence of probably the largest, most representative and most notable group of American educators ever assembled together, Harry Augustus Garfield of the class of '85, former professor of politics at Princeton university, was inducted into office of president of Williams college today. In addition to the group of educators, 75 college presidents having accepted invitations to be present, the ceremony of induction was witnessed by men prominent in civil and professional life. The state was represented by Gov. Curtis Guild and his uniformed staff; James Bryce, ambassador of Great Britain was also present as well as United States Senator Crane and President Garfield's three brothers, Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield, Irvin McFarland and Abram Garfield, all Williams graduates. The only living former president of Williams college, Rev. Dr. Franklin Carter, was one of the most deeply interested spectators.

Among the great host of alumni who had come back to Williamstown purposely to attend the induction exercises the general comment was that in the choice of Prof. Garfield as president of Williams college a man had been selected who in every respect embodied the Williams spirit and the Williams traditions.

It was to Williams that James A. Garfield, one of the martyred presidents of the United States, came from an Ohio township in 1852, graduating four years later and it was at Williams that every male member of the Garfield family received his education. Delightful autumn weather, favored the occasion. The air was crisp but not cold and the sun shone brightly on the beautiful Berkshire hills, bringing out in all their glory the brilliant colors of the changing leaves. Williamsown practically observed the day as a holiday and the streets of the town were crowded with alumni, representative American educators and other invited guests. Among the college presidents attending the exercises were Charles W. Eliot of Harvard, Arthur T. Hadley of Yale, Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, Woodrow Wilson of Princeton, Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell, E. A. Alderman of the University of Virginia, George Alexander of Union, Francis Brown of Union Theological school, D. N. H. Buckman of the university of Vermont.

The exercises began with memorial prayer at Thompson Memorial chapel. At the conclusion of the services the final ceremony of induction took place in the Congregational church at 10.15 a. m.

MAZDAZNANS

Continued.

These things were said in testimony by one woman as being the story of another and it had to do with the hearing on the question of appointing a conservator in the case of Mrs. Helen M. Shaw, a conservator to restrain her from giving up her real estate and other property to the Mazdaznans, the followers of "the little master," Dr. Hanish.

The hearing was opened before Judge McIntire in the probate court at 9.30. The petitioners for the conservator are Mrs. Mabel M. Dutton, friend and niece of Mrs. Shaw, Edwin W. Smith of Peterboro, N. H., Walter H. Smith of Salem, N. H., and Miss Grace Thurber, also of New Hampshire.

The petitioners alleged that because of advanced age and mental weakness, that the respondent was incapacitated to look after her property or conduct her business affairs.

W. T. Kittredge and Robert A. Jordan, Boston lawyers, for the petitioners, and McIntire and Wilson of this city for the respondent.

Mrs. Shaw, the respondent, was the first witness. Among other things she was asked relative to "Inner Studies," the Mazdaznan ritual. She said that she owned a copy of the book but that she had never read it and had never offered it for sale, neither had she ever recommended it to anybody to read.

She said, however, that she was a student of the Mazdaznan belief. She said she was 66 years old and had lived in Lowell for 60 years. She had a son, Maxfield, who died Feb. 1, 1907, and her husband died Jan. 21, 1907. She knew that her mother had been an inmate of an asylum in New Hampshire but did not know that she had been there as an insane person. She was asked as to a sister and replied that if she had one she was not aware of the fact.

"It is your religious belief today?" "I believe in it."

"Will you produce your copy of 'Inner Studies'?" "I will not."

"Why?" "Because I have not got it."

"Where is it?" "I sent it to Montreal."

"You are going to Montreal, are you not?" "I am in a few weeks."

Mr. Kittredge at this time presented a book, purporting to be a copy of "Inner Studies," and the same was recognized as a copy of "Inner Studies," by Mrs. Shaw.

The book was then submitted as evidence by Mr. Kittredge, and was objected to by Mr. Wilson.

The book was allowed for the time being.

"This Mrs. Hilton is a leader, is she not, in this Mazdaznan belief?" "She's a teacher," replied Mrs. Shaw. "How long has she been a teacher?" "As long as I have known her, about five years."

"She takes you out riding in her automobile, does she not?" "Yes, she has taken me out riding."

"Do you know a person connected with the Mazdaznan belief known as 'The Little Master'?" "I do."

"What is his name?" "Rev. Dr. Hanish."

Mr. Wilson, at this point, objected to Mr. Kittredge's manner of procedure and form of questions. He did not know that the question of Mazdaznan belief should enter into the case.

Mr. Kittredge said that his questions had to do, in the long run, with the mental capacity of the witness.

"How old is this man known as 'The Little Master'?" "He is 62 years old."

"Where do you worship?" "In Spenta Maria Temple, Columbia avenue."

"The temple has been dedicated?" "Yes."

"Did Mrs. Hilton own the temple at the time of the dedication?" "I do not know."

"At the time of the dedication you were set apart or designated as the mother of the church?" "I beg your pardon."

"You were not known as the mother of the church?" "No sir."

"Have you any office in the church?" "None, except as a student."

"This society expresses your religious faith?"

Question objected to by Mr. Wilson. Court allowed question.

"I believe," said Mrs. Shaw, "in Mazdaznan philosophy."

"Do you believe in it as a religious faith?" "I do."

"You have messages from the little master, do you not?" "No sir."

"Did you have a message from him to convert all your property together and go to Montreal?" "No sir."

"Didn't you receive in 1906 a message advising you of great calamity, and didn't that message come from the little master?" "No sir."

"Do you wear a Mazdaznan robe at any time?" "Never heard it called by that name. It is a robe that conforms to our own ideas."

Mr. Wilson was on hand with objections, but they were not entertained. "Describe the robe."

"It is made of white silk or any other white fabric. We wear it at meetings."

"Mazdaznans do not believe in wearing much clothes?" "Indeed they do, as much clothes as other people."

"Do you ever take dew baths in the early mornings?" "Never."

"What do the Mazdaznans eat? Do they eat meat?" "No they are vegetarians, they do not eat meat or fish."

"Did you ever consult a fortune teller?" "I did, in Boston."

"What did she tell you?" "She said that Mr. Shaw wanted me to sell my home."

"Was that after your husband's death?" "It was."

"Who went with you to the fortune teller?" "Mr. Drew."

"Did she hear all that was said?"

MRS. ELLEN M. SHAW

"She did."

"Ever have any messages from Mrs. Hilton advising you to double your contributions to the Mazdaznans?" "No sir."

"Did you take Mrs. Hilton's daughter to California?" "Yes sir."

"Did your husband ever make a will?" "He did and destroyed it."

"Have you ever seen any will of his except the one he destroyed about 20 years ago?" "No sir."

"Are you the administratrix of the estate?" "I am."

"Have you ever had an inventory made?" "No, I thought I was capable of attending to my own affairs."

"You knew that appraisers had been appointed?" "I did not."

"Didn't your counsel advise you to make an inventory?" "No sir."

"Did your counsel tell you that you had to file an inventory?" "No sir."

"And the appraisers never acted in the appraisal of your property?" "Not to my knowledge."

"Did your counsel advise your appointment as administratrix?" "I do not know."

"How much property did your husband have?" "Could not say."

"Well, can you say, substantially?" "He left in all about $15,000, after debts were paid."

"Including debts and all, how much?" "About $35,000."

"Did you make a list of the property of which your husband was possessed at the time of his death?" "I did."

"I have a list of it?" "I have—do you want me to read?"

Mr. Wilson interjected an objection at this point. He thought there wasn't any need of so many personal questions and he was willing to submit a list of the possessions of Mr. Shaw at the time of his death.

Mr. Kittredge argued his position along the line of Mrs. Shaw's reluctance to answer questions.

"She says $15,000 net," said Mr. Kittredge, "and we have evidence to show it was sixty more than that."

"Your husband's life was insured?" "It was."

"How much?" "$10,000."

"You sold your homestead for $7500?" "I did—that was in my own name."

"You have property in Mill Village, N. H.?" "Yes."

"How much is it worth?" "About $1500."

"You had 15 shares of Swift company's stock?" "We had."

Mr. Wilson again stated that he would supply a complete list of Mrs. Shaw's possessions, and the list was accepted by Mr. Kittredge.

Later, after Mrs. Shaw was withdrawn because counsel for petitioners expressed the intention to cross-examine witness, on the question of property, at a future date.

The examination concerning property was resumed and the following were contained in the list:

Swift & Co. 13 shares.

Western Telephone and Telephone company, several shares.

Massachusetts Breathing company, 15 shares. The latter, witness said, she had sold far below par, about half.

Highland club of Lowell, six bonds.

American Tobacco Company three bonds and $500 certificate.

Five shares Amalgamated Copper company, sold.

Forty-four shares American Telegraph and Telephone company.

Lowell Trust company, five shares, sold for $500 since Mr. Shaw's death.

New England Telephone and Telegraph company, 41 shares.

Fifty-five shares Harvard Brewing Co., sold at par by witness within a year.

"Have you transferred any of these stocks?" asked Mr. Kittredge.

"No," replied Mrs. Shaw.

Besides the stock already described, all mining stocks were acknowledged.

"How much was due your husband in notes when he died?" "The amount was in the thousands."

Witness told of mortgages on certain property.

"What debts of his have you paid?" "I paid the Middlesex Trust and Appleton banks."

"The amounts, please?" "Appleton bank about $7000. Middlesex Trust about $3500."

"Do you know Mrs. Mallet?" "I do."

"How old is she?" "About 41 years old."

"She is a Mazdaznan?" "Believes in it, yes."

"Where does she live?" "In Montreal."

"Has she been here often?" "Quite often. She has been my guest frequently."

"You and she were going to build a temple?" "No sir." And this reply was given with great vigor.

Mrs. Shaw had been asked if she would prefer to sit while testifying and she answered negatively, declaring that she preferred to stand.

If there is anything the matter with Mrs. Shaw mentally, it did not show itself this forenoon.

Mrs. Shaw, who is a very stately woman, was dressed in black and wore an unpretentious black hat and black gloves. She presented a neat appearance and made a very good witness.

The biggest hat in the house was worn by Mrs. Hilton, the high priestess of temple Spenta Maria, Columbia avenue, and she was the best looking of the 20 women present, and that in saying considerable.

These few stray notes were made during a recess taken at a few minutes before the noon hour.

Mr. Kittredge completed his examination of Mrs. Shaw at the time of recess. Mr. Wilson reserving the right to cross-examine Mrs. Shaw at a future time.

The Vision

The next witness was May Broyer, of 490 E. Merrimack street. She was asked relative to a vision that was alleged to have been told of by Mrs. Shaw, and she said she didn't know anything about it.

Mrs. Jones Called

Mrs. Persia Ellen Jones of Westford street was called. She said she knew Mrs. Shaw and had met her at social functions. Witness said that Mrs. Shaw never mentioned Dr. Hanish to her.

"Did Mrs. Shaw," asked Mr. Kittredge, "ever tell you that a woman, a Mazdaznan, had lived to be 800 years old, and that a woman, a Mazdaznan, 90 years old had given birth to a child?"

"Those things were reported, but I do not know that they came from Mrs. Shaw," said witness.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wilson, witness said that Mrs. Shaw never showed any sign of mental weakness.

"Did you not tell Mr. Jordan that Mrs. Shaw told you that Dr. Hanish went to the same school as Christ went to?" "No sir."

Dr. Drew Testifies

Dr. Frances H. Drew was the next witness. In part, she said: "I have lived in Lowell for more than 20 years. Am a regular registered physician."

"Mrs. Shaw is a neighbor of mine. I was called to her home as a neighbor, when Mr. Shaw was sick. My arm was broken and in a sling when Mrs. Shaw sent for me, and I administered to her husband, as friend and neighbor, until he passed away."

"Did you notice any peculiarities about Mrs. Shaw at that time?" "I don't know what you would call peculiarities. She was not in the room much of the time—she was going back and forth."

During the time that I was confined to my house with a broken arm Mrs. Shaw spent an afternoon with me. Then I spoke to her about her husband. I said he was looking very poorly and told her I did not think he was long for this world and she said to me that her husband had received his message from the 'little master' and that if he didn't want to take heed of 'little master's' message he would have to take the consequences."

Not Her Child

"She said to me, 'You know Maxfield (meaning Mr. and Mrs. Shaw's boy) never belonged to me.' She told me that Maxfield's deformity was due to the fact that his father, Mr. Shaw, before his regeneration, had been cast away on an island with apes and monkeys and she said that accounted for the boy's deformity. She repeated that Maxfield was not her child."

She spoke of a wonderful reading she had had from a woman then visiting with Mrs. Hilton, a Mrs. Loring, and a woman in the Mazdaznan belief.

Mrs. Shaw, she said, had visited several of the meetings at the temple for the purpose of investigation.

Witness said that Mrs. Shaw spoke at one time about the 'little master,' and that Mrs. Shaw told her Dr. Hanish came from the orient, and that the Chinese temples were loaded with 'little masters' who were living on a few grains of wheat a day.

"Mrs. Shaw told me," said witness, "that Dr. Hanish's knowledge was unlimited; that he was of the royal family; and that he was the Christ of today, superior to the original Christ because of his wonderful knowledge. She told me that the 'little master' knew the thoughts of other men. She confessed, however, that the only proof she had of this great power, was the 'little master's' word."

"In talking with her, I told her that sometimes I hoped she would get her eyes opened," said witness.

Forgot Old Friends

"I told her that she had forgotten her old friends," said witness.

"She spoke as if she had all the friends she wanted in the Mazdaznan cult."

At this point Mrs. Shaw shook her head and the movement was noticed by Mrs. Drew, who quite tragically declared that every word she spoke was "the God's truth."

Saw Her Eat Violets

Witness said she had seen Mrs. Shaw eating violets and that on one occasion, this summer, she ate "sheep-sour," a certain weed, and said that was her breakfast.

"Mrs. Shaw told me," said witness, "that she walked in the dew in her bare feet in the early morning."

"Mrs. Shaw told me," said witness, "that after taking her bath she took an air bath, and that she was in the habit of doing her chamber work in the night, that was her air bath."

On cross-examination, witness said she treated women and children. She has an office in Boston.

"Who are the members of your family?" asked Mr. Wilson.

Witness said that besides herself and daughter, there was a boarder at her house, Capt. Hitchcock.

"Does he support the house?" "He does not."

Witness said she did not know that Capt. Hitchcock had invested any money for Mrs. Shaw.

She would not admit that she was not on friendly terms with Mrs. Shaw. Mr. Wilson—"Are you a fortune teller?"

Mrs. Drew—"I deny it."

"Did you never give Mrs. Shaw a reading?" "I never did."

"Did you ever advise her to go to a fortune teller?" "I don't think so."

"Did you know Capt. Hitchcock preferred to Mrs. Shaw that he was a blizzardman?" "I knew that he did not."

Writing, purporting to be the handwriting of Capt. Hitchcock was shown witness and she alleged it was his writing.

At one o'clock the court adjourned for dinner and Judge McIntire had previously announced that this would be the last day of the hearing in this city, that the would adjourn to Cambridge tomorrow.

AFTERNOON SESSION

When the hearing was resumed at 2.30 o'clock, Dr. Drew was recalled by Mr. Wilson for cross-examination, and she reiterated the statement that she did not know that Capt. Hitchcock was Mrs. Shaw's financial advisor, and that she did not believe him to be connected with the Mazdaznan cult.

Mrs. Drew said she had been to the lectures of the Mazdaznan several times.

"You stated that you were never a fortune teller," said Mr. Wilson.

"I did," replied Mrs. Drew.

"Do you receive messages from the spirit world?" "I don't know what you call it."

"Were there ever spiritualistic meetings at your house?" "Once for accommodation's sake."

Witness admitted that she was interested in spiritualism, but that no spirit had ever sent a message through her to the principal petitioner or Mrs. Shaw.

Witness said she never had occasion to consult fortune tellers.

Mr. Wilson asked witness to repeat what she had said about the air bath, witness went over the same story, the story of Mrs. Shaw doing her chamber work in her nakedness.

She also reiterated her answer to Mrs. Shaw's alleged statement relative to Dr. Hanish's powers being greater than those of Christ.

Mrs. Drew said she knew nothing immoral about Mrs. Shaw.

As to her dress she had seen Mrs. Shaw in what she termed "blowing white robes, with angel wings." Mrs. Drew said she would not care to wear a like robe.

Witness asked as to Mrs. Shaw's expression, said that Mrs. Shaw always had a very happy expression.

Mrs. Mary Brazer.

Mrs. Mary E. Brazer, wife of William P. Brazer, was sworn and said she knew Mrs. Shaw, and that the latter told her she had received a message to double her contributions to the church.

"She told me," said witness, "that she was to be a priestess in Montreal; that she would occupy the same position there as Mrs. Hilton occupies here."

On cross-examination, witness said she was a friend of Mrs. Shaw; that they had worked together for charitable purposes, and were on committees together for the Old Ladies' Home.

Witness said she never noticed any mental trouble with the respondent.

Mrs. Shaw, she said, had been a good wife and mother; fond and affectionate.

Mrs. Shaw's Nephew.

Walter N. Smith of Salem, N. H., a nephew of Mrs. Shaw, was the next witness. He said in reply to questions by Mr. Kittredge that Mrs. Shaw during a visit at her home in Tyler park, said much to him about the Mazdaznan belief.

"She told me," said witness, "that the belief had made her young, and she would run up and down stairs to demonstrate how young and spry she was."

Grace B. Wells

Grace B. Wells of Walpole, N. H., a niece of Mrs. Shaw, a daughter of Mrs. Shaw's sister, testified that her mother showed nervous symptoms for five years previous to her death which occurred seven years ago.

"Mother," she said, "would wring her hands and would not speak and seemed terribly disturbed, more so at night than at other times."

Dr. Benner

Dr. Benner the local alienist was then called. He said that he had examined Mrs. Shaw and found no evidence of mental or physical weakness. He said that Mr. Kittredge had approached him and asked him if Mrs. Shaw should have her money amounting to between $30,000 and $50,000 to the Mazdaznans and leave herself destitute, an advice which she followed.

Witness said that Mrs. Shaw spoke of the doctrine of the sun worshippers and imagine she was getting vibrations from the flowing robes, she wore, and also referred to the 'little master' as greater than Christ, would you think she was all right?"

Dr. Benner said that he replied that such actions are consistent with a competent mind.

Mr. Kittredge then asked if many people in their right mind believed in such stuff.

"If you call it stuff," replied the doctor, "I would say that it is very common among people."

Are in Operation Again Today

WATERLOO, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Three of the four paper mills of the International Paper Co. of the Watertown district are in operation today and the pulp mill of the Co. at Glen Park is also open. About 35 are at work in the mills or about half the regular force, most of these being non-union men. A few of the strikers have applied for their old places and these men have been given work. Two deputy sheriffs are on guard at each mill to prevent trouble.

IMMENSE CROWD

To Witness the New York-Boston Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The New York-Boston National game with its possible effects on the championship had in its beginning no surmise to light up the familiar picture of grandstands and bleachers rapidly filling in with the enthusiastic crowds which arrived early despite the unexpected change in the hour of play at three until an earlier hour. Though clouds threatened there had been no rain and the grounds were in perfect condition when the time for play arrived. The intention of the New York club to win the pennant if possible was displayed at the New York clubhouse before the game. Mathewson pleaded with McGraw to be allowed to hold the box both today and tomorrow although the dispositions of the management was to save him for the Chicago contest tomorrow. Shortly before two o'clock teams appeared on the field for practice. Around the club benches were many baseball players from other cities.

TWO ACCIDENTS

One Man Kicked by a Horse

Shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon a boy named Donia Martin, residing at 5 Garnet street, received a bad scalp wound by being hit with a weight while in a waiting gallery on Middlesex street. The ambulance was summoned and the boy was removed to St. John's hospital for surgical treatment.

Kicked By Horse

At about 12.45 p. m. today the ambulance was called to 132 Lakeview avenue and from there removed David Lamboumbiane to St. John's hospital. He was kicked by a horse and received a severe scalp wound.

THE PITTSFIELD

BIG BALLOON STARTED OFF AT RAPID RATE.

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 7.—The balloon Pittsfield, in the heart of the Berkshires, rose from Aero park today bearing Leo Stevens of New York as pilot and W. F. Whitehouse and W. Redman Cross, both of New York, as passengers. Leaving the ground at 11.30 a. m. the balloon disappeared in a northeasterly direction, going at a rapid rate of speed.

STRIKE STILL IN FORCE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The strike of automobile chauffeurs against the New York Taxi-Cab Co. which already has resulted in much violence continues to full swing today. Meanwhile the police department was making strenuous efforts to prevent further disorder.

6 O'CLOCK TURKEY PROTESTS

Against Annexation of Provinces by Austria Hungary

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 7.—The council of ministers has decided to protest against the annexation of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria Hungary. Protest will be made through the Austrian embassy here.

Tewfik Pasha, president of the council of state and minister of foreign affairs, declared today that the government already had protested against Bulgaria's declaration of independence and had proposed to the signatories of the treaty of Berlin the calling of a conference. This Turkey considered to be the best course for the protection of her interests. The minister added that Great Britain, France and Russia disapproved of the conduct of Bulgaria. In reply to a question he said that Turkey desired peace in the interest of internal reform and he counseled calm and moderation.

The reports of Turkish military preparations are denied here, and it is said the government is merely completing the deficiencies in various army corps. Following out this program new guns and ammunition are being sent to Adrianople and Saloniki.

STUDENT MAY DIE

Was Almost Trampled to Death in a Class Rush

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—H. B. Esch, 20 years old, a freshman student in the Bennett college of Eclectic medicine and surgery, was seriously injured in a class rush between the freshmen and sophomores of that institution yesterday. In an effort to fight his way through a crowd of sophomores to tear their flag from a pole he was thrown to the earth and almost trampled to death. Several students kicked him in the stomach and when he was finally rescued he was unconscious. His body was a mass of bruises.

Policemen who had broken up the fight carried him to an ambulance and he was taken to the hospital. Nurses said last night that his condition was critical. More than 200 students participated in the rush. No less than fifty were injured.

BRYAN AND TAFT

To Meet at Banquet Table in Chicago Tonight

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—National attention was directed to the opening of the Debs-to-the-Gulf deep waterways convention today, when the candidates of the republican and democratic parties for the presidency were slated as the principal speakers before that body.

Mr. Taft, the republican presidential nominee, was the leading speaker at today's session of the convention.

At the conclusion of his speech, the republican candidate left for Galesburg, Ill., where he made a speech before returning to meet Mr. Bryan at the banquet of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the evening.

Various committees were appointed and the convention adjourned for the day to permit the delegates to make a personal inspection of the deep waterway route of the Joliet.

Tomorrow W. J. Bryan, Gifford Pinchot and Walter D. Moody, will be the principal speakers before the convention, and in the afternoon the delegates will be taken on an automobile tour through the city.

GLANCY MAY DIE

Was Frightfully Burned by Live Wire

MARLBORO, Oct. 7.—After dangling from a live wire for nearly 10 minutes yesterday afternoon, with 2300 volts of electricity playing through his body, while a crowd of horrified spectators stood by unable to assist him, James Glancy, 21, is now hovering between life and death at the Marlboro hospital.

The physicians there hold out very small hopes of his recovery.

Glancy was engaged in picking chestnuts, and leaning out from the limb on which he was standing he lost his balance and in his fall he grasped one of the wires which ran through the branches.

There he hung until the electricity burned the flesh off his hands and released his grasp, when he fell to the ground, about 21 feet.

At the hospital it was found that his hands and head had been terribly burned and a hole burned in his head to the base of the brain. The doctors say that if he does not die his injuries will develop into spinal meningitis.

She is survived by two sisters.

HOLY NAME MEN

Getting Ready for the Parade in Boston

The Holy Name society of the Sacred Heart church held a special meeting at the school hall in Andrews street last evening which was largely attended.

The religious office of the society was first recited by Rev. John O'Brien, O. M. I., spiritual director, after which routine business was transacted. President James J. Ward presided. The report of the previous meeting was read by Sec. Thomas Sheehan and accepted. Many new members were admitted into the society.

Next Sunday will be the quarterly communion day for the society and on the Tuesday evening following, a smoke talk will be held in the school hall. Prof. Hugh J. Molloy, who will be marshal of the Lowell division in the Boston parade, will be the speaker.

Fr. O'Brien then instructed the members relative to the coming parade in Boston in observance of the centenary anniversary of the establishment of the diocese. Fr. O'Brien also gave a report of the meeting of the spiritual directors which was held in St. Peter's rectory Monday afternoon and said that arrangements were practically completed for the big demonstration.

Adjutant Owen Farrell, who has charge of the drilling, instructed the men relative to the manner in which they will march and put one company through the drill to explain his instructions. He has called a meeting of the members for Thursday night.

The regulations of the parade are that each society will be headed by a band, next the banner and American flag, then the spiritual director and priests with the marshal and his aids following.

The companies will follow and each company will have a captain, two sergeants and two platoons, twelve in each. They will dress in dark suits, wear white gloves and will have the society button and a centennial badge which will be received in this city prior to leaving for the Hub.

The parade will start at 1 o'clock. The Lowell division will leave on a special train from the Middlesex street depot at 12:45 and upon its arrival in Boston will march to the corner of Tremont and Boylston streets, where it will join in the parade and proceed over the line.

Upon reaching the reviewing stand, at which Archbishop O'Connell and many churchmen will be stationed, the men will uncover and bow to the distinguished prelate.

HOLY NAME OF ST. MICHAEL'S TO MEET
THURSDAY NIGHT

There will be a meeting of the Holy Name society of St. Michael's church tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock in the parochial school hall. Every man in the parish is invited to be present and take part in the street drill. Great preparations are being made so that the members of St. Michael's parish will be second to none for martial appearance and numbers in the big parade which is to be one of the great features in the coming centenary of the observance of the establishment of the diocese of Boston.

MORE COMPANIES FORMED BY ST. PETER'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

In common with other parishes, St. Peter's Holy Name society is very enthusiastic for the Boston parade and each meeting, large accessions to the fold are made. Last evening a special meeting was held when several additional companies were formed and arrangements for a drill made. Another meeting will be held tomorrow evening when a big attendance is anticipated.

FUNERALS

FINNEGAN—The funeral of Mrs. Julia Finnegan took place from her late home, 37 Madison street, this morning at 8:45 o'clock. A mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock by the Rev. W. George Mullin. The choir, under the direction of Prof. P. P. Haggerty, sang the Gregorian chant and the offertory, "Domine Jesu Christi," was rendered by Prof. P. P. Haggerty, and at the conclusion of the mass "De Profundis" was sung. Mrs. J. W. McKennedy presided at the organ. The bearers were Messrs. James Connors, John Frawley, Jas. Finnegan, George Moulton, W. J. Deed of Boston and James Finnegan of North Billerica. The burial was in the Catholic cemetery in the family lot where Rev. Fr. Mullin read the burial service. There was a profusion of floral offerings, among which were the following: A pillow of pinks and roses with the inscription "Mother," from the children of the deceased; a standing wreath on base with the words "Our Darling Grandma," from Mr. and Mrs. Mullin; Finnegan and children; wreath of galax leaves with sheaf of wheat and pinks tied with ribbon, from Martin Finnegan and family of North Billerica; mammoth wreath of roses from Daniel and James Leary, nephews of the deceased; of Boston; standing cross of roses from Mr. Edward A. Lang; large wreath of galax leaves on a mound of roses, from No. 3 weave room in Hamilton mills; a large standing cross representing "Faith, Hope and Charity," with the inscription "At Rest," from the employees of the winding and spooling room of the Bigelow Carpet Co.; beautiful basket of roses from Mr. Anthony Clark and family; and several sprays from friends of the deceased. The interment was charge of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

FIRTH—Mrs. Anne Firth, aged 85, died this morning at 12 o'clock at her home, 435 Mt. Vernon street. Funeral services will be held from the home of the daughter of the deceased Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends invited. Funeral Director J. A. Weber in charge.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

Report of the Proceedings of To-day's Session

Mrs. Stevenson's Appeal for Prohibitory Amendment and Other Reforms — Mrs. Soule Taken Suddenly Ill — Program for This Evening

At the state convention of the W. C. T. U. now in session at the First Baptist church this city, the session of last night was designated "State Jubilee night."

The attendance was large, there being many visitors present both men and women. The county banners marking the delegates seats were in place so that there was no confusion.

The "jubilee session" was confined to five minute addresses by the presidents of the counties having made a gain in membership during the past year. There was also an address by Miss Elizabeth E. Gordon, national evangelist. There was an organ voluntary on the opening of the session by Mr. A. E. French and subsequently, a solo by Mr. E. R. Wirt and the singing of the state and county songs by the delegates.

Rev. Charles A. Merrill, secretary of the Law and Order league conducted the opening devotional exercises.

A delightful feature was the welcome of the Loyal Temperance legion, extended by six little members, in speech and song. The counties making gains in membership during the year, spoke through their presidents, as follows: Worcester county (North), Mrs. Harriet E. Sawyer. This union has made the largest gain, of 192 members. Middlesex county, Mrs. Abby F. Rolfe of Concord. Second largest gain.

Hampden county, Mrs. Martha L. Kneil of Westfield, third.

Bristol county, Mrs. Isadore L. Montgomery of Taunton, fourth.

Hampshire county, Mrs. C. E. L. Stearns of Amherst, fifth.

Stearns county, Mrs. J. C. Richards, president of Franklin county, was not present, but her union was on the winning side.

Mrs. Myra Taylor of Leicester, of Worcester county division, regretted that her county was not a leader, but she rejoined that Worcester, the largest in the world, having prohibition, is in the limits of her union.

Mrs. Mary W. Valentine of Nantucket spoke for Nantucket county. "The other" county presidents—those unions have made no gains.

during the year, were called upon for two-minute speeches.

Mrs. Phoebe R. Clifford spoke for Plymouth; Mrs. Ida S. Brown for Norfolk; Mrs. M. Elizabeth Heath for Berkshire; Mrs. Phoebe N. Taylor for Barnstable. Essex county was represented by Mrs. J. E. Conant & Co.

There was one $2 drunk and one offender was released.

PLEASANT SURPRISE PARTY
A very pretty social function was held at the home of Officer James Markham last night. The occasion was a surprise party in honor of his daughter, Miss Mary Markham, who was presented a beautiful gold bracelet. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Thomas Frawley, Miss Markham, although taken completely by surprise, managed to thank her friends in a neat manner. A fine program was carried out including reading by Miss Ruth Kirby; violin duet, by Miss Ethel Sharrow and Mr. William Kirby, accompanied by Miss Geneva Williams; song, Mr. John McElchey; piano solo, Miss Agnes McHugh; song, Miss Jennie Frawley, accompanied by Miss Stasia Lannon; song, Messrs. Frank and John Roane; song, Mr. Thomas Clark; song, Laura Markham, accompanied by Miss Mary Markham. Games were played and the party broke up at a late hour. The party was managed by Misses Stasia Lannon, Ruth Kirby, Jennie Frawley, Laura Gendron, May Dorothy.

YOUNG FARMER'S CRIME
NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 7.—John Richardson, a young farmer living near here today shot and killed his sister-in-law, Miss Josephine Cromwell. His father-in-law, Beverly Cromwell and committed suicide. Following domestic troubles Richardson and his wife separated last Friday.

RICHARD MOWER A DESERTER
Mayor Farnham is in receipt of a communication from the navy department to the effect that Richard Oliver Mower, who gave his residence as 275 Central street, this city, has deserted from the U. S. S. Hancock which is now lying in the Navy Yard at New York.

POLICEMAN WAS SUFFOCATED

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—After rescuing an aged woman from a burning house, early today, Policeman Nicholas Nester of Jersey City plunged again into the blazing building and met death by suffocation. Firemen found his body four hours afterward in an unburned part of the house.

MONSTER PARADE

Second Day of Great Celebration in Hartford

HARTFORD, Oct. 7.—Gay, expectant and filled with the carnival spirit, the thousands of visitors who are here for the Connecticut bridge dedication exercises were early astir this morning ready to enjoy to the full the second day's program.

This was the industrial day and the chief feature was the parade with between 5000 and 10,000 men in line marching with huge floats, portraying the industrial progress of the five towns that built the bridge. It was a magnificent spectacle and fully up to the standard of the inspiring pageants of the opening day. The column covered a distance of seven miles. The big factories here were all shut down to permit the employees to participate and business in general was suspended during the afternoon.

The big amphitheatre on the river front will be used tonight for the first time when a series of historical tableaux illustrating Connecticut in history from the period of the Dutch in possession to the visit of General Grant to this city in the '90's.

PLANS ARE MADE BISHOP TIERNEY

For Windup of Democratic Campaign Will be Buried Next Friday

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Plans for the final works of the democratic campaign were discussed at a conference of W. J. Bryan, National chairman, Messrs. La Follette and the various members of the national committee today. The conference was held in Mr. Bryan's room following his arrival from Iowa this morning. Mr. Bryan told the national committee that he felt convinced that the tide was still running strong for the democrats both in the west and east and that reports were growing more favorable day by day.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 7.—The body of the late Bishop Michael Tierney who died on Monday, was borne this afternoon from the Episcopal residence in Farmington avenue to St. Joseph's cathedral where it was placed on a catafalque to lie in state until the pontifical mass of requiem on Friday at which Archbishop O'Connell of Boston will pontificate.

In accordance with the expressed wish of the late bishop there will be no guard around the catafalque, although many of the societies of the diocese wished to perform this honor. The casket is a plain black wood with covered end. This evening the offices of the dead will be chanted by the priests of the diocese resident in Hartford and nearby parishes. The arrangements for the funeral services on Friday have not been completed.

THE CROWN PRINCE

Reported to Have Been Assassinated

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 7.—It is reported here that Prince Constantine of Greece, the crown prince, has been assassinated.

According to the reports he was slain at the army manoeuvres. I have been unable to get any further details.

No denial or confirmation of the report has as yet been obtained.

The report is so persistent that it obtains credence in official quarters here. Prince Constantine is the eldest son of King George, and has long been a popular idol of the Greeks.

He was born in 1853 and commanded the Greek army in the war with Turkey.

He was married in 1883 to Princess Sophia, a sister of the German Emperor. Three sons and one daughter blessed the union.

Prince Constantine always was an enthusiastic sportsman, and during the Olympic games in Athens he was a loyal supporter and comrade of the American athletes.

IN POLICE COURT

Today's Session Very Brief

This morning's police court session was very short, there being but few offenders in the dock.

Cornelius Sullivan pleaded for one more chance and said if he was placed on probation or given a suspended sentence he would leave town at once. He will leave town and his residence for the next few months will be the state farm at Bridgewater.

Edward Brady, who on Monday was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory and appealed, was in court this morning and withdrew his appeal.

George A. Vincent was charged with drunkenness and indecent exposure. He said that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing. He was sentenced to three months in jail.

EUGENE DEBS

WAS GREETED BY 20,000 PEOPLE IN LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Oct. 7.—Eugene Debs, socialist candidate for president, arrived here on the "red special" at 10:20 o'clock this morning from Concord, N. H. He was accompanied by a party of 25 in which were James Carey of Haverhill, candidate for governor, and George Hall, of Lowell, candidate for lieutenant governor.

About two thousand people had gathered in the freight yard at the North station to greet Mr. Debs and his party as they alighted from the special.

The presidential candidate addressed the enthusiastic crowd from a wagon stand, in a rapid, fiery speech of fifteen minutes in which he assailed the people in general with all his strength of eloquence and stinging sarcasm. He was received with a rousing applause and was heartily cheered as he boarded his train departing for Haverhill.

WANT UNION WITH GREECE

CANEA, Isle of Crete, Oct. 7.—The events in southeastern Europe, the independence of Bulgaria and the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina are having their results here. The Cretans are preparing a coup d'etat in favor of a union with Greece. Anything to this end may be expected at any moment.

DETROIT'S GAME

Chicago White Sox Went Down Before the Tigers

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Chicago's roseate dream of two pennants and a world's championship series all her own was given a horrible awakening yesterday. The American league flag was snatched away from the White Sox in the final game of the schedule, the Tigers putting the Sox to utter rout and winning 7 to 0. And by a decision rendered by the board of directors of the National league the championship of that organization rests upon the outcome of a game to be played between the Cubs and Giants in New York, Oct. 8. The tie game between the Cubs and Giants of Sept. 23 was ordered played off.

Monday Chicago was giving its order for two new pennant poles. Yesterday it mourned the loss of one title, and hoping that all may be well with the Cubs in their all-important struggle in New York.

Such a day for Chicago fans and such a state of affairs in the baseball world. The baseball fever had to break one way or the other, and it can't be said that the results had a Chicago feeling. With one pennant gone beyond possible redemption the outcome of the National league directors' meeting reduces the chances of the Cubs in a great measure.

In fact, things are in such a tangle that it is even possible that the Pittsburghs, who are supposed to have been put down and out by the Cubs in their concluding game of the schedule here last Sunday, may yet win the pennant.

Maddening Tangle

That is one of the phases of the maddening tangle which is befuddling the minds of the baseball-insane public.

Although the Pittsburgh team has disbanded and scattered to all parts of the country, it will be tied for the National league championship in case the New York Giants lose the last scheduled game to Boston and then win from the Cubs.

In such an event the Pirates would be brought together from the ends of the nation and placed into a three-cornered series with the Cubs and Giants for the possession of the National league flag, which little piece of bunting has caused the greatest strife ever known to the fans.

The Giants will lose to the Bostonians in all that is likely. Neither did 25,000 people who filled the South Side ball park yesterday, consider it likely that the Tigers could stop the savage Sox and race madly for the American league pennant as straight as a desperate assault could carry them.

Few in that tremendous throng expected to see the brilliant "Doc" White knocked out of the box in less than one round by the team he had hypnotized only two days before. Few thought it possible for the Tigers to continue their slugging at the expense of the mighty Ed. Walsh, and later to give the redoubtable Frank Smith a taste of the same medicine.

To add to the crushing blow, the White Sox fielders wavered and failed in the crucial situations at the start of the game. It was typical of the element of chance in baseball that the Tigers should score twice as many runs in the first inning yesterday as they had scored in the two previous games of the series.

The unexpected happened in all these cases, and what if such luck attend the Bostonians in their final game with New York? The Boston team is made up of disgruntled ex-New Yorkers, and it would be the joy of a lifetime if they succeeded in putting the Giants out of the running.

Whole Issue on One Game

The Cubs expected the board of directors of their league would go on further than to uphold the decision of Pres. Pulliam calling the now celebrated game of Sept. 23 a tie. But in providing for the playoff of the tie, which the executive did not do, the directors have put the whole issue on one game, whereas the Cubs thought they would have a series of three games to play, which undoubtedly would have been to the advantage of the Cubs on account of their superior pitching staff.

As things stand now the National league title will depend on the battle between Mordecai Brown and Christy Mathewson. The Cubs feel that in a series of some length they could better show their superiority over the Giants, but if the great Mathewson happens to have luck with him the flag might be lost to Chicago on this single game.

When Manager Chance of the Cubs heard from Pres. Murphy, who attended the Cincinnati meeting, he immediately sent out orders for his players to be ready to take the limited express this afternoon. In case the Cubs win at New York they may be ordered by the National baseball commission to Detroit to begin the world's series with the Tigers. If they lose they will come back to Chicago to play the White Sox for the city championship.

The score:
Innings ..... 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Detroit ..... 4 1 0 0 0 0 0 2—7

Two-base hit, Crawford. Three-base hit, Cobb. Hits, off White 3 in 14 innings, off Walsh 6 in 3 2-3 innings, off Smith 4 in 2 innings. Sacrifice hit, Cobb. Left on bases, Chicago 5, Detroit 8. First base on balls, off Donovan 3. Strike out, by White, by Donovan 10, by Walsh, by Smith 4. Umpires, Sheridan and Connolly. Time, 1h. 50 m.

DIAMOND NOTES

Pittsburgh fans were reported as going dippy Sunday and later dying with their boots on. A number of Boston followers of the National league race were in nearly the same condition.

Covaleski, the Eastern league recruit with Philadelphia, proved the undoing of the Giants and a find for the Phillies as he beat New York three times in the week.

The Boston National league team figures in the pennant race for the first time in the season. The playing of the Boston team will decide the winner of the pennant, although the team has no chance itself.

Marty O'Toole the former Brooklyn pitcher, who was put in for Cincinnati after Saturday's game was lost made a fine showing and held Chicago to two runs.

Manager Jesse Burkett is trying to land Pitcher Fullerton for the Worcester team next season as it is thought probable that Barberich will be drafted by some Eastern league club.

Catcher Osdek of the Boston Americans, will be one of the referees in the New England Roller Polo league this winter. He had some experience in the west last winter.

DETROIT TIGERS, WINNERS OF AMERICAN LEAGUE

The players in this group are as follows: 1, Mullin; 2, Donovan; 3, Willett; 4, Summers; 5, Thomas; 6, Rossman; 7, Coughlin; 8, McIntyre; 9, Killifer; 10, Crawford; 11, Schmidt; 12, D. Jones; 13, Killain; 14, Cobb; 15, O'Leary; 16, Schaeffer; 17, Jennings; 18, Downs.

Buffalo fans sit up and declare that the Herd will have a sure pennant winner next season.

The Elsons won the 1904 and 1906 pennants under the management of George Stallings, who piloted the New York Tigers so successfully last year.

The New York critics are a unit on the proposition that "whatever else may be said about Cubs they are about the gamest proposition that ever came down the pike."

"Aggressiveness is a great thing in baseball," says Frank Selee, "and McGraw is the personification of aggressiveness." Still Christy Mathewson is a wonderful help.

Neither Chance or Steinfieldt have hit up to form this season and this has hurt the Cubs badly. To make matters worse, Steinfieldt's fielding has not been up to the mark, either.

Pitcher Preister, of the Chicagoans, during the Boston series developed a sort of Charlie-horse in his pitching arm, the muscles knotting curiously and making the arm at times powerless.

Arthur Raymond, the cardinal pitcher, who has made a thorough study of the prohibition movement, has discovered a remedy for the side-door evil. "Keep the front doors open," says Arthur.

Cincinnati's southern recruit, Pitcher Ralph Savidge, is the son of a Berwick, Pa., minister; nevertheless he has no scruples about playing on Sunday. That's not surprising—from a minister's son.

Ralph Glaze has left for Rochester, N. Y., where he is to coach the Rochester university football team. Glaze said he was delighted with his treatment as Providence and hoped to be back with Hugh Duffy next season.

The New York "Press" is of the opinion that "it is a cinch there will be two managerial changes in the National league next season. The Curious Cardinals and the Remarkable Reds both will have new commanders. John McCloskey probably quitting the big leagues for good and John Gangel being retained in the capacity of private by Garry Hermann.

The New Yorkers have picked up several likely youngsters for next season in McIlveen, Cree, Gardner and O'Rourke. No wonder Griffith was figuring for 1909, for he had these men in mind all the time.

"JOHNNY" DUNN

Famous Manager in Town Today

George Bothner, the lightweight champion wrestler, with his manager, Johnny Dunn, called at this office today en route to Lawrence, where he is billed to meet Eugene Tremblay, of Montreal, before the Unity Cycle and Social club.

Bothner has never appeared in this vicinity, but as he is conceded to be the cleverest mat artist before the public, an exciting struggle for supremacy is likely to result. Dunn is willing to match Bothner against Jim Prokes, the local middleweight, provided the latter will agree to defeat him decisively within an hour, as he will agree to wrestle at catchweights. The New York manager was very anxious to meet George Gardner.

RACE IS CLOSER

Pittsburg Now Has a "Look In"

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Although the last regularly scheduled games of the National league season are to be played today the day will end with the race for the pennant still undecided. Post season games will be necessary in any event and there is even a possibility that Pittsburgh may yet win the year's baseball honors. Only one material game remained to be played today, that between New York and Boston on the National league grounds in this city.

Pittsburg's renewed hope lay in victory for the Bostonians today and a subsequent victory by New York over Chicago in the tie game play-off ordered by the board of directors of the league yesterday. That would leave New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh tied for first place. Should New York win today's game, making it three straight from Boston, Pittsburgh's hopes would be finally blunted.

New York and Chicago would be tied for first and the ownership of the pennant would be decided by the playoff of the tie game.

Today the interest is keener than ever and with fine weather promised for this afternoon a big crowd was looked for at the polo grounds.

BOXING GOSSIP

What appear to be about the best bouts of the week are those Jimmy Walsh and Johnny Coulton are to feature in and scheduled for next Friday.

Walsh meets Young Britt, a Baltimore bantamweight, who is regarded as the best little man ever developed in the Maryland city. The bout is one of 15 rounds, and if the Baltimore man lives up to the reputation he already enjoys Walsh will have no easy time of it.

Friday night, at Lexington, Ky., Marvin Hart, who is to meet Jack (Twin) Sullivan at the Armory, A. A. the 20th of this month, meets Hubert McGinnis, another Kentuckian, in a 10-round bout. The outcome will be settled with interest in Boston and will settle whether Hart is as good as he was when he showed here against Kid Carter some years ago in one of the fastest battles ever witnessed in New England between heavyweights.

Kid Goodwin, who appears to have gained his former fast gait, meets Bert Keyes at New York in a six-round contest. Judging from Keyes' performance here when he met Paddy McFarland and the form that Goodwin showed in his contest against Hyland, the West End boxer looks good to be returned a winner.

Al Kaufman will meet Fred Bradley at New York Friday night in a six-round bout. This will make the second meeting between these heavyweights. Their contest at Chelsea is one that will never be forgotten. Bradley has improved and in his last bout against Jim Barry was given credit for having the better of the contest.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Frank Eveland, president of the New York Automobile Trade Association, announced yesterday that the trade association would hold its first annual international hill climb up the Firt George hill on Saturday afternoon, October 17. President Eveland has appointed Richard Newton, Charles P. Skinner, C. E. Larson and Walter E. Lee a contest committee to formulate the rules and conditions to govern the competition. A departure from the usual method of classification will be made by the association and the drivers will be competition under horse power rating, together with the usual price classification.

At the meeting of the racing board of the American Automobile Association held in New York on Saturday, October 3, 1908, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas various persons have participated in races coming within the jurisdiction of the American Automobile Association but for which no sanctions had been granted by that association and whereas it appears from the statement of some of such persons that they participated in the said races under a misapprehension of the law:

"Resolved, That in the cases of such participants as were under the misapprehension referred to, their disqualification, pursuant to the rules of the racing board of the American Automobile Association, be suspended to the extent of enabling them to participate in any race already sanctioned by the racing board, upon such persons filing a statement to the effect that they shall not hereafter participate in any manner or form in any race claimed by the association to be within its sole jurisdiction and for which no sanction has been granted by the racing board of the American Automobile Association."

This resolution was undoubtedly adopted in order that there might be no misunderstanding regarding the status of a number of drivers that competed in the Brighton Beach meets and who wish to compete in the Motor Parkway Sweepstakes next Saturday. It had been the general impression that drivers who competed in the first twenty-four hour race of the Motor Racing Association had disqualified themselves without further action.

EUGENE V. DEBS HELPING MR. TAFT.

The address of Eugene V. Debs, the socialist candidate for the presidency, delivered on the common Monday, was not quite so inflammatory as was anticipated. True, Mr. Debs labored to impress upon the workingmen that they are in a state of serfdom; that the other two great political parties exist only to aid the capitalists, and the monopolists who rob the workingmen, and that neither party has ever done a single thing for the working class. Furthermore, he asserted that they never would do anything for the working class and that the latter would have to emancipate themselves by voting for the socialist party.

After telling them that they were slaves, he told his hearers that they have the power in their own hands if they only use it, and so they have. That being so, they are in every sense free men and not slaves. Every man vested with the right of citizenship in this republic has equal rights before the law with every other. The man whom Mr. Debs asserts is a slave because he has to work for somebody else has a vote for the rulers of the state and nation, and the president of the United States has no more.

The laboring man, therefore, call him slave or what you will, exercises an equal share of the sovereignty of the people with the highest dignitary in the land. Where then is the slavery? It all consists in working for another rather than yourself, according to the socialist theory.

What is the socialist remedy for this state of affairs?

As Mr. Debs laid it down it was as follows:—

"If this platform offered by the socialists gets into power the mills you work in and the different sources of wealth will be transferred to you. Instead of being a slave you will rise to the plane of masters. You will not only be the ruling class, but you will be the only class."

That is certainly a very catchy platform; for every man who believes it to be practicable or even possible will be prompted from selfish motives to favor this idea of holding property in common. It is particularly attractive to those who never had any property of their own and who if given their quota of the national wealth tomorrow would soon gravitate back to their old station in which they had nothing and could keep nothing.

In times of panic it is easy to inflame the minds of ignorant people by telling them they are slaves, "worse than the slaves of the south before the civil war," as a speaker who followed Mr. Debs argued at considerable length.

Mr. Debs himself told his hearers that the working class is but as merchandise in the hands of the capitalists, and the sentiment was received with expressions of approval.

It is a common practice of socialist orators to tell the toilers that they are treated like so many cattle by the capitalists, all of which is erroneous, and is dangerous doctrine to spread broadcast throughout this country.

No wonder that a member of the party was heard to say, "we are like the horses crowded out by automobiles. They are making new machines to do our work."

It is a deplorable thing to have men believe that because they have to work they are enslaved, and that their employers rob them of the fruits of their industry which socialism would have held in common.

The socialists are wrong in saying that the democratic party is as bad as the republican, and that neither has ever done anything for the working class. The democratic party has always favored every labor reform advocated by the leading labor organizations of the country.

Were it otherwise, would President Gompers and John Mitchell be out advocating the election of William Jennings Bryan, the democratic candidate?

Gompers, Mitchell and other astute leaders who have gone below the gaudy surface of socialism, see its dangers and its impracticable delusions, and consequently oppose the system root and branch.

But how does Mr. Debs meet the necessarily large expense of traveling around the country in a special train? Who pays for his princely tour? Is it the socialists or the leaders of the republican party? There are people in this city who believe that it is a republican scheme, and a desperate one, if so, to have Mr. Debs go through the country to offset the influence of Gompers and other labor leaders in favor of the democratic ticket. It is well known that most of those who will vote the socialist ticket have been voting the democratic ticket for years. Debs' campaign is to draw men from the democratic party, so as to defeat Bryan and ensure the election of Taft. Would that emancipate the laboring people? Certainly not, and yet that is the only result that can follow a stampede from the democratic to the socialist party.

THE MISSION OF THE W. C. T. U.

The people of Lowell are in sympathy with the work of the Women's Christian Temperance Union now in convention in this city. All the aims of that organization tend to the uplifting of humanity; and the effort of a society 500,000 strong along humane and christian lines must accomplish a vast amount of good.

The address of the state president, Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson, was a splendid exposition of the work and a clarion call to the women of the world to unite their efforts in the cause of temperance, for social purity, for abolishing the suggestive medical advertisements and offensive billboards.

The Sun for many years has eliminated the objectionable medical "ads" and it has also denounced the offensive billboards, while at the same time absolutely refusing all advertisements of liquor saloons and the liquor business. We are, therefore, in a position to wish the W. C. T. U. God-speed in its good work.

SEEN AND HEARD

The following is from the church notices of last week; paragraph pulpit, First Unitarian church:

It is a fine thing to be loyal to one's country. For that loyalty renders it more beautiful, makes it a better place to live in, and produces men and women that widen its influence beyond its natural boundaries. But the tendency of modern days is to deny it. And if men think merely of their city, they will not be inspired to do or sacrifice anything for it. Only a deeper realization of the best spirit of its past will help form the nobler civic pride so essential to make any city what it can and should be. If Athens needed Pericles, she needed no less the love of all her citizens in attaining her full development. In every city not merely the board of government but the people as well need this civic pride. Our city needs it, and it should inspire us all to make Lowell a better place to live in and more worthy of its best traditions.

How distinctly opposite these words are to the words of the other local preacher who said that he had seen more drunkenness in Lowell than in any of the cities visited by him in Europe, Asia or America.

Honesty and simplicity are beautiful if not overdrawn out. Sometimes, like the rubber band they are badly stretched. The little story that we are about to tell has to do with a poor wash woman who overheard a few words that passed between man and wife at a house where she had been called in to do the washing. "I was never a buttinsky," she said, "but I couldn't help hearing a little of the conversation that passed between the man and woman of the house where I washed a few days ago. If there was ever a villain born into this world that man is one and the sweetest tempered creature that ever drew the breath of life. They had been talking and try as I would I couldn't but hear a little that was being said and when that villain got ready to go and just as he was leaving the house he said to her, says he, 'I'm going to the Lion and the Mouse' and you can go to the 'Devil.' I don't know what kept me from plastering his face with soap suds, the dirty coward. And she, poor sweet little thing never said a word in return, in fact, she was smiling all the time. I wouldn't do another washing for that fellow if he gave me his house."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Collier's Weekly (Republican): "The election and subsequent death of Mr. Taft would mean the occupancy of the White House by an official fat-fryer who has during several years past approached, with deferential hat in hand, the president or treasurer of most of the large corporations in the country. It was in the course of this official function that Sherman was profanely turned down by Mr. Harrington, with bitter denunciation of the republican party and reeking messages for and the head of it had not been grateful for the $250,000 which Mr. Harrington collected and gave in 1904. Penrose, as one of the executive committee of the republican campaign, is an error of taste and judgment, but not a great deal worse. With T. Coleman Dupont, of Delaware, however, the case differs. Among the combinations now being presented by the federal government is that aggregation of companies known as the powder trust. Mr. Dupont is president of the $50,000,000 Dupont Powder company, president of the $10,000,000 International Powder company, director of the International Smokeless Powder company, and vice president of the holding company, the Delaware Securities company, which owns a majority of the stock of the Laffin and Rand Powder company."

"Suppose that Mr. Taft, being successful, should be approached by Mr. Dupont thus: 'I am one of the ten men, including Chairman Hitchcock, who have put you over the plate. I don't want to be reminding you continually of the obligation; there is one small piece of patronage I should like, and I shall speak to you about patronage again during your administration. There is a deserving young friend of mine whom I should like to have appointed to the position lately held by'

A SIMPLE BUT SURE METHOD OF DEVELOPING A WELL-ROUNDED BUST AND FIGURE.

A Rare Prescription

Which Transforms Plainness into Rarest Beauty.

It is a simple but sure method of developing the bust, arms, neck, hips and shoulders of women, who through some defect of nutrition and circulation are forever being humiliated by their more fortunate sisters. First, it must be understood that the human skin is an enormous gland, richly endowed with nerves, secreting and excreting organs, and a network of minute blood vessels which contain at one time over one-third of all the blood in the body—that is, if nature is perfect.

The relation of the skin to the vital organs through the nervous system, controlling the blood supply, is such as to make them as a team working together. Being in such close relation to the nervous system, it follows that a powerful, rich, nerve stimulating nourishment, will result in immediate blood supply and flesh growth at the parts treated, thus bringing about the most beautiful changes and development.

Get separately two ounces glycerine, three ounces of rosewater, one ounce tincture cadomene compound and five cents worth of borax. Mix the glycerine with the rosewater, shake and let stand two hours; then add a teaspoonful of borax and the rosewater. Apply to the parts needing development morning and night, rubbing until thoroughly absorbed; then wash off with hot water and soap, and dry.

It is believed by expert dermatologists to be the most effective prescription ever conceived for the purpose. 11N. Hurs touchlin G. OKAMING

Mr. Purdy, in charge of that bureau of the department of justice which is seeking to break up my company, deprive me of some of my property, and declare me a violator of the law."

Something analogous would have been the presence of Henry Thaw two years ago on a committee of ten to collect funds and promote the election of Jerome as district attorney.

A minority plank calling for a statutory provision for publicity of campaign expenditures was thrown out of the committee on resolutions by a vote of 82 to 1, and was rejected on the floor of the convention by a vote of 88 to 24—Nebraska and Idaho and parts of Wisconsin and Indiana favoring it. The amount of Bourbonism still left in the republican party is far too large."

ONE CORPORATE PERVERSION

Worcester Post: The public service commission of New York in its annual report gives the particulars of the articulation of ownership in the great expense companies. It finds more than $4,000,000 of their stocks held by one another—a perversion of corporate power that the law should never permit. The American company is stated to hold all but $16,000 of the stock of the National and in like measure in some of the smaller ones.

It is of course a situation in which are to be expected impositions on other business such as the last few months have witnessed.

By the way when is our railroad commission going to wake from its slumber on the subject?

PEOPLE OF NOTE

The movement to found a memorial for John Chandler Harris, the delightful and beloved Uncle Remus, receives substantial encouragement in the check of $1,000 sent by Thomas F. Ryan.

E. W. Townsend of "Chimie Fadden" fame will seek election to congress, having been nominated by the democrats of the seventh New Jersey district.

The Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann of Trinity Episcopal church, Boston, who has been elected bishop of the New England Episcopal diocese of Washington, is a native of New York and about 35 years of age. He is a graduate of Hobart college and the General Theological seminary. In 1885 he went to the Grace church, Orange, N. Y., as associate rector, and later on the death of Dr. Schuyler, rector. In 1905 he went to Boston as rector of Trinity church.

Professor George E. Horr, who has been for several years an instructor at the Newton Theological institution, has become acting president. Dr. Wood will continue his connection with the institution in an advisory capacity until Jan. 1, when Professor Horr will be formally made president.

Mrs. E. A. Selfridge, the mother of Lieutenant Thomas E. Selfridge, who was accidentally killed in the Wright ship experiment at Fort Meyer, Va., has bought her two younger sons, Woodward and John Selfridge, to ton to enter the Institute of Technology. Mrs. Selfridge will return to California.

Miss Mabel Sturtevant has just been admitted to practice at the bar at Jefferson City, Mo. Her record as a student is remarkable. She was graduated as valedictorian from the High school. Later she won scholarships in Baker university and in Kansas City university and the curator's scholarship in the University of Missouri. Since enrolling in 1905 she has taken both the law and the academic course and will receive her degree next June.

To improve the quality of its habutal (fine Japanese silk) the Full Gas Cotton Spinning company has obtained the services for three years at a salary of $11,580 a year, of a French weaving expert. Success will enable Japanese silk to compete with French silk in the great market among the Farces of India.

Annie Russell is likely to reappear in Boston shortly and in a new play, "The Stronger Sex" that was long and generally liked in London last season. It gives Miss Russell the part of a young American woman whom an Englishman has seduced and bids him win her anew in manly fashion. At the beginning she is of stronger sex; at the end he has regained the title for his own kind.

When Mr. Warfield reappeared in San Francisco the other day and for the first time since he became an actor of note, his audience remembered that 15 years before he had gone from the city to make his way in the world, saw how admirably and modestly he had made it, and applauded him unstintingly. Mr. Warfield even made a broken speech. The play was "The Music Master."

CONZOLO KILLED

A Lawrence Man Was Caught in Shafting

LAWRENCE, Oct. 7.—Giovanni Conzolo, 25, of 20 Newbury street, was killed in the scouring room of the Washington mills yesterday afternoon by being caught in the shafting. His head was badly crushed.

Conzolo had been in this country about six years. At one time he conducted a grocery, but did not prosper and went to work in the mill. He leaves a wife and two children.

WHISTLER HOUSE

Subscription for Refitting the Place

The project for refitting the Whistler house in Worthen street as a memorial has attracted wide attention and yesterday the Lowell Art Association received subscriptions from Paris and New York.

One of the subscriptions came from three ladies living in Paris at the present time, the Misses Frances, Ellen and S. H. Dabney. The other was a gift of $50 from Samuel Untermyer of New York. Work on the Whistler house has now reached the painting and papering stage. W. H. Brierly having charge of the work. It is hoped that the rooms intended to be rented to clubs and art-workers may be ready within a few weeks, and that the whole house may be thrown open for dedication by the holidays.

BILLERICA

The North Billerica fire department was summoned about 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon for a fire in the woods near the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad. The damage was slight.

M. Poprikoff, the Bulgarian minister of foreign affairs, has sent a cable despatch to The Associated Press, giving an authoritative explanation of the Bulgarian situation which is now absorbing the attention of Europe and the world at large. The despatch to The Associated Press, giving questioning M. Poprikoff to send an official statement of the facts. His answer, dated today at the ancient capital of Bulgaria, is as follows:

"Tirnov, Bulgaria, Oct. 6.
"Pursuant to the treaty of Berlin, Bulgaria has been a principality, tributary to Turkey. Many years ago Bulgaria acquired the right to have diplomatic representatives accredited to all the great powers. She maintained such representative at Constantinople. Until recently the diplomatic representatives of Bulgaria to Turkey were invited, with the other members of the diplomatic corps in Constantinople, to all official ceremonies, receptions and dinners. On the 12th of last September, the occasion being the anniversary of the sultan's birthday, the Turkish minister of foreign affairs gave a dinner to the diplomatic corps, to which the diplomatic representative of Bulgaria was not invited. Steps were at once taken to secure an explanation of this neglect. The Ottoman government replied that the Bulgarian representative had no right to expect an invitation to this diplomatic dinner, as Bulgaria was a vassal state of Turkey."

"There then followed a diplomatic conflict between Bulgaria and Turkey. Bulgaria considered that Turkey was not respecting the rights acquired by her, and she desired to defend these rights. This was the first incident. The Oriental Railroad company operates 300 kilometers (186 miles) of line in Bulgarian territory. The same company operates also about 1000 (621 miles) of line in Turkish territory. A recent strike on the property of the Oriental railroad company in Turkey spread at the same time to Bulgarian territory. The strike was decided upon and directed from outside of Bulgaria. Following an understanding with the representative of the Oriental railroad company, the Bulgarian government took over temporarily the running of the road. The strike, however, spread until the national security of Bulgaria was threatened and the people became discontented with the state of affairs."

"It then became the duty of the Bulgarian government to continue running the road and we asked the company to sell its rights in Bulgaria, in accordance with an understanding reached between the government and the company ten years ago. Turkey then pretended that the line was her property and in a note the Turkish government demanded that the line be returned to the company. The Bulgarian government replied that it would treat only with the company. This was the second conflict."

"This situation imposed upon the Bulgarian government the necessity of fixing definitely the relations between the principality and Turkey. The new regime in Turkey made it imperative for Bulgaria to maintain the best of relations with her neighbors, especially with the Turkish empire, without delay, to declare her complete independence. Consequently yesterday, October 5, Bulgaria was proclaimed an independent kingdom, and Prince Ferdinand accepted the title of king of Bulgaria. This act was communicated to all the great powers by proclamations declaring that Bulgaria was independent. Bulgaria has no aggressive aims. She has given regular form to a situation that already existed de facto."

"We believe that the powers will approve the proclamation of Bulgaria to be an independent kingdom. This act need in no way trouble the peace of Europe or the Balkans. The powers, who desire peace in Europe and particularly those who desire the maintenance of the new regime in Turkey, will be the more convinced of the truth of what I say as soon as they are satisfied that it is Bulgaria's hopes, by this act, to find in the strengthening of this regime."

(Signed)
"Minister of Foreign Affairs."

PROCLAMATION

TO BE ISSUED BY EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH

VIENNA, Oct. 7.—The proclamation of Emperor Francis Joseph, will be issued today, declaring that the Austro-Hungarian rights of sovereignty and succession have been extended over Bosnia and Herzegovina. The new imperial provinces will be informed in the proclamation that they will be given a constitution and a special diet.

"When a generation ago our troops crossed the boundaries of your country, you were assured that they came not as enemies but as friends, with a firm resolution to put a stop to the ills from which your fatherland for so many years so severely suffered. This promise was given in a solemn moment and was faithfully kept. It was the steadfast endeavor of our government in peaceful efforts to lead the land to a happier future."

"To our great pleasure we can say that the seed which was then scattered in the furrow of ploughed soil has come up richly. You yourselves must feel the benefits of a situation whereby order and security have taken the place of force and oppression. Trade and communications are steadily spreading; the civilization of a wider education has made itself felt, and every man may enjoy the fruits of his labors under the protection of a well-ordered government."

"We consider it our most solemn duty to move forward along the path, and with that goal before our eyes we are of the opinion that the time has come to give inhabitants of both countries fresh proof of our trust in their political maturity."

The emperor has also addressed a rescript to Baron Von Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, in which he says:
"Being imbued with the unalterable conviction that the lofty, civilizing and political objects for which the Austro-Hungarian monarchy undertook the occupation and administration of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and at the same time which that administration has already obtained with costly sacrifices can be permanently secured only by granting the constitutional institutions corresponding to their needs—institutions for the setting up of which, the establishment of a clear and unequivocal legal position for the two provinces forms an indispensable condition."
"I extend my sovereignty over Bosnia and Herzegovina and, at the same time, bring into force in those provinces the rules of administration applying to my house."
"As a demonstration of the peaceful purposes which have led me to this inevitable decree, I at the same time order the evacuation of the Sanjak of Novi Pazar by the troops of my army stationed therein."

The rescript is signed by the emperor and dated at Budapest, October 5, 1908.
A second rescript, addressed to the Austrian minister of finance, Baron Burian von Rajecz, by the emperor, says:
"I have decided to give practical effect to the rights of my sovereignty, as well as the succession of my house in the case of Bosnia and Herzegovina."

The rescript directed the minister to issue a proclamation to the people of these provinces, assuring them the full measure of civil rights, liberty of person and conscience, security of property, respect for their customs, liberty of the press, the right of emigration, petition and association, the administration of the law by competent judges and the establishment of a representative assembly.

High officials state that annexation is irrevocable. Austria even is unwilling to participate in an international conference, unless assured that the matter will not be discussed at all. The powers, they say, have been conquered by Austrian culture; the Austrian sword must remain with the dual monarchy.

The present situation is as follows: Turkey calls upon the powers to preserve to her what they guaranteed by the treaty. Austria and Bulgaria strongly declare their determination to keep what they have taken. Serbia is protesting belatedly against being hemmed in more strongly between two unpopular neighbors and against having the Serbians in Bosnia absorbed into the Austro-Hungarian nationality. The other powers concerned in the Berlin treaty are discussing the holding of an international conference, a mere preliminary of which the present situation is one of the most delicate problems. Turkey's unexpected restrained policy minimizes the possibilities of war, which now is considered out of the question.

The English papers unite in praising Turkey's moderation and in denouncing Austria.

A conference of the powers is expected to be held within two or three months if it can be arranged, but no one imagines that it will undo this week's work. Austria, indeed, even to discuss annexation and the most that is expected is some arrangement that will be made to Turkey and that guarantees to be given against further disturbance of the status quo.

HUMANE SOCIETY

AGENT RICHARDSON SUBMITTED REPORT TO MEMBERS

The regular monthly meeting of the Lowell Humane society was held yesterday afternoon at the office of the society, 11 Central street. This was the first meeting after the summer months and there was little business of importance transacted.

Agent Charles F. Richardson read his report which included the work he performed in July, August and September.

Agent Richardson said that in his opinion, the conditions in the city were showing marked improvement, and President P. P. Marble said that he noted an increased activity among the people in watching for cases of neglect in the care of animals.

The directors informally discussed the plan for holding a work-horse parade in Lowell on May 30th next and a committee was appointed to investigate the feasibility of the plan and report at the next meeting.

Ending in a scene of confusion, the wrestling bout between Young Prokos and Charley Conkle of Hamilton, Ont., at Associate hall last night was declared a "no contest" by Referee Two. They after one of the bitterest struggles ever seen in this city. The men wrestled for one hour and a half, neither securing any decided advantage with in that period. At the conclusion of that time the tactics employed were becoming so rough, working the crowd into a fever pitch, that the match was declared off and the greatest excitement on the part of the spectators. Very little wrestling developed at any stage of the affair. However, the Canadian proved beyond question that at least in point of skill he is Prokos' master. Time and again the local man secured a hold, but Conkle always managed to extricate himself before any injury could result. Conkle's best hold was a full Nelson which, secured on Prokos, but the latter, with a magnificent display of strength, withstood the tremendous pressure and finally broke away. Conkle's other times Conkle would secure a face hold and apply such force it would seem that Prokos' face would be massaged into a different style of beauty than it at present appears.

For the first half hour the Greek was the aggressor, but never had a chance of securing a fall, Conkle taking things easy and letting his rival do the work. Then the positions were reversed but with the same result. Conkle on his part being unable to do anything with the local grappler. Later Prokos became the aggressor and tried again to place his opponent's shoulders to the mat via the foot hold route. This not succeeding, and as over an hour had passed in this manner, the Greek gave up trying for practically any sort of a hold and being on top contented himself with making his opponent's head and face on the mat until the latter's physiognomy was covered with blood. After receiving this treatment for a while the Hamilton man began to retaliate as vigorously as his cramped position would allow.

Meanwhile Prokos' fellow countrymen evidently were unprepared for the display showing Conkle was making and did not take kindly to it, for suddenly one of them jumped into the ring and dealt the Hamiltonian a heavy blow on the back. This precipitated an up-bellied among the spectators and the bout was stopped by the referee.

So intense was the feeling displayed by the Greeks that it was necessary for the police to escort the Canadian to his dressing room and then guard the door. Afterward the crowd quietly dispersed and Conkle returned to his hotel unmolested.

AUTO NOTES

their action by the A. A. A. racing board, as the meet was not sanctioned by the American Automobile Association. That this impression was erroneous is proved by the A. A. A. racing board resolution, which reads: "The American Automobile Association, in its capacity as a national organization, has no authority to interfere with the racing of automobiles on the roads of any state or territory, and it is the policy of the association to encourage the improvement of the roads of the country."

The road leading from the Wendell Bridge at the Tonawanda Creek through Getzville and connecting with the Main street road at the first road west of Snyder's house, and about two-thirds completed, and in all probability will be finished this year. The Niagara County Board of Supervisors has ordered the improvement of the road from Wendell Bridge to the other side of the Tonawanda Creek through Pendleton Centre to the Lockport city line, and when this is accomplished motorists will have a considerably shorter route between Buffalo and Lockport.

Members of the leading automobile clubs of Illinois are making preparations to renew the campaign in favor of good roads throughout the state. A bill is now ready to be introduced into the legislature, providing that certain motor vehicles be taken for the improvement of Illinois' highways. It is understood the proposed bill will have a convict clause which is said to serve a double purpose, that of solving the problem of maintenance of the prisoners by giving them out of door employment, and also to benefit the people by improving the roads. It is said the convicts will be furnished with tools and materials for the improvement of the roads, and the materials have agreed to haul material at a nominal price.

"Illinois is most backward in the building of good roads," declares Ira M. Cobb, president of the Chicago Automobile club, who is chairman of the committee of affairs that Illinois, which is the leader in so many things should be the worst state of its class in the union when its highways are considered. There are no roads like those of Illinois. Even little Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine, where the physical conditions are so discouraging, can make Illinois ashamed of itself, when good roads is the subject. This is the only state of any standing in the country which has not a good roads statute, and it will be the purpose of the automobilists and others who are in a position to know of the conditions, to use every influence possible during the coming winter to pass a bill in the legislature for improvements."

"Bachelor automobiles," as a young woman dubbed motorcycles, have been advancing in popularity and multiplying in number to such an extent that the police are becoming more and more discouraged, can make Illinois ashamed of itself, when good roads is the subject. This is the only state of any standing in the country which has not a good roads statute, and it will be the purpose of the automobilists and others who are in a position to know of the conditions, to use every influence possible during the coming winter to pass a bill in the legislature for improvements."

Professional football has small chance of being revived this year at Canton, O., or at Pittsburg and Homestead, Pa., which places were the professional's stronghold.

"Hucky" Vail, with whom Harvard teams always experienced so much trouble when he used to officiate at West Point, is coaching the Eastham, Ind. team and will referee few eastern college games this fall.

"Hurry Up" Yost of Michigan, who has had his 11 most promising players at an up-country lake, has just brought them back to college. He is sanguine as ever that his team will beat Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, Nov. 14.

Danforth is well represented by coaches at New England college football camps. John Clark is at Exeter, N. H.; H. H. Barker at Massachusetts state college, U. N. Barker at Coburn and M. A. Barker at University of Vermont.

Jack Minto, who will umpire the Yale-Princeton game, was one of the greatest backstops in college football. He was the selection of Minto is an indication of latter feeling between the three colleges, as Yale and Princeton hereafter never have had officials from Pennsylvania.

The Harvard coaches aren't finding it altogether an easy matter to make a good tackle of McKay, the former Andover and Harvard freshman player. With all his strength and physique McKay is slow to learn how to use them, and apparently is placing considerable importance on what he thinks he already knows.

AMERICAN FLEET

The Itinerary From Manila to Hampton Roads Approved

MANILA, Oct. 5.—Rear-Admiral Sperry has received from the navy department his approval of the itinerary from Manila to Hampton Roads as submitted to the department by him. It follows:

Leave Manila Dec. 1, arrive Colombo Dec. 14, leave Colombo Dec. 20, arrive Suez Jan. 5.
In the Mediterranean the fleet will divide. The Connecticut and the Vermont will go to Velefranchia, arriving there Jan. 14 and leaving Jan. 27.
The Minnesota and Kansas will go to Marseilles, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.
The Georgia, Nebraska and Kentucky will go to Genoa, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.
The Rhode Island and New Jersey will go to Leghorn, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.
The Louisiana and Virginia will go to Malta, arriving Jan. 15 and leaving Jan. 27.

Jan. 19, thence to Algiers, arriving Jan. 22 and leaving Jan. 30.
The Ohio and Missouri will go to Athens, arriving Jan. 19 and departing Jan. 25.
The Wisconsin, Illinois and Kansas will go to Naples, leaving there Jan. 27.
The first division will arrive at Negro bay Jan. 31 and start for Gibraltar Feb. 3. It will leave Gibraltar February 6.
The second, third and fourth divisions will arrive at Negro bay Feb. 1 and leave Feb. 6 for Hampton Roads.
Strong objection is being made here to the departure of the fleet Dec. 1 without a proper opportunity to carry out the program of entertainment which has been prepared and which was postponed on account of the presence of cholera in this city.
It is expected that representations would be made to both Rear-Admiral Sperry and the navy department on the subject.

Miss M. T. Blanchard and the following program was given: Business; report of the Loyal Temperance Legion Branch Quiz; report of the Young Women's branch; quiz; solo, Mrs. George H. Spaulding; department quiz, A. A. Newton; work among soldiers and sailors; Mrs. E. J. Heard; work among lumbermen; Sabbath observance; Mrs. Lydia B. Earle; pledges for state work; introduction of guests and fraternal delegates; music; notices.

W. C. T. U.

Continued.

Miss Elizabeth P. Gordon told optimistic stories. Illustrating the W. C. T. U. work and the recent successes in the southern states.
The evening session closed about 9 o'clock with the reading of notices the doxology and the benediction.
The following important portion of Mrs. Stevenson's address was crowded out of yesterday's edition:
"If I were to have by part in shaping the policy of Massachusetts for the coming year, I should advise a concentration of effort on work for prohibition, spelling with a capital P. I have become firmly convinced that we shall gain nothing by longer working with the thing of shreds and patches, our present high license law. The results of our last three legislative sessions have gone to show that we have nothing to hope for from men elected by a license constituency. And even if we had succeeded in passing the measures for which we have so valiantly worked, how much nearer would we be to the final solution of our great problem? District option, the lessening of licenses, better restrictions for the sale by druggists and grocers, these are all measures of palliation and not of prevention only. Nothing less than the total abolition of the liquor traffic will meet the real needs of the state. Why should we not try our short cut to this supreme and thorough working for prohibition, pure and simple, I earnestly trust that this convention may lay down as its chief line of work for the coming year an effort to secure the submission of a prohibitory amendment to the state constitution to the voters of Massachusetts. Side by side with that let us work for women's suffrage and all needed things will be added to these two vital issues."

The fearful statements made in the last issue of the Ladies Home Journal may well cause us to pause and ask what more can the Woman's Christian Temperance union do for the cause of purity? If even one half of the statistics are correct it is a matter which may well send us to our knees before God in an agony of prayer for the future of the American nation. What hope is there for a people, the very fountain head of whose life is thus corrupted? The unions have not been as active in this department during the past two or three years and I earnestly hope there may be a revival of interest in this most important work. Combined with the work commonly known as that of the Purely department, there should be carried on an aggressive propaganda throughout the state for the cleansing of our bill boards and our papers from objectionable advertisements. Too much cannot be said in praise of the papers which have already taken a stand in this respect. Let us show our appreciation in such practical form, by speaking words of commendation.

Forenoon Session
The session of this forenoon opened at 9 o'clock with a prayer meeting. Mrs. H. D. Walker being the leader. The convention was then called to order by the state president, Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson. This was followed by singing and prayer by Miss M. L. Nichols. There were then readings of the previous meetings and a preliminary report of the committee on credentials.

At 10:15 o'clock the superintendents of the several departments were given seven minutes each to answer questions as to the present plans and latest advancement of their work, which included discussions on legislation. Mrs. Janette Hill Knox spoke of Christian citizenship; Mrs. F. E. Britton, franchise, peace and international relations; Mrs. A. J. Hawkes and Mrs. J. W. Morse, temperance and social meetings and red cross days and Mrs. S. W. Simpson on flower raising and the reading of the report of the Frances E. Willard settlement by Miss Caroline M. Caswell. Mrs. Augusta R. Brigham spoke on fair and open air meetings and Miss Jennie F. Earnshy on "Mercy". The state president, Mrs. Stevenson, spoke on the purity in literature and art and was followed by Mrs. Abby F. Reiff on "Mothers' meetings." There was a general discussion on the cooperation with missionary societies and state officers.

At 11:30 o'clock there was a memorial service in which a proposition was taken by Dr. Vesta D. Miller. Mrs. E. Trusk Hill, Mrs. Jennie F. Hatch, Mrs. Clarence D. Britton. After the noonday prayers there was a birthday thank offering. The transaction of important business, announcements and adjournment followed.

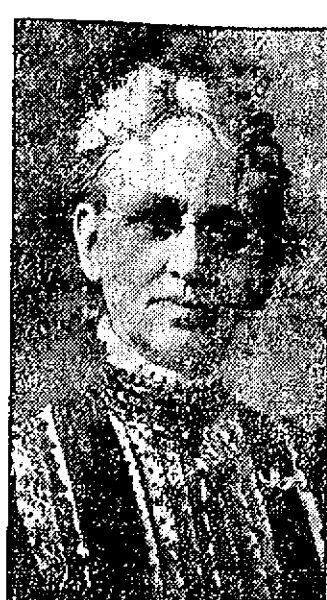

At 2 p. m. the convention was again called to order by State President Mrs. Stevenson. After the rendition of a vocal selection prayer was offered by

In the annual report of State Corresponding Secretary Mrs. Janette Hill Knox it was shown among other things that there are now in Massachusetts 248 unions. Fourteen of these are more than $10,000 has been used for the promotion of the work during the past year, for state, county, national and world work. There are over 600 honorary members, fathers, brothers and sons of members. The secretary also made mention of the fact that the state president has been called to carry the gospel of temperance into all the world, especially through the schools and colleges; that

CONVENTION NOTES

The "department quiz" scheduled for this morning was taken yesterday afternoon out of order. On "Legislation" Mrs. Janette Hill Knox said that more success has been gained in prohibition, than in legislation, "and you know the reason why," she added. In answer to the question "What has the state done?" Mrs. Knox said, "It has done nothing." A national triumph has been the prohibition of the sale of intoxicants in the soldiers' homes.

The hostesses of the occasion are: Mrs. H. C. Rolfe, president of the Middlesex County W. C. T. U., and Mrs. J. W. Clark, president of the Lowell W. C. T. U. The chairmen of the committees are: Mrs. E. W. Clark, general chairman; Miss Adelaide E. Noyes, entertainment; Mr. J. S. Brooks, catering; Miss Ella Penn, information bureau and postoffice; Mrs. C. member the constituency she represents and try to carry home all possible help to them. The Golden Rule constitutes the supreme law of this convention; subsidiary to that we are governed by "Roberts' Rules of Order."

Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, state president, sails on her foreign tour in four weeks. She was last night presented on the platform a small flag to carry with her.

It is estimated there are 500,000 members of the W. C. T. U. in the world and a little over 9,000 in Massachusetts.

Display cards were conspicuously arranged about the corridors of the church and one of them bore the following problem in arithmetic: "I am not much of a mathematician," said the elgar, "but I can add to a man's nervous troubles, I can subtract from his physical energy, I can multiply his aches and pains, I can divide his mental powers. I take interest from his work and discount his chances for success."

VERY QUIET DAY

There is Little Doing at City Hall

Today was a very quiet day in city hall circles. Mayor Farnham was taking matters easily when a representative of The Sun dropped in on him and the principal thing on his mind was what he was missing by not being at the Founders' Week celebration at Philadelphia.

"Mat" Dowling, clerk of committees, said that matters were so dull that his department was unable to pay expenses, but Treasurer Stiles wore a broad smile and with the assistance of his clerks was taking in the "long green" due on tax bills which had been sent out.

Auditor Paige was full of business on his monthly accounts, but it was all routine business. Even City Clerk Darnall said that business was bad and the matrimonial market is at a very low ebb.

Agent Bates of the board of health said that there were two new cases of typhoid fever, but that the number of cases is slowly dropping off and it looks as though the epidemic of typhoid is over.

The principal thing that is occupying City Messenger Pattee's mind is how long the superior civil session is going to sit for his first assistant is on the jury.

THE LYNN STRIKE

Is in a Fair Way of Being Settled Soon

LYNN, Oct. 7.—The apparent willingness of both the union officials and the members of the Joseph Caunt company, the contending sides to the original controversy which brought about the strike of 1500 lasters in most of the shoe shops in this city, to discuss the situation on even terms was accepted in shoe circles in this city today as indicating an early settlement of the strike. This settlement, however, is expected to be only temporary and to be effective only until the drawing up of a new working agreement between the union and the manufacturers. However, it was almost certain before the calling of the conference which had been appointed for today between the Caunt firm and union officials that most of the striking lasters would return to work pending the outcome of the arrangement of a new scale of prices.

The point made by Joseph Caunt in the early discussions yesterday as to whether the strike of lasters in other factories following that of the Caunt employees was sympathetic or part of a general strike for a general rearrangement, did not occupy any prominent part in today's deliberations and it was believed that the other concerns would follow the action of the Caunt company in making peace with their lasters.

ANNUAL MEETING

OF THE BOSTON NORTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Whether the Baptist church will admit as members persons who have not been immersed, was the topic which overshadowed all other deliberations of the annual meeting of the Boston Northern Baptist convention in this city today. The subject is one which has caused wide discussion among members of the church, several prominent clergymen having declared themselves in favor of dropping from the requisites for church membership this principle of the Baptist creed.

So serious was the question become and so steadfast the stand of the members of some parishes against it, that several delegates came to today's convention intimated to withdraw the name of their church from the association membership should the measure be acted upon favorably.

ALDERMEN MET

Voted for Dr. J. B. A. Johnson for City Physician

Lively Balloting for City Physician in Which Alderman Bailey Finally Went Over to Dr. J. B. Albert Johnson

The board of aldermen met last night and again refused to sanction the mayor's appointment of Dr. William M. Jones to the board of health.

Dr. J. B. Albert Johnson was chosen city physician by the aldermen and the common council will vote on the city physician question at the next meeting.

The meeting was called at 8:10 and all of the 5 members were present. Juries to serve in the superior court at Cambridge in the session beginning Tuesday, Oct. 20, were drawn by Alderman O'Hearn. The names drawn were as follows:

George F. Person, 24 Grace street, inventor; George B. Coburn, 51 Parkview avenue, real estate; James J. Angelo, 51 Pond street, steam and gas fitter; Philip J. Parent, 112 Llewellyn street, reporter; John J. Gallagher, 55 Third street, liquor dealer.

Money For Sewers
An order for $10,000 for sewer construction was adopted. An order for an appropriation of $1000 for a baseball park at Fort Hill was referred to the committee on appropriations.

Alderman Gray moved that the mayor's appointment of Dr. Jones to the board of health be taken from the table. His motion was defeated by a vote of 5 to 4. A recess was moved and taken and immediately after recess Alderman Cheney moved that a ballot be taken for city physician. The first five ballots were as follows:

First ballot: For Dr. Daniel A. O'Hearn, Brennan, Butterworth, Comerford and O'Hearn; for Dr. Foster Smith, Cheney and Wilder; for Dr. J. B. Albert Johnson, Bailey and Read; for Dr. Harold B. Plunkett, Gray.

Second ballot: For Dr. Frederick P. Murphy, Brennan, Butterworth and Comerford; for Dr. Johnson, Bailey, Read and Wilder; for Dr. Smith, Cheney; for Dr. Plunkett, Gray; for Dr. O'Hearn, O'Hearn.

Third ballot: For Dr. Johnson, Bailey, Cheney, Read and Wilder; for Dr. Frank McAvoy, Brennan, Butterworth and Comerford; for Dr. O'Hearn, O'Hearn; for Dr. Smith, Wilder.

Fourth ballot: For Dr. Johnson, Bailey, Cheney and Read; for Dr. Plunkett, Brennan, Butterworth, Comerford and Gray; for Dr. O'Hearn, O'Hearn; for Dr. Smith, Wilder.

Fifth ballot: For Dr. Johnson, Bailey, Read and Wilder; for Dr. O'Hearn, Brennan, Butterworth, Comerford and O'Hearn; for Dr. Smith, Gray and Wilder.

On the sixth ballot Alderman Bailey, Cheney, Gray, Read and Wilder all united on Dr. Johnson; Brennan, Butterworth and Comerford all voted for Dr. Frederick P. Murphy, while Alderman O'Hearn cast his one vote for Dr. Smith, the only time that he changed his vote from Dr. O'Hearn. Dr. Johnson was declared elected on the part of the aldermen.

The appointment of Frank R. Cross, as inspector of elections for ward 8, precinct 2, was confirmed.

It was voted to accept concrete sidewalks on the western side of School street from Liberty street southerly, and a concrete sidewalk at 165-167 Jewett street. Sidewalks on both sides of Sheldon street easterly from Gates to Royal street, were also accepted.

NEW ORPHANAGE

At Ayer Estate Thrown Open Yesterday

The formal opening of the French orphanage, familiarly known as the Ayer mansion, took place yesterday and a feature of the same was a whist party. It proved highly successful and was managed for the benefit of the orphanage by St. Joseph's sewing circle. About 300 of the fair sex graced the occasion with their presence, and one solitary individual of the male persuasion. Whist tables were laid in every corner of the big drawing-rooms on the first floor of the mansion for the accommodation of the guests. After a spirited game, prizes were awarded to the following players: Mrs. P. R. Wright, Mrs. Thomas Kelley, Mrs. Felix Vigeant, Mrs. Paris, Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Mrs. J. B. Brodeur, Mrs. Ephem Pelletier, Mrs. Henri Provost, Mrs. Elzear H. Choquette, Mrs. Joseph Lavigne, Mrs. Lacouture, Mrs. Zephie Lorange, Mrs. Beaumier, Mrs. Plouffe, Mrs. J. B. Lebrun, Mrs. Lesage, Mrs. Comerford, Mrs. V. Cargentier, Mrs. E. D. Deslauriers, Mrs. John T. Vincent, Mrs. J. B. Goudreau, Mrs. David Girard, Mrs. Chouinard, Mrs. Delphis Giroux, Mrs. Hilarie Dozois, Miss I. Anglade, Mrs. Isidore Jalbert, Mrs. Samuel J. Bernier, Mrs. Delphis Belleville, Mrs. Joseph De Rocheville, Mrs. Lariviere, Mrs. Fred Rocheville, Mrs. Charles Dufault, Mrs. Charles Oulmet, Mrs. Mallet, Mrs. Rose Gregoire, Mrs. Theodore Lalonde, Mrs. P. W. Farrell.

Mrs. Marcel Roussel, Mrs. Joseph Martin, Mrs. P. W. Farrell, Mrs. J. H. Gaudet, Mrs. Alfred Leblanc and Mr. Abraham L'Anglais composed the judges' committee. Mrs. Anna de Lamoignon was whist manager.

The ladies in charge of the successful affair were Mrs. Charles H. Bolson, Mrs. Louise Legare, Mrs. Alphonse Vallerand, Mrs. Hornbliss Vallerand, Mrs. Frank Goudreau, Mrs. Ursula Larue, Mrs. William Brault, Mrs. Olivia Deslites, Mrs. Joseph Deslites, Mrs. Charles Hamel, Mrs. Elziane Plante and Mrs. Christine Letendre.

Rev. Fr. Campeau, O. M. I., superior of St. Joseph's parish, was present, and warmly thanked the ladies in the name of the parish and of the sisters of the orphanage, for their devoted work in its behalf. Rev. Sister St. Theodore of Quebec, assistant superior general of the Sisters of Charity, arrived today in the city with six more sisters from her order, to add to the corps of sisters which have been for the past few weeks putting the orphanage into shape for the reception of inmates. The orphanage will be ready next week, it is hoped, to receive children.

The first mass to be celebrated in the orphanage was celebrated this morning by Rev. Fr. Campeau, in one of the second drawing-rooms which has been fitted up with an altar, pews and stations of the cross, into an attractive little chapel.

ON AUTHORITY

Lecture by Rev. Dr. MacKenzie

BEFORE THE CONGREGATIONAL CLUB

Able Address Enjoyed by a Large Audience—Rev. Dr. Willmott, President of Club, Presided

The full meeting of the Congregational club was held in the First Congregational church last night. Rev.

REV. BENJAMIN A. WILLMOTT, President Cong. Club.

Dr. W. Douglas Mackenzie, president of the Hartford Theological seminary, Hartford, Conn., was the principal speaker and was introduced by Rev. Mr. Willmott, president of the club. His subject was "The Authority of the Christian Teacher."

Dr. Mackenzie spoke in part as follows: "The Congregational club is a great force in the life of the denomination. It goes to the heart of denominational life. To meet, to learn, to understand one another, to discuss the great themes that are the great things. These clubs are doing an immense service to the denomination. The kind of Congregational club which accentuates the word 'club' and which lapses into anecdote, I can't consider the Episcopal club discussing the authority of the Christian teacher, for that would be denying it. Neither can I imagine some branches of the Methodist church doing it."

"What is the great question agitating to the roots the Roman Catholic church and which is called modernism? It is authority. Among us there is a great deal of confusion, which I am not going to try to clear up, and this confusion comes from thought as to what we mean by the authority of the Christian teacher."

"When I was a callow Scotch preacher, many years ago, I attended an ordination of a young minister. The first preacher, who delivered the charge, disclaimed any authority. The man to follow him said that he represented authority, that he had authority. My breath was taken away right there. The more I thought of it, the more I was convinced that I would rather be a bookbinder with some authority, during the remainder of my life, than to be a minister of the gospel without any authority."

"While I believe that the human soul will never reach its full growth while there is a human-made shackle about it, I believe there must be authority. This kind of authority is not a hand of authority. This matter of free land possessing authority is one of the mightiest problems of the age. The problem is how to have both, how to have perfection of authority and the completeness of freedom."

"How far is the individual to do as he likes, to think as he likes, to speak as he likes? There are different kinds of authority. The first is the authority of the community which is called government. The people have authority, they will never live under authority anywhere will find prison bars staring at them. All over this world authority is essential to life."

"The second kind is the informally organized authority of the social system. It is not put upon any statute, it is not enforced by the police, yet it is enforced through all the forms of life. The fact is that the whole social system of the universe is permeated by centres of organization, each one a seat of authority, and nobody will dispute it."

"The man who claims freedom claims something divine, and the man who denies authority denies something divine. Long before people discussed the freedom of the Christian church they were in the Christian church. And by Mrs. A. S. McGee, of Pontiac, Mich., and Rev. and Mrs. B. C. Henry, of the Tyngsboro Congregational church."

VERMONT W. C. T. U.
Opened Annual Session in Newport Today

NEWPORT, Vt., Oct. 7.—Members of the white ribbon league from all parts of the state attended the opening session of the W. C. T. U. in this city today. The convention was called to order by President Read of Shelburne following an opening prayer meeting led by Mrs. A. S. McGee of Pontiac, Mich. Committees were appointed and reports read by the secretaries. Mrs. Read delivered her annual address after the reports of other officers were read.

"The freedom of your soul is the grant of God. The realization of every minister is to make the mass of his people feel his authority, and at the same time to make them not conscious of any yoke, but of freedom of the freest, the divinest character."

During the early part of the business session 15 new members were voted in. They were Mrs. and Mrs. D. K. Ryan and Mrs. and Mrs. Charles O. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Frye, Mrs. J. W. B. Shaw, Mrs. I. D. McGee, Miss Nellie M. Whittemore, Mrs. and Mrs. E. W. Fletcher, all of the First Congregational church, and Rev. and Mrs. B. C. Henry, of the Tyngsboro Congregational church.

Joseph Clermont Victim of Serious Accident

Joseph Clermont, aged 11 years, and son of Charles Clermont, a milkman in Lowell, fell from a third story window at St. Louis parochial school yesterday and had a narrow escape from being killed. He escaped, however, with a broken leg.

The accident happened during the noon recess. The boy takes his dinner with him owing to the great distance between the school and his home. After eating his dinner yesterday he sat on the window sill and in looking out lost his balance and fell to the ground below, a distance of about 35 feet, and broke his right leg.

Dr. C. V. Rochette was quickly summoned and ordered the boy's removal to the Lowell hospital, where the ambulance took him.

As the body was being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." The bearers were Messrs. Thompson, Kane, Sullivan, Flynn, Williams and Quinn. The interment was in the Catholic cemetery. Rev. Fr. Callahan read the requiem prayer. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were: Pillow with clock, the dial pointing to sad hour of death and being inscribed "Mother," from children of deceased; wreath of galax leaves, the Smith family; pillow inscribed "At Rest," Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Brown; basket of roses and lilies, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer; wreath of galax leaves, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson and family; sheaf of wheat, Margaret Allen; wreath, Misses Minnie and Kate Coughlin; large spray of pinks, Mrs. Franklin Nourse; large spray of roses, Mrs. Frank Emerson Dunbar; wreath of galax leaves and roses, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rogers.

DORR—Walter B. Dorr died Sunday at the residence of his sister, Mrs. O. A. Knapp of 56 Royal street. Prayers were said at the home yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Tomlinson, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, conducting the services. The body was then sent to the former home in Harmony, Me., where the burial will take place. The J. B. Currier Co. had charge of the arrangements.

SAUNDERS—The funeral of George A. Saunders took place from the residence of his son, Arthur W. Saunders, of 94 Twelfth street, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was largely attended. Rev. A. St. John Chamberlain conducted the services. There was appropriate singing by the First Baptist church. The bearers were Samuel Palmer, George Root, John Simpson and Samuel Fournier. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery under the direction of the J. B. Currier Co.

MORRIS—The funeral of the late Catherine Morris took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons. The burial was in the Edson cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

HILDBRETH—The funeral of Olive B. Hildbreth took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her parents, 171 Warren street. Rev. R. A. Greene, D. D., officiated. Burial was in the Edson cemetery under the direction of C. M. Young.

CASEY—The funeral of John Casey took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of the parents, 4 Sullivan court, and was largely attended. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery under the direction of P. H. Savage.

YOUNG—The funeral of Caroline Young took place yesterday morning at 10 o'clock from the Edson cemetery chapel. Rev. P. A. Macdonald officiated. The bearers were relatives of the deceased. Burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery under the direction of the J. B. Currier Co.

DEATHS
VALLERAND—Oscar, aged 4 years, son of Omer Vallerand, died yesterday at 141 Fletcher street.

O'BRIEN—Paul O'Brien, infant son of Daniel S. and Catherine O'Brien, died last night at the home of his parents, 22 Wannanah street, where the funeral took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The interment was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

FUNNYLAND
Five scenes have been featured in the show business for years and with varying degrees of merit, but in Revenge vs. Duty, the feature picture at Funnyland today, the limit of realism is reached. The sounding of the alarm, the response to the fire by nearly a dozen pieces of apparatus, the brave efforts of the firemen to save the building, all are reproduced in the telling of a most interesting story of the drama's life. The hero's fight against duty when revenge is in his grasp is a thrilling one. The final victory for duty when he plunges into the burning building after his wife, who has deserted him, and rescues her and her partner in crime, is an interesting episode. "A Strong Gale," a Military March comedy and "Wanted a Joke" rebounded on the head of the would-be joker. The songs "Dear Old Mobile" and "No One Knows," are both successes.

TARIFF REVISION

Will be Made Immediately if the Democrats Win

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Oct. 7.—"I present myself as an example of one who has outlived the vicious attacks of his opponents. You heard me called a demagogue twelve years ago. You saw them hazy me and you heard them cheat their honors over my grave, and now they have to explain why it happened that I was not dead."

With all the fervor that he could muster, William Jennings Bryan, facing a vast audience in the Chautauqua auditorium between Tama and Toledo, Iowa, yesterday delivered himself of this utterance.

At Woodward he heaped ridicule on the republicans, charging them with taking credit for the growth of crops, the shining of the sun and the bringing of rain. "In fact," he said, "they seize upon anything that they think gives a plausible excuse for voting the republican ticket."

Fifteen speeches and handshaking with thousands constituted his day's work, the concluding speech being made in the auditorium here last night, which was filled to overflowing. The keynote of his principal remarks last night was that republican policies meant disaster, while democratic policies meant prosperity. In conclusion he said:

"If we are going to have prosperity we must have a reduction in the tariff. The people recognize the tariff is extortionate. Even the republican leaders are forced to admit this, and yet they are deliberately planning to prevent any real revision by electing a stand-pat congress. If the republican party wins, it will not revise the tariff in the interest of the consumer, and that means that the present agitation must continue for four years longer."

"If the democratic party wins, there will be an immediate reduction of the tariff which will satisfy the public demand and remove the tariff question from politics for a number of years. A democratic victory means prosperity, prosperity to all the people. A prosperity that will be permanent. It means the removing of abuses, until abuses are removed, there can be no peace, and the sooner abuses are removed, the more easy can the remedy be applied."

NEW CHARTER

Adopted by Voters of Haverhill

HAVERHILL, Oct. 7.—The new city charter, providing for a government by commission, which was presented to the state legislature and allowed by that body at its last session, was adopted yesterday by the voters of the city at a special election, the vote being 307 to 291.

The charter is copied from the Des Moines plan. Under its provisions a board of commissioners, or aldermen, is elected every year, with a salary of $1500 each, and the old board of seven aldermen and fourteen common councilmen abolished. The mayor is also elected every year at a salary of $1500 instead of $2000 as heretofore, but is to have no veto power. The old school board of 21 members will be replaced by four members elected at large. The initiative and referendum is given the voters, and also the right to remove any member of the government who does not hold true to the pledges of his office, by a petition signed by 25 per cent. of the voters. The new charter will go into effect at the beginning of the municipal year, January 1, 1909.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

In the opinion of the New York critics—not to mention the views of like sort of the dramatic writers of Philadelphia, Chicago and other important cities—there has appeared no such delightful comedy in a decade as Franz Molnar's "The Devil" (Der Teufel) as it is presented by Henry W. Savage's brilliant acting forces.

This remarkable satirical play, or perhaps better, allegorical comedy—is today not only the reigning dramatic sensation of nearly all America, but also well of more than twenty of the capitals of Continental Europe, where it has created as great a sensation as it has in this country and has won a like triumph among play-goers who appreciate the finer things of the stage.

A matinee and evening performance of this play will be given at the Opera House today.

PLAY OF HUMAN INTEREST

Much interest attaches to the presentation here at the Opera House of "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry W. Harris will offer to local theatre-goers for a return engagement on Thursday evening, October 8th.

The Charles Klein drama presents a picture of American financial life much discussed and widely written of, the money magnate who controls the financial world by means of the electric push-button on his desk—it is based upon facts well-known to the public. In Mr. Klein's characterization of "Ready Money" Ryder he has deftly introduced the touch that humanizes even a man of a million-dollar fortune. "The Lion and the Mouse" is a vivid denotation of the struggle between Ryder and the girl beloved by his son. The play is filled with human interest, and vividly financial and social life of today. Starts now on sale.

THE LIFE OF AN ACTRESS

Many novel features are introduced in "The Life of an Actress," which comes to the Opera House for two days and a matinee on next Friday, October 9th. The stage will be seen in full view of the audience, showing the entire working of the effects, etc., back of the curtain during the action of the play. This novel feature never fails to excite the utmost interest and receives a great amount of applause. The sketch is worn during the second act by Miss Jane Tyrol, an imported gown and the ladies of our city will no doubt take this opportunity of seeing an original imported gown.

FRANK LALOR

The sale of seats begins tomorrow morning for Frank Lalor's appearance in the new musical comedy, "Princess Humbug," which will occur at the Opera House one week from tonight. The date was changed from October 12 to October 14.

Ever since the arrangement was first made that the popular comedian was coming to Lowell, interest in the event has steadily increased. Manager Ward is in receipt of an unusual number of requests for seats, which is always an indication of the approval of something out of the ordinary. This is a condition which was to have been expected in view of Mr. Lalor's great popularity here and particularly since it is known that he is coming in a new musical comedy, specially written for him, and in which he has just scored a very great success in Boston. The details of the production are perfectly known through the descriptions which have appeared in the Boston newspapers recently, and there is no doubt whatever that the presentation is extremely elaborate and beautiful, and that Mr. Lalor and his company of eighty comedians, singers and dancers are giving a performance of rare enjoyment. There is little doubt whatever that there will be an immense advance sale of seats and that Mr. Lalor will be greeted by as many people as can be crowded within the four walls of the Opera House. In view of this, it would be extremely advisable to secure seats as far in advance as possible.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The popular home theatre, the Academy of Music was the scene of a large and highly delighted assemblage, last evening, the occasion of the presentation of the soul stirring and thrilling drama, "Runco In Arizona." The play was elaborately staged by Mr. Charles D. Pitt, and was ably presented by the clever and talented Deshon-Pitt Stock company.

Special mention should be made of the exceedingly fine work of Miss Della Deshon, the leading lady, in her impersonation of the difficult role of Buco. Among the other characters deserving of more than passing comment for their painstaking and pleasing work might be mentioned the following: Victor Browne, as the hero, W. D. Steadman as Heathcote, Harry Horne as Jim Hunt, Billy Lackaye as Pat, Annie Athy as June, Marie Pert as Mrs. Heathcote, Crystal Benson as Wanda.

The souvenir matinee yesterday afternoon played to a capacity audience. There will be matinees every afternoon the remainder of the week and each evening.

HATHAWAY'S THEATRE

The wonderful effects used in "In Dreamland," headlined at Hathaway's theatre, this week, are readily appreciated by the audiences which have flocked to see the excellent bill. Edmund Devoy, a pleasing comedian, presents the sketch and introduces many of the charming surprises with which it is filled. The gist of it all is that a man has to be pretty thoroughly frightened sometimes before he decides that his wife and home are entitled to some consideration after all. Mr. Devoy is assisted in his presentation by Miss Hermione Stone, a remarkably pretty woman, Lucy Milliken and William Hurst. Charles F. Semon, the spindly comedian, is surely one of the funniest men in the business. Semon's playing on a variety of outlandish instruments is guaranteed to drive away a lot of cars. On the bill, also, are: Harlan Knight and company in "The Chalk Line," a rural comedy; Mueller and Mueller, singers; Carney and Wagner, singers and dancers; Potter and Harris, gymnasts; Althe Gilbert, singing comedienne, and the Hithascope, with brand new films.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening, during the remainder of the week, with a special "Dreamland" matinee Saturday.

STAR THEATRE

An immense increase in business at the Star theatre this week is evidently due to the excellent bill presented. Jim Henry, whose home is in Lowell, is seldom seen in his home town and is giving his friends as well as strangers a genuine treat with his bright comedy and eccentric dancing. There are two baseball songs for today, "Take Your Girl to the Ball Game," by Babe Curry and the greatest hit since "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," "The Stars of the National Game," sung by J. C. Bell. The new Travellette, "Touring Pales-tine," is instructive and intensely interesting. The pictures are all hand-colored and true to nature and while looking at these pictures it is not difficult for one to imagine he is actually travelling. The moving pictures are up to the usual high standard. The comedy is especially funny. Dancing contest tonight is sure to draw a packed house as there is strong interest shown in the different competitors.

CHELMSFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pepin observed the 50th anniversary of their marriage yesterday at their home in First street. Both are about 75 years of age but are enjoying the best of health and are possessed of their different faculties. They were united in marriage in Stoneham, Mass., Oct. 6, 1858, and shortly afterwards moved to Lowell. They had seven children, four sons and three daughters. Four of the children are now living. Dr. J. V. Pepin, the well known dentist of Lowell, Dr. O. J. Pepin of Dover, N. H., also a dentist, Mrs. Eli Patenaude of East Chelmsford and Mrs. J. B. Howell of East Walpole.

After returning from Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Pepin lived for a number of years in Lowell, removing to Chelmsford about 18 years ago.

The Auxiliary Observes 14th Anniversary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. celebrated the 14th anniversary of the local organization last night. The celebration took place in Hibernian hall and the attendance was large. The affair opened at 8 o'clock and there wasn't a dull moment from that time on. There was a good list of speakers, refreshments were served and dancing was indulged in.

The speakers were introduced by Miss Della Conway, president of the local auxiliary.

James O'Sullivan, president of the A. O. H. corporation, spoke on the proposed new building, interesting his audience very deeply.

Michael Connolly, president of Division 11, addressed the gathering, his subject being "The Ladies' Auxiliary." He told of the splendid work of the organization.

Dr. James E. Leary, for 13 years the auxiliary physician, talked in a congratulatory vein of the benevolent work of the auxiliary.

Joseph Fahey, president of the Central council and president also of Division 1, addressed the audience, touching upon the work of the auxiliary, its splendid growth, and its promising future.

Hubert McQuade, secretary of the central council, also made remarks.

Following a delightful solo by Miss Anna Shea, an auxiliary member, refreshments were served and then the floor was cleared for dancing to the music of the Starbird orchestra.

Among the guests was Mrs. Susan McNamee of Somerville, county president of the auxiliary. A communication was read during the evening from National President Matthew Cummings of Boston, inviting the auxiliary to take part in the observance of the 100th anniversary celebration of the the archdiocese of Boston next month. The sister stated that the first night of the bazaar, which will be one of the features of the celebration, will be

Drew In "Jack Straw"

Rose Coghlan Scores In English Play.
"The Battle In the Skies" a Stirring

Great New Hippodrome Spectacles

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]

JOHN DREW has at last become an actor, according to the views of various people who have seen his performance in "Jack Straw," the English importation at the Empire theater.

Written by Edward Somerset Maugham, the London playwright of the hour, "Jack Straw" gives promise of repeating in the United States the long run it enjoyed in London. It was at the Vaudeville theater that Charles Hawtrey of "Message From Mars" fame appeared in the English production for a record number of performances.

Mr. Drew's Acting.

Mr. Drew of course does not class in the foreground of American dramatic art. He is really not an actor because of his inability to do actual character work, but he passes for more than a mere lyceum entertainer or reciter when given a play like "The Duke of Killarankie" or "His House in Order" or "Jack Straw." In a play like "Killarankie," for instance, Mr. Drew had nothing much to do but the lightest sort of impersonation, yet the play was a success because that was simply the nature of the work necessary for the completion of the ensemble. Mr. Drew's handsome clothes and his faultless and studied deportment in those same clothes constituted the major part of his acting in that drama.

In "Jack Straw" he has a peaceful sort of role that he carries to a success without much nervous wear and tear, and he should pray nightly for the preservation of those astute managerial experts whose business it is to choose for him his plays. When they lose their cunning, then farewell, Mr. Drew.

Rose Coghlan Scores.

Rose Coghlan is seen with Mr. Drew in "Jack Straw." Her performance is practically flawless as Mrs. Parker Jennings, a vulgar parvenu who boasts and shoves her way relentlessly into the sacred inner precincts of society. Miss Coghlan threatens frequently to topple Mr. Drew off his pedestal of stellar supremacy.

Ordinarily termed a comedy, "Jack Straw" is pretty much of a farce. The complications arising from the adventures of Archduke Sebastian of

EDNA GOODRICH, MUCH TALKED OF ACTRESS OF UNUSUAL BEAUTY.

Great Hippodrome Spectacles.

The new Hippodrome spectacle is more elaborate in many respects than any of its amazing predecessors, and the present programme nightly and daily shown at the giant playhouse should establish new records for popularity.

The most impressive feature is probably the stirring realistic "Battle In the Skies," which, in four scenes, was invented by Arthur Voegtlin and written and produced by R. H. Burnside.

Story of "Battle in the Skies."

This spectacle opens in a street of the United States in the period of 1930.

It is the age of airships and still other progressive inventions. Rumors are in the air that the city is to be attacked by the United States of Europe. General Fairfax, who is in command of the United States aeroplane army, tells the people he is fully prepared to meet and repulse their fleet of airships. The skeptical sneer, and many doubt him. To his aid comes Geoffrey Gedson, a young inventor, who is in love with the general's daughter. He tells of his new discovery, a radium gun, that will destroy without fail.

The general is greatly pleased, and word goes forth to Europe that should her air fleet cross the sky border of America the latter's army aeroplanes will destroy every city on the other continent. Spies kidnap the general's daughter, believing that her presence in their capital will save destruction. Geoffrey takes his airship and goes in pursuit. She is rescued. General Fairfax and his fleet follow. They reconnoiter about the fortifications. The battle begins, and the winged warriors are in conflict.

Armed aviators guide their machines over the city. A shower of radium is poured over the buildings. It is night, and the sky becomes red with the fire of the city first being destroyed. Buildings fall and steeples topple. Then all is smoldering ruin. Quiet reigns. With a rush a great tidal wave flows over the debris and leaves the open sea.

The concluding scene takes the spectator to the Golden garden, where General Fairfax and his followers celebrate their triumph, the act closing with festivities in honor of the triumph of the American airship fleet.

"Sporting Days."

The opening spectacle, made up of several scenes, is "Sporting Days," a melodrama. In the cast appears J. Parker Combs, Edwin A. Clark, George Mordecai, Marie Tyler, William H. Clark, George Melville, Harry Dale, Frank Melville, Marceline, the clown, Nannette Plack and many others.

The action opens with a baseball game on the Newtown college grounds, next follows a wonderfully staged boat race between college eights, and as a finale is shown a horse race at Saratoga which threatens to make the celebrated "Ben-Hur" chariot race pale into insignificance.

The usual Hippodrome circus programme is made up of a large number of new acts and specialties, including Alber's ten performing polar bears, Paul Sanders' dog circus and clown, equestrians, acrobats, wire experts and equilibrista gale.

No visitor to New York should miss the new Hippodrome show.

"School Days" at the new Circle theater, is an enjoyable performance that has won an enthusiastic welcome.

Herbert Timberg as Izzy Levy, a piddler, Janet Priest, Joe Kato, Agnes Lynn, Wilfred Berick, Gregory Kelly and Berenice Faye appear to advantage.

"School Days" is the outgrowth of the forty-five minute vaudeville sketch of last season, Gus Edwards' "School Boys and Girls." Aaron Hoffman has taken hold of it and whipped it into a three act musical comedy, and, of course, Mr. Edwards has added a number of songs, which, judging by the way they were received, are going to be hits for a few months to come. Ed Gardner and Vincent Bryan wrote the lyrics.

Frederick Triggella

GERTRUDE QUINLAN.

Gertrude Quinlan is back from Paris wearing one of those new hats with a cock's plume stuck in the band and the tip waving in the atmosphere nearly three feet above the crown. Miss Quinlan doesn't seem a bit stuck up by the English praise she received for her Flora Wiggins success in the London production of "The College Widow." There's a chance that the United States may not be able to hold her much longer. She has only to make a scratch of her pen on either of two blank contracts brought back in her 5 by 8 gold purse to have a production ready for a tempting starring venture in London.

"THE DEVIL."

It never rains but it pours. Frana Molnar was a struggling and unknown Hungarian newspaper writer in Budapest until his play of "The Devil" took Vienna by storm. The piece is now scheduled for separate productions in twenty-four European cities for the coming season and managers are bidding in as many different tongues for the rights to his next effort.

MISS DESMOND KELLEY.

Miss Desmond Kelley, who played the part of Jane Hammond in "Her Sister" with Ethel Barrymore last season and was previously in "The Spoilers" and other Frohman productions, will be seen next season in an important role in "The Richest Girl," the play in which Marie Doro is to be starred.

POPULAR "BEN-HUR."

The original "Ben-Hur" company has given over 2,000 performances of that play.

EDWIN STEVENS AS THE DEVIL IN "THE DEVIL," GARDEN THEATER, NEW YORK.

World's Series Baseball Talk — Re-reformed Football For 1908

THE forthcoming world's championship series is now occupying the attention of the baseball sharps. Most of the "fans" have been calculating on the probable result of the series and during the latter part of the season have figured the likely result if the following sets of teams met in the momentous and climactic green diamond battles: The New York, Chicago or Pittsburgh Nationals against either the Cleveland, Chicago or Detroit Americans.

The writer has taken especial pains to scribble pick the National teams' chances as superior to those of the American league clubs for the following reasons:

In the first place, the pitching strength of the leading American league teams is inferior to that of New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, though the Chicago Americans have a twirling department that probably is the best in the league. The Chicago and Pittsburgh Nationals are stronger in the box than New York, Chicago having the best pitching staff in the country, with Brown, Pfeister and Overall at with Willis would, on form, have an advantage over any American league competitor.

About Even in Batting.

In battling the two big leagues' best teams are fairly evenly matched. The Chicago Nationals and the Detroit Americans are probably the most consistent teams in hitting. In fielding, infield and outfield, the National league is considered by most of the critics to take superior rank, for the individual players, as a whole, are deemed abler in the older organization. The team work of the National league clubs is stated to be smoother and more effective than that of the American league.

Of course this article merely expresses the weight of opinion of authoritative correspondents chosen impartially. Several critics of the minority, those favoring the American league's chances in the world's championship series, claim that Detroit would prove stronger than the Chicago, Pittsburgh or New York Nationals because of its great batting strength and its two leading pitchers, Donovan and Killian. Three other Detroit pitchers won a majority of their games—Willets, Summers and Mullin—and on form the Detroiters should have won the American pennant by a wide margin of points.

Cleveland Erratic.

Cleveland is an erratic team and for that reason is not widely favored as being of world's championship caliber. The Chicago Americans have one of the best pitchers of the country in Ed Walsh. He has the best record in the American league. He has pitched more games than any other American twirler and performed the sensational feat of winning over thirty contests. After finishing his forty-third game he had the high percentage of .528.

Joss the Cleveland Leader.

Adrian Joss has again taken his place as leading pitcher for the Cleveland club. Donovan, Killian and Walsh are the only men who have better averages in the American league. Killian and Donovan have worked sparingly and only when circumstances favored them, so Walsh is the only pitcher who really has done better work than Joss, taking into consideration the number of games worked.

Control is one of Joss' strong points. He has labored in almost forty contests and gave only thirty bases on balls. Cy Young of Boston is next behind Joss in point of games won.

Smith Tricks Schmidt.

Sid Smith, the burly catcher whom Connie Mack was so kind to give to McAleer, pulled off a good trick on Schmidt, the Detroit catcher, a few days ago during the St. Louis-Detroit series.

With Jones on first in the eleventh inning, Smith deliberately turned his back on the pitcher and pretended to recognize some one in the stand. Catcher Schmidt turned around to see to whom Smith was speaking, and when he did so Jones stole second. Schmidt never throwing the ball. Smith followed this by bringing Jones home with a single, winning the game. That one stunt has made Smith in St. Louis.

Trick Plays in Football.

From trustworthy indications the 1908 football season will be largely a campaign of trick plays. Since the new rules make "straight football" less remunerative in the amount of ground gained, coaches and captains, being practical people, opine that if they would produce winning teams they must develop numerous new trick plays. It is the unusual (and much disliked by veteran players) openness of the game of today that makes trick plays especially popular, for, while their danger is naturally greater to the team in possession of the ball, the chances of large gains are correspondingly greater. So the ever present principles of universal compensation are again seen to apply.

Fumbling is the bugbear of almost all trick plays. The added nervousness of the players and their pressing desire to start the maneuver as quickly as possible superinduce considerable fumbling. Therefore practice in handling, passing, catching and falling on the ball is more important than in the days of close formation plays.

Indications are that most of the trick plays of the year will involve the forward pass and that long passes will be largely relied on. The long forward pass is one of the prettiest spectacles in the new, revamped, reformed, re-reformed game, and its frequent use will contribute considerably to the game from a spectator's viewpoint. But it will give various degrees of nervous prostration to coaches and players.

ARTHUR ROCKWOOD.

NEWS OF THE PRIZE RING.

Jack ("Twist") Sullivan, the New England heavyweight, has turned down the offer made to him by Jim Jeffries to fight Sam Langford, the colored fighter, a twenty-five round battle at the Jeffries club of Los Angeles, Cal. Sullivan has been made several offers by club managers of California to fight Langford, but he has always side-stepped the offers. Sullivan says he will fight Hugo Kelly of Chicago.

Jimmy Coffroth, the light promoter of California, has practically arranged a match between Patkey McFarland, the Chicago fighter, and Battling Nelson, the lightweight champion, to be fought at Colma, Cal., on Thanksgiving day afternoon. The only thing that hinges on the bout being clinched for good is a percentage of the gate receipts, which Nelson is holding out for. Coffroth expects to sign Nelson soon. They will battle for twenty-five rounds if they get together.

T. E. Jones, manager of Billy Papke, the middleweight champion, has arrived in Chicago. In speaking of Papke's fight with Ketchel, Jones says that Papke had Ketchel beaten before the bout started. Billy walked up to Ketchel in his dressing room and said: "Well, Stanley, I am going to give you the worst licking of your life. I am going to slug with you every inch of the way, and when I get you going I will put you out."

CHICAGO'S MARATHON.

The annual Marathon race at Chicago was won by A. L. Corey of Chicago, unattached, in the official time of 2 hours 57 minutes 30 seconds. One minute behind him came Sidney Hatch of the Illinois Athletic club, while the third man was J. A. Feltes of Chicago, unattached. Feltes' time was 3 hours and 12 minutes.

Corey, his friends say, might have equaled or lowered the record for the course, 2 hours 41 minutes 43 seconds, had he not been troubled by a pebble which got into his shoe some miles north of the city. He maintained his lead some time even with this handicap, but finally had to stop and remove the annoyance.

FOOTBALL DOINGS.

Tad Jones pays Tibbitt, the Princeton halfback, the compliment of saying that he was one of the best backs developed last season. Walter Camp, however, did not mention Tibbitt on any of his three All-American lineups for 1907.

The Carlisle Indians play Pennsylvania Oct. 24, Annapolis Oct. 31 and Harvard Nov. 7. The team wins up the season with a game at Minneapolis

CAPTAIN A. ZINK, COLUMBIA VARSITY TRACK TEAM.

Houghton is sure to equip his team with one of these if there is a possible chance.

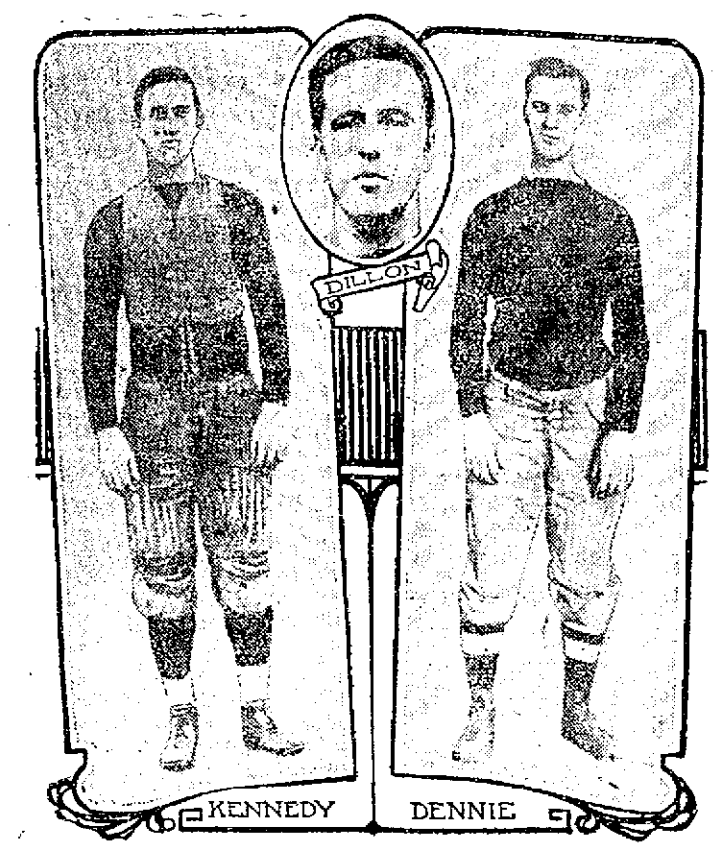

The Brown football players began practice on their own field recently after getting into fine condition at "Tad" Gammons' farm in New Bedford.

Cornell and Pennsylvania made the most of the forward pass last year, successfully using plays in which the ball was thrown forward for distances varying from forty to fifty yards.

Head Coach Percy D. Houghton of Harvard spent a week at Washington, his mission being to see Graves, the old army tackle, and to try to induce him to go to Cambridge this fall to coach the Harvard team.

WARNER'S ABORIGINES.

Glenn Warner says that he intends that his Carlisle Indians must use their American names in the lineups. If he didn't he would have some artistic ones in Man-Afraid-of-a-Bear, Dave Wounded-Eye, Dave She-Bear, Joe Two-Hearts, Harry Cries-For-Ribs, Tall Crane and the veteran, Little Old Man.

THREE LEADING EASTERN FOOTBALL WARRIORS.

G. F. Kennedy is the fast captain of the Dartmouth university eleven, which is feared by the colleges that hope to capture the football championship of the east.

Eddie Dillon is the captain of the Princeton university eleven, and his equal as a quarterback and field general is difficult to name. Dillon has sixty-five candidates for the varsity eleven out for practice at Princeton.

F. E. Dennis is the quarterback of the Brown university eleven. He is a capable punt catcher, runs a team well and is one of the fastest runners in his college.

to poll a long list of acknowledged experts throughout the country as to what teams would prove superior in post season contests and definitely why. The next best thing to having an expert's views on a given subject is to know the grounds on which he bases his opinions. I have communications from a score of sources widely separated, and by a large majority the its top. No American league team has a pitching array like that.

It has been shown in previous world's championship series that pitching is the controlling factor and that a team with one sensational box man is better equipped, as a rule, for the series than a team having two or three fairly good twirlers. New York with Mathewson, Chicago with Brown and Pittsburgh

CRACK NEW BRITISH RACING SLOOP SHAMROCK AND HER OWNER, SIR THOMAS LIPTON

The latest Shamrock, the fourth built by Sir Thomas Lipton, has been a leading figure in the big yacht races of the summer in European waters. She has proved remarkably fast. She is a seventy footer. It is certain that if the New York Yacht club decides to change the America's cup racing rules so that seventy footers instead of ninety footers can compete he will capture the coveted trophy, in quest of which he has spent far over $1,000,000.
